THE MYSTERY OF INIQUITY—the masterplan

"And the conspiracy was strong, for the people increased continually." (2 Samuel 15:12)[1]

The whole world today is in the clutches of a deep and subtle conspiracy that is surging ahead, expecting to reach its ultimate fulfilment in the near future—possibly within the next 5 to 10 years. The conspiracy is like an octopus, with many tentacles, reaching out to ensnare everything within grasp. It reaches into every part of society and into all nations. It uses all circumstances, or creates circumstances; it manipulates and schemes to bring about its aim—a One-World Government, led by an all-powerful coterie, and headed in particular by one man, to whom every individual on the earth must give allegiance, and even worship.

An elite clique of intellectuals, bankers, politicians, influential leaders, and radicals, has formulated the plans over a long period of time—centuries. This clique has involved many people in the outworking of the worldwide conspiracy. Many collaborators are stooges, paid servants, or petty power-seekers. Others are sincere ideologists who believe that the plans so carefully laid down, present the best solution to world problems; and so they lend support to the arch-conspirators.

Then of course, there are millions who, like pawns in a chess game, are being used unwittingly as instruments, to fulfil various aspects of the plans and to help bring about the fulfilment of this ultimate "grand design".

1. References — see documentation at end of book

The number of people in the clique of "insiders" is not known. There must now be hundreds. The innermost group of conspirators may be a handful. It is impossible to discover the full details—because the whole thing is conspiracy, and thus extremely secretive. Enough is now known, however, to discern the program at work around the world, through its many tentacles.

One thing is very clear—the whole conspiracy is basically the work of one person to whom we will refer as "Power 13". He is the "brains" behind the bankers, the politicians, the leaders and all their subordinates.

Some people will scoff at the thesis of this book. They will ridicule the allegation that there is such a world-wide conspiracy. Some will say it is impossible, others will claim that it is imagination. Documented evidence, however, will be given throughout the book—evidence from both the world's current news and information media, and also from the Holy Bible, which is God's news media for mankind.

The Bible is a prophetic book and hundreds of Bible prophecies have been fulfilled throughout the centuries. Scores of prophecies are also being fulfilled before our eyes at this very moment, while a whole range of detailed prophecies are related to the future.

The Bible prophesies an "ultimate conspiracy"[2]; and world events today show the stage being set and the plans rapidly bringing about the fulfilment of this prophecy.

In the Bible this conspiracy is referred to as the "mystery of iniquity", or "mystery of lawlessness". It will be brought to its climax by an infamous man, referred to as the "Man of Lawlessness" and the "Man of Sin." The prophecy says:

"Let no one in any way deceive you, for it will not come unless the apostasy comes first, and the man of lawlessness is revealed, the son of destruction.....For the mystery of lawlessness is already at work; only he who now restrains will do so until he is taken out of the way. And then that lawless one will be revealed". (2 Thessalonians 2:3,7,8)

This man has many other titles, including "Anti-"christ" and "The Beast"[3]. We will refer to him also as "Man 666".

The climax of the "lawlessness" will come at the end of this age, when after 3½ years of their beastial reign, the Lord Jesus Christ will destroy the conspirators and the conspiracy itself.[4] I myself am convinced that this will take place before the end of this century. It could even happen within the next seven years.

I have been intensely interested to follow current world events and to study material on this subject. In my travels in Australia, Asia, Africa, Israel, Europe, and America, I have been able to collect and file information, and now, seek under the guidance of God, to piece together many of the facts of the conspiratorial jigsaw puzzle. The emerging picture is not only interesting but also alarming; and this is the reason for writing this book—to sound an alarm.

We may not be able to hinder the rapid progress of the plan, but it is essential, to save ourselves and as many others as possible, from the consummation of the "mystery of lawlessness", before it is too late. Millions of people will be deceived and ensnared by this conspiracy, and finally destroyed by it. That's prophesied[5]. It will happen. Nothing can stop it. It's tragic. It will all take place in the final seven years of this age.

As I moved around the U.S.A. recently, and saw and listened to what is happening, I could see that just about everything is now being geared to bring in a one-world government. Plans are in progress for a new, one-world monetary system, for a one-world police force, a one-world army, and a one-world church. The number of agencies and international organisations to look into, and finally to control every area of world life, are multiplying. All this is not an accident. It is planned. It's a conspiracy.

Of necessity it is a conspiracy, for the great mass of educated people would not tolerate the changes that are being made, if the plan were open. People will not stand by if they see their personal rights being removed, or their countries surrendering their sovereignties to a supra-world government. So the whole plan is camouflaged, and the people are being conditioned, by propaganda and by crisis, so that they will soon feel there is no alternative to accepting a one-world dictatorship.

This book is not meant to be a criticism of sincere efforts to solve world problems. The nations in fact, should pull together and together seek solutions to the crises that face us. All systems need reform, improvement and constant updating to ensure efficiency for the times. We don't criticise well-intentioned men and women who are working to improve world conditions.

My thesis, which I believe fully relates to the Bible prophecies for the end times, is that evil minds are working behind the scenes, and are using the forces of finance, influence, legislation, politics and technology, to bring about a total world dictatorship. This will lead to chaos and destruction, not only to the conspirators themselves, but also to millions and even billions of their ensnared subjects.[6]

It is not necessarily world organisations that are wrong, but the evil power that often controls them. It is that power this book exposes, and without doubt, that same power will unleash fervent attacks against this author, this book and the ministry of which it is a part. We have already experienced these attacks. We are in a warfare—a warfare against evil, and particularly against the "mystery of iniquity"[7].

You will understand then, this message is written, not merely to inform readers of what is going on, and of what will happen in the near future, but rather as an alarm, to help readers escape from the coming holocaust. My fervent prayer is that God may grant readers the faith to receive His wonderful provision for them as individuals in these crisis times, and the power to stand against the evil tide.

CONSPIRACY—the ambition to rule

"Why are the nations in an uproar, and the peoples devising a vain thing? The kings of the earth take their stand, and the rulers take counsel together against the Lord and against His Anointed: 'Let us tear their fetters apart, and cast away their cords from us'."

(Psalms 2:1-3)

Conspiracies to rule the world have always existed—from the time of Nimrod who built the Tower of Babel at Babylon, to those who build skyscrapers in New York and Brussels today. The history of the Pharoahs, of the Caesars, of the Caliphs, the Rajas, the Kings, Emperors and Empires, is filled with plots and conspiracies, attempts to conquer and to rule men and nations. Certain leaders have been more successful than others in their goals. But from time immemorial, there have been certain individuals possessed with an uncanny ambition to rule the whole world. Nebuchadnezzar, Darius, Alexander, Julius Caesar, Mussolini, Stalin, Hitler, are some of the most prominent men who have attempted to do so.

Conspiracy is as old as the Devil. In the first century A.D., Paul tells us, "the mystery of iniquity" was already at work (2 Thes. 2 : 7). That mystery no doubt, was a secret plan of evil—a conspiracy, although existing in that century, is linked to the conspiracy of the last days which will bring Antichrist into world power.

In later chapters, we will trace a little of the working of the "mystery" from early times, down through the Dark and Middle Ages to the present time. That history itself could be a great study.

The Illuminati [1]

The plot, in more recent times can be traced back to Ist May, 1776, when a secret society called "The Order of the Illuminati" was founded by a diabolical man named Adam Weishaupt. He was a professor of Canon Law in Bavaria, and was credited as being "the profoundest conspirator that has ever existed". He was also called "a human devil."

Weishaupt was born on Feb. 6, 1748. He received his early training under the Jesuits, but as a rebellious youth, he turned to radical and occult philosophy.

In 1771, Weishaupt came into contact with a merchant named Kolmer, who had spent many years in Egypt. Kolmer had returned to Europe in search of converts to a secret doctrine, founded on Manichaeism, which he had learnt in the East.

ADAM WEISHAUPT

Weishaupt was initiated into the "mysteries" of this occult philosophy, and then spent the next five years devising a plan to use its "mysteries" as a basis for a revolutionary secret society whose aim would be, to control the world.

The word "illuminati" was used in the 15th century in Italy and Spain, referring to people with supranatural powers.[2] The word can be traced back to the Manichaeans also. This occult religion was, in fact, an important link in the "mystery of iniquity" chain through the Dark and Middle Ages.

The religion was founded by a man named Mani [3] who was born near Baghdad in the 3rd century A.D. As well as claiming to be the Apostle of Jesus Christ, and also the promised Paraletc (the Holy Spirit), Mani stated that Buddha, Zoroaster, Hermes and Plato were all his predecessors.

Mani was expelled from Persia at one time and labelled by the Zoroastrians as a heretic. He travelled to India and came into contact with Buddhism. His teachings were a synthesis of Persian religions, Buddhism, heretical Christianity and occultism.

After the martyrdom of Mani, his religion spread rapidly over the Roman Empire and Asia, but survived particularly in Chinese Turkestan, Persia, Syria and Egypt.

It was this background that Weishaupt deeply studied, as well as the history of secret societies and movements from ancient times. There were secret societies of China, "Greater and Lesser Mysteries" of ancient Egypt, and the Eleusinian mysteries, which all had an influence on the Illuminati order which Weishaupt and likeminded allies launched in 1776.

In a letter to an associate, Weishaupt wrote that he was thinking of "warming up the old system of the Ghebers and Parsees (Moslem and Zoroastrian religions)."

Before Weishaupt's organisation was formed, there were many other secret societies such as the German Illuminists, and the French Martinists or French Illumines. Under the guidance of the latter sect, "a wave of occultism swept over France, and lodges everywhere became centres of instruction on the Cabala, magic, divination, alchemy, and theosophy; masonic rites degenerated into ceremonies for the evocation of spirits—women, who were now admitted to these assemblies, screamed, fainted, fell into convulsions, and lent themselves to experiments of the most horrible kind." [4]

Weishaupt "the profoundest conspirator" capitalized on the existing and rivaling societies, and succeeded in consolidating control over many of them. From the very beginning, he conspired to capture the Freemasons.

In 1777, Adam Weishaupt became a member of the Freemasons, which itself was, and still is, an extremely secret society. The Illuminati infiltration of the Masonic Lodges was so thorough, that for many years the European Lodges were filled with "Illumination". The Illuminati became an order of the Freemasons; and the Freemasons became an order of the Illuminati.

Being masters of intrigue, the Illuminati have always used front organisations to spread certain ideas, while covering up their real goal.

The aims of the Illuminati are summed up in six points.

1. Abolition of monarchy and all ordered government.
2. Abolition of private property.
3. Abolition of inheritance.
4. Abolition of patriotism.
5. Abolition of the family (i.e., of marriage and all morality, and the institution of the communal education of children).
6. Abolition of religion. The replacement of the worship of God by the worship of "reason"—rationalism.

Some of the directives or maxims of the Illuminati program are the following, which Professor John Robison exposes in his book, "Proofs of a Conspiracy" (first published in 1798).[1]

* The great strength of our Order lies in its concealment; let it never appear in any place in its own name, but always covered by another name, and another occupation.

* We must win the common people in every corner. This will be obtained chiefly by means of the schools, and by open, hearty behaviour, show, condescension, popularity, and toleration of their prejudices, which we shall at leisure root out and dispel.

* We must bring our opinions into fashion by every art, spread them among the people by the help of young writers. We must preach the warmest concern for humanity, and make people indifferent to all other relations.

* We must acquire the direction of education, of church-management, of the professorial chair, and of the pulpit.

* I propose academies under the direction of the Order. This will secure us the adherence of the Literati. Science shall here be the lure.

* Could our Prefect.....fill the judicatories of state with our worthy members, he does all that man can do for the Order. It is better than to gain the Prince himself.

* In like manner we must try to obtain an influence in the military academies (this may be of mighty consequence), the printing-house, book-sellers, shops, chapters, and in short in all offices which have any effect, either in forming or in managing, or even in directing the mind of man: painting and engraving are highly worth our care.

(With regard to this directive, Professor Robison had an interesting comment. He said, "They were strongly suspected of having published some scandalous caricatures and some very immoral prints. They scrupled at no means, however base, for corrupting the nation. Mirabeau had done the same thing at Berlin. By political caricatures and filthy prints, they corrupt even such as cannot read.")

* There is no way of influencing men so powerfully as by means of the women. These should therefore be our chief study; we should insinuate ourselves into their good opinion, give them hints of emancipation from the tyranny of public opinion, and of standing up for themselves; it will be an immense relief to their enslaved minds to be freed from any one bond of restraint, and it will fire them the more, and cause them to work for us with zeal, without knowing that they do so; for they will only be indulging their own desire of personal admiration.

* No man is fit for our Order who is not a Brutus or a Catiline, and is not ready to go to every length.

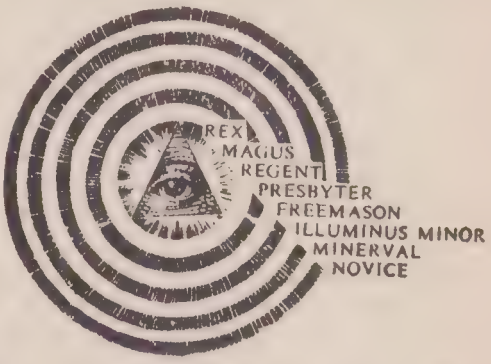
The Illuminati used the symbol of the "all-seeing eye", as have the Freemasons, and other groups such as the Rosicrucians.



The Illuminati organisation was made up of 8 layers or rings within rings. At the centre of the order was Weishaupt himself, represented by the eye—Power 13. In fact, as 'Rex' or 'King' of the order, he was the embodiment of Power 13. Weishaupt's code name was "Sparticus".

Around the Rex was a small core of the most trusted initiates—the "Magus". Then another six progressive rings or layers of members, called Illuminatus.

Members were enlisted and brought into the Order, as Novices. These people were "illuminated" with humanitarian ideas and conditioned to embrace the higher mysteries. As they "progressed" they were promoted to higher levels but only as they proved satisfactory, and reached the inner circles, were they allowed to see the real goal of "World Rulership." Only a handful of most trusted initiates of the innermost circles, knew that Weishaupt was the founder and head of the society.

The society had immense success in attracting prominent men throughout Europe, and even in America. In 1798, George Washington warned of the doctrine of the Illuminati in the U.S.A.

The French Revolution

The Illuminati played a leading role in the French Revolution of 1789-94[5], using the "Jacobins Club", as a front. This club had a membership of 1300, composed of some of the most influential men of France. They called for a New World Order and Universal Republic. The "Reign of Terror" was led by a man, Robespierre, an Illuminatus, who had framed a "Declaration of the Rights of Man". He himself lost his head to a guillotine, but another Illuminatus, Babeuf, became a leader. He published a document, called the "Manifesto of the Equals" and later, an "Analysis of the Doctrine of Babeuf". He advocated the abolition of private property and equitable distribution of "the fruits of the earth". This document became the "Bible" for the Communist Movement.

In 1830 Adam Weishaupt died, but the society continued to be led by "The Invisible Forty", which was by then, operating out of Italy. The Society perfected the strategy of operating through two opposing parties at the same time. On one hand they would use a radical "Action Party" and on the other, an "Intellectual Party". Only a few key leaders of such parties would know of the higher powers above them.

The Communist League

In 1843, a young man named Karl Marx became involved in a secret society known as the "League of the Just". In 1847 a new Illuminist front called The Communist League was formed, which commissioned Marx to write "The Communist Manifesto" (1848).[6] This, Marx completed with the aid of, and under the supervision of his friend, Engels – a capitalist of substantial wealth. There is evidence however, that Marx was not at all an atheist – but a Satanist. (see chapter 15)

"In 1859 the Illuminati conspirators met with Nihilist, Atheist and Subversive organizations in New York. They united and formed an organisation known as International Communism. Henceforth Communism was to be the Illuminati front to cause wars, riots, revolutions, the complete demoralization of society, the destruction of Christianity, the overthrow of all existing governments, the confiscation of all privately-owned property and business, the disruption of national unity by inciting minority groups to violence, riot and guerrilla warfare; and the establishment of a one-world Government to destroy the sovereignty of nations and enslave mankind. These objectives were to be realized through the gradual infiltration and ultimate control of all schools, colleges. universities, government agencies and bureaus and news media. They have succeeded in the realization of their Luciferian plot beyond their fondest expectations." [7]

The Round Table [8]

JOHN RUSKIN

Another tentacle of the conspiracy can be traced back to about 1870 when an English professor, John Ruskin, taught that some men were superior to others, and that one superior man should rule the world. His teachings were embraced by a wealthy man named Cecil Rhodes, who devoted his fortune (gained through gold and diamonds in South Africa) to propagating his lifelong dream of a "new world order"—and a World Government. He formed a secret society in 1891, which later became known as the Round Table Group.

CECIL RHODES

In his last will, Rhodes established the famous "Rhodes Scholarships" through which young people from all over the world would receive higher education—and the indoctrination of one-worldism. Australian readers will be interested to note that, Mr. Bob Hawke, Australia's would-be all-powerful "President", is a Rhodes scholar.

Like the Illuminati, the Round Table had an inner core, with various circles of associates built around it. It became international, and formed branches and associate societies in many nations.

International Bankers were involved in the society from the beginning. Lord Rothschild of England, a leading member of the powerful international House of Rothschild, was the financier of Rhodes' Mining monopoly in South Africa. (Rhodesia is named after Cecil Rhodes.) Rothschild became a trustee of the Rhodes' fortune, and an inner initiate of the secret society, as did Lord Rosebury, Rothschild's son-in-law.

After Rhodes' death, one of his close associates, Lord Alfred Milner, who was another powerful British banker, became the leader of the society.

ALFRED MILNER

Milner formed Round Table Groups in many countries including the USA. He recruited many young intellectuals, particularly from Oxford, who were given influential posts in government and international finance. These men were used, as their successors are today, to propagandize on the need and glory of world government, and to work for the establishing of the New World Order.

As with the Illuminati, members are enticed with humanitarian ideals. They are shown the needs of the world, and are encouraged to work for the solution of world problems. But only the well-proven and most suitable initiates are shown the real goal of the society—world dictatorship.

The innermost members of these societies —international bankers, politicians, professors, elite and influential, have together become known as "Insiders."

Many fronts have been formed by them in this present century. In the U.K., they formed the Royal Institute of International Affairs; in the U.S.A. the Council on Foreign Relations.

On the international level, they have formed the "Bilderberger Conference." This group is comprised of an extremely closed and guarded clique of the "brains, money and influence" of the world, which meets in seclusion every year. Their discussions, and plans are never published. But their purpose is clearly, the co-ordination of plans for the formation of a World Government.

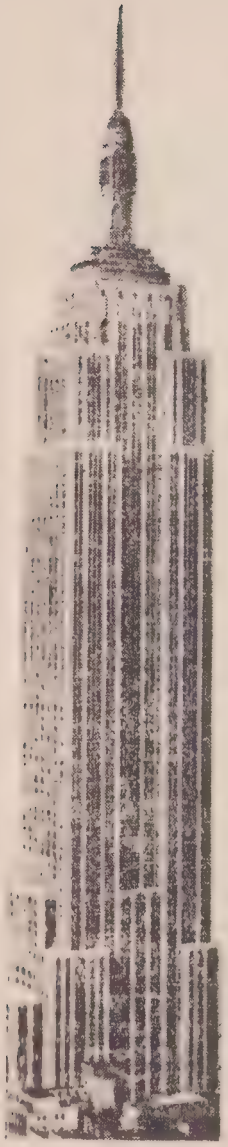
The majority of people have never heard of these organisations, as they are extremely secretive, and little is published about them. And that is not surprising when it is realized that much of the main news media is controlled by these same secret societies.

Are the Illuminati and the Round Table connected ? Undoubtedly ! Although I cannot prove the original connections, later pages of this book show the collaborations the mutual support and symbolism, as well as the identical ultimate aims of these groups.

Illuminati

Round Table

Today the age-old conspiracy is extremely complicated and sophisticated. It is not a plot to bring off a world military coup, but a plan to manipulate world conditions and national economies until the nations agree that a Central World Government is our only hope and are therefore willing to surrender national sovereignty to a One-World Ruler. Unfortunately that Ruler will be "Man 666."



Chapter 3

FINANCE
—the tool of manipulators

"I collected for myself silver and gold, and the treasure of kings and provinces" (Ecclesiastes 2:8)

In late 1975, I stood at the top of the Empire State building in Manhattan. Until recently this 102-storey tower was the highest building in the world. It is situated in the heart of New York City, and from the top viewing floor, one can, on a clear day, see for miles around, and the rows and rows of skyscrapers, of what has been called the "cement city"—(well, it is a city of iron, cement, glass and plastic.)

It was a tremendous sight; 30-storied buildings looked like dwarfs. There were the towers of Pan Am., The Rockefeller Centre, The Waldorf Towers, First City National Bank, the Chase-Manhattan Bank, Time Magazine, The United Nations, The Chrysler Towers, and on and on.

Here all around me was the world's greatest and richest city—one of the most populous in the world A mixture of all races mingle with the heavy Jewish and Negro concentration, to form the cosmopolitan population.

Under the city there is an amazing maze of tunnels—tubes or subways for trains and vehicles in which millions travel every day, in and out of the city.

New York is one of the great financial centres of the world but is known not only for its finance but also for it's air pollution, shocking crime rate and moral decadence. The city grows and harbours refugees and fugitives from everywhere. It caters for every taste, and of course, Times Square, Broadway, is infamous for its vulgar cinemas, and x-rated films.

There in the south is the famous Wall Street—the main financial sector, and stock exchange where transactions go on in the millions; there to the north is the Rockefeller centre, representing one of the richest dynasties of the world; and there also are the second and third greatest American banks; First National City, and Chase-Manhattan.

As I looked over this great city, one main question came flooding through my mind—how is it that New York City was on the verge of bankruptcy ? At the time I was there, the New York City crisis was the main news item in papers and on television. New York could not pay its bills. In November 1975, $300 million was lacking to meet the month's commitments.

An appeal to the U.S. Senate brought some hope of aid, but President Ford threatened to veto any Senate aid to the city. The message splashed over the front page of the "Daily News" was, "Ford to city: Drop Dead." In other words, "Get yourself out of your own mess." New Yorkers were furious. Here was the President granting billions of dollars of aid all around the world, but he was opposed to giving a few hundred million to his own cities in distress.

The government's argument was that the city spends too much, and it would have to trim its budget. I could well understand this as I learned that the overspending, particularly the welfare schemes, had led the city into debt to the tune of $13 billion.

How can a city overspend to such an amount ? As I learnt more of American affairs, I discovered that many other U.S. cities were in a similar condition. All major cities, with few exceptions, were in financial trouble.

Then as I learnt about the condition of the Federal (Central) Govt., I could understand why Washington could not afford to bail out U. S. cities—although I was baffled about why the U. S. government should loan out billions around the world, when the U. S. Govt. itself, was in debt.

Like many people I had a wrong impression about the dollar assets of the U. S. Government. The way America spends money—billions on space projects, and $ 112 billion a year on defence, it leaves the impression that there is little scarcity of money. I was wrong. So very wrong. The U.S. Government, I discovered, had not merely overspent, but had built up a tremendous debt over the last 50 years. This is called the National Debt.

Before World War I , the debt was a mere $ 1 billion. Now it has reached a phenomenal figure of above $ 500 billion (500,000,000,000.) In rupees that would be Rs. 4,35,000 crores. It's hard to grasp such amounts. But if you joined all the dollar notes of the debt together to form a streamer, it would reach to the moon seventy times.[1]

I spoke to Americans about this debt. "To whom does the Government owe this tremendous debt?" I asked. Some replied, "I don't know. I haven't a clue." Some suggested it was owed to the people, who bought government bonds. "We owe it to ourselves," some said. "That's strange", I thought; for I had learned that the American taxpayers have to pay interest on the National Debt, at the rate of $500 per second. [2]

The truth is that money borrowed from the people in exchange for bonds, could never be enough to provide the money needed by governments to finance wars, armaments, space programs and grants or loans to other nations. Taxation, of course, pays largely for a government's budget, but what about the overspending? Who supplies that? The huge amounts required must come from the powers that have fantastic wealth—International Bankers. These are the only ones who have so much finance available.

International bankers are men who control a chain of leading banks around the world. and who operate in high places and command the control of billions, or trillions of dollars, pounds, marks, francs, and other currencies. They are, in fact, the powers that control the economies and destinies of nations.

Way back in 1881, U.S. President James Garfield said, "He who controls the money of a nation controls the nation." Nearly 200 years ago, the father of a great international banking empire, Mayer Amschel Rothschild said, "Give me control over a nation's economy, and I care not who writes it's laws." [3]

The immense wealth and assets of the greatest banks have been built up over centuries. The international bankers are the most successful businessmen in the financial world. They are the ones who finance governments, and who thus finance wars, at no loss to themselves. It is the people of the nations who have to pay higher taxes to pay off the debt, and its interest. Of necessity, international bankers have to be conspirators. They could not accumulate and protect their capital by honest work and trust. With billions of dollars, or pounds or marks loaned out, how can an International Bank be guaranteed that its assets will not be lost overnight, through wars, change of governments, military coups, or even through the whims of kings or rulers.

We all know how a local money lender protects his loans—he will take the jewellery or a watch or radio, etc., from the person begging the loan. Small banks also protect their loans by accepting the mortgage of the property of the loanee. If a person does not repay his loan his property will be taken over by the bank.

But what guarantee does an International Bank have, that the kings and governments which have borrowed vast amounts, will repay. What if a ruler simply says, "We do not have money to repay," or, "we will not repay."

There are two guarantees.[4] First, a government borrowing big money, must surrender to the creditor, some measure of sovereignty. Thus the financier gains a considerable influence in the policies of such governments. This influence is actually what the International Bankers want, as it leads to control. Their end goal is not money – for they already command financial empires. Their goal is to control the nations and to rule the world.

The only purpose in accumulating more wealth is so that they can lend out more finance, and thus increase the debts of nations, and gain more control. One would think, that with the throttling clutches of creditors increasing, governments would throw off the Bankers, and simply cancel the debt. It is because of this possibility that International Bankers can, and do resort to a second guarantee—the bankers can finance an enemy or rival.

Every ruler will have an enemy or opposition. If he doesn't, the Bankers know how to create one. Many wars in the past two centuries have been the result of a Ruler stepping out of line. International Bankers are masters of intrigue—if they were not, they would not last long. Often they will finance two opposing sides at the same time.

Behind these masters is Power 13. He is the arch-conspirator, the greatest Master of Intrigue of all time. And because of his plans, he will lend whatever aid is required, to these instruments in his grand design.

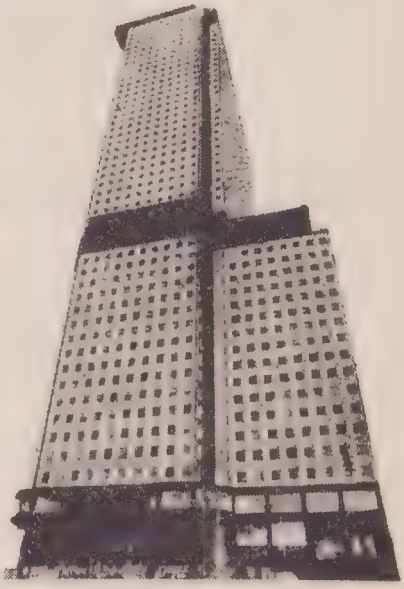
Chapter 4

INTERNATIONAL BANKING

—the enslaving dynasty

"For the love of money is a root of all sorts of evil, and some by longing for it have wandered away from the faith, and pierced themselves with many a pang."

(I Timothy 6:10)



Chase-Manhattan Bank, N Y.

History is full of money lenders, bankers, and financial conspiracies. The love of money has led to inestimable human suffering. Even worse than the love of money, is the love of power. And if the love of money is the root of all evil, the love of power is the cause of all conspiracy.

What makes the International Bankers of the last two centuries different to those of the past, is the fact that they have realized the need, not to confront one another, but to co-operate in their common goal.

These influencial dynasties have not yet succeeded in placing one of their own men on the throne of the world, although undoubtedly, there is a hidden, single Master of Banking within the empire.

Each of the forefront leaders of the Banking Empire are themselves kings in their own realms, but all are subservient to the inner core, and to "Power 13." If they were not. they would be quickly deposed and replaced.

The International Banks today are all interlinked in a vast empire, that ostensively commenced with . . . .

The House of Rothschild

This dynasty is one of the greatest empires in the world. It started with Mayer Amschel Rothschild. (1743–1812). He was a German Jew of Frankfurt. Originally he studied to be a rabbi, but later turned to finance. One of his five sons stayed with him at home to run the German bank. The other sons were sent to France, Italy, Austria and England to set up branches of their family bank.

The Rothschilds soon became the most powerful bankers in Europe. By the year 1850, they represented more wealth than all the royal families of Europe and Britain combined.

This incredible wealth was accumulated by financing governments to fight one another. As Professor Stuart Crane has analysed:

"If you will look back at every war in Europe during the Nineteenth Century, you will see that they always ended with the establishment of a 'balance of power.' With every re-shuffling there was a balance of power in a grouping around the House of Rothschild in England, France, or Austria. They grouped nations so that if any king got out of line, a war would break out and the war would be decided by which way the financing went. Researching the debt positions of the warring nations will usually indicate who was to be punished". [2]

In the American Civil War, the Rothschilds financed the North and the South at the same time through different agents.

Rhodes and Milner [3]

Cecil Rhodes as we have seen was the founder of the Round Table (from 1891). Although not a banker himself, Rhodes became one of the world's richest men. With help from the Rothschilds, he succeeded in establishing a virtual monopoly over all the diamonds that came from South Africa, as well as most of the gold.

Lord Rothschild was listed as a member of the inner core of the Round Table. He and his son-in-law, Lord Rosebury, were made Trustees under one of Rhodes' wills. of the fortune which was devoted to the cause of the Society—to establish a "new world order" and a world government.

A close associate of Rhodes was Lord Alfred Milner an extremely wealthy Englishman who was Governor General and High Commissioner of South Africa. After Rhodes' death. Lord Milner became the innermost leader of the Round Table. He was also a director of a number of banks. and as corporate precursor of England's Midland Bank he became one of the greatest polit.cal and financial powers in the world.

Another part of the Rothschild Empire was.....

The House of Warburg [4]

The Warburg family bank was M.N. Warburg & Co., of Hamburg, Germany. One brother, Max. remained in Germany to direct the Bank there. Two other brothers, Paul & Felix immigrated to the USA in 1902. and bought their way into one of America's most powerful banks.....

Kuhn-Loeb & Co. [5]

Paul Warburg married Nina Loeb. daughter of Solomon Loeb. Felix Warburg married Frieda Schiff, daughter of Jacob Schiff, the ruling power in the Kuhn-Loeb Bank.

Schiff reportedly had bought his way into this bank with Rothschild money. Now Paul & Felix Warburg became partners in the company. Later they established the Manhattan Bank.

J. P. Morgan [6].

Another very powerful banking dyansty was J. P. Morgan & Co., situated in New York. Morgan was American-born, but educated in England and Germany. He was credited as being the top American agent of the English Rothschilds.

Morgan became linked to the Rockefellers through his special agent in the Senate—Nelson Aldrich, whose daughter married John D. Rockefeller Jr.

The Rockefellers [7]

Although the Rothschilds, Warburgs, Kuhn-Loebs were Jewish, not all international bankers are Jews. John D. Rockefeller was Baptist.

John D. gained his initial wealth through oil. Later he went into banking and bought the Chase National Bank. His brother William 'married' into the National City Bank of New York. Two of William's sons married two daughters of James Stillman, the President of that Bank.

Later, the Chase Bank merged with the Manhattan Bank of the Warburg-Kuhn-Loebs, and thus formed the Chase-Manhattan Bank, centered in New York, which has grown into the most influencial bank in the world, having branches in more than 100 countries, and 50,000 banking agents throughout the world. (It ranks in the USA as No. 3.) David Rockefeller (brother of Nelson) is currently chairman of the Chase-Manhattan Bank.

The Bank of brother William, now First National City Bank, is America's No. 2 Bank. Recently the First National City linked its operations with the powerful British Grindlays Bank.

A third large bank in the Rockefeller orbit is the Chemical Bank (America's 6th largest), which is controlled by the Harkness family, whose members have been close associates of John D. in Standard oil.

The Rockefeller families have reportedly been working with the Rothschilds since the 1880's.

Bank of America

This is credited as America's and the World's largest bank (although the Chase-Manhattan is more influencial). It was established in California and became a giant through branch banking. (It has over 1,000 offices in California alone).

Recently it linked its overseas operations with the Rothschild banks of Europe.

These families and banks are among the foremost giants of finance, who lend money to governments, and who then can dictate on policy and on the economy of those nations. They are men with plans, men with ambitions. They are amongst the arch-conspirators, who seek to rule the world. But each one of them, is a tool in the hands of Power 13.

MONOPOLY—the realm of tyrants

Part of the U.S. dollar note

"He who loves money will not be satisfied with money, nor he who loves abundance with its income. This too is vanity." (Ecclesiastes 5:10)

Money hidden in a tin under the ground will never make more money. It will loose its value. But money invested, begets money. Often that is true.

There is such a principle as wise investment of resources which God commends. (Matt. 25:14-28). But the principle of money lending for usury—that is, for exhorbitant interest, is explicitly and strongly forbidden by God. The law was given to the Jewish people—see Bible. (Ex.22:25, Lev. 25:36, Deut. 23:19-20)

It has been mainly the lending of massive amounts of money that has brought vast accumulated wealth. God knew, of course, that wealth would be abused, and the poor, and unfortunate exploited by money lenders down through the centuries He knew the suffering that accumulated wealth would bring and thus He emphatically warns against this evil, particularly the usury principle.

It is particularly sad to see how the Jewish people, to whom the law was first given, have so widely disobeyed the command. The Jewish people have become known as money lenders, and this stigma has attached to their race all over the world—even though only a small minority of Jews have practised the business.

A warning in the Old Testament to the Nation of Israel says:-

"But if you or your sons shall indeed turn away from following Me, and shall not keep My commandments and My statutes which I have set before you and shall go and serve other gods and worship them, then I will cut off Israel from the land which I have given them, and the house which I have consecrated for My name, I will cast out of My sight. So Israel will become a proverb and a byword among all peoples." (I Kings 9:6-7)

The reputation of the Jewish people as money-lenders is no doubt a fulfilment of this prophecy; and the stigma, a result of Israel's disobedience to God's law, and of her failure to be the blessing to the world that God intended she should be.

This writing is not meant to be in any way, anti-semetic. It just happens that many of the world's great financial magnets are Jews: and that much of their wealth has been gained by usury. Neither do I charge that it is all a Jewish conspiracy to rule the world. Many of the conspirators are non-Jewish—probably the great majority. The conspiracy is not a national, racial or religious plot, but international, and anti-religious. The potential world rulers are not concerned with nations, boundaries, creeds, and ideologies, but with power and global dominion.

Monopoly Money

Not only does money put to usury accumulate capital, but "big finance" also monopolizes and manip-ulates to increase itself and to establish its influence and control.

The original John D. Rockefeller (1839-1937) [1] was a shrewd and successful businessman who, as a young man, established the mighty Standard Oil Company. At first it was simply one company among many, but from the beginning John D. had one motto—"competition is a sin."

This ambitious businessman had learnt his shrewdness from his father, William Rockefeller, the wandering medicine man who called himself "Doctor." Full of cunning, the "quack" peddled petroleum and sold it at an exhorbitant price as a cure for warts, cancer, impotency and whatever ill he confronted. His business ethics were passed on to his children and he once boasted to a friend, "I cheat my boys every chance I get. I want to make 'em sharp. I trade with the boys and skin 'em, and I just beat 'em every time I can. I want to make 'em sharp."

John D. was the sharpest. When he established his oil company, he set out to destroy all competition. He bribed, intimidated, coerced; he placed his own men inside competitors' offices; he used blackmail, violence, dynamite—anything—to break his competitors. Many of them he bought out at rock-bottom prices. Others he destroyed. Always he was ahead of other companies. His nature was deeply conspiratorial, and he planned years ahead with a great clarity of vision.

By 1890 the Rockefeller company had monopolized the oil business, and was refining 90% of all crude oil in the USA, and its worldwide business was also rapidly increasing (now called EXXON).

By 1900 John D. Rockefeller's name was synonymous with "ruthless exploitation." He commanded an empire, and as one biographer, William Manchester wrote. John D. ran his company as though it were a branch of the C.I.A. He used coded messages; he insisted that he was fighting firms which he himself secretly owned; and his rival's were forever discovering that their most trusted officers were his agents.

He had his mouthpiece in the U.S. Senate also, in the person of Nelson Aldrich whose daughter married John D. Rockefeller II. Aldrich was also a J. P. Morgan agent.

Rockefeller and Aldrich supported the new graduated income tax bill 1910, that would hit the super-rich hard, and thus weaken their competitors further. But John D. looking far ahead, had in 1901 opted for a new ploy. He "gave away" his fortune to tax-free foundations which would use it for philanthrophic purposes—but foundations that would be under his own control.

The foundation principle is to give away ownership of fortune, but to retain control. Rockefeller's "generosity" benefited him in several ways.

1. It improved his public image overnight. 2. It saved him from paying tremendous income tax, and later also saved the family much inheritance tax. 3. The foundations were used for programs which actually helped to increase the Rockefeller's influence and empire.

Rolling in money, Rockefeller had purchased the Chase Bank, and his brother William married into the National City Bank of New York. Later the Chase Bank, merged with the Manhattan Bank which was controlled by the Loebs-Kuhns and Warburgs, and the amalgum formed the powerful Chase-Manhattan Bank—now the most influencial bank in the world. The Warburgs thus linked the Rockefellers to the Rothschild Empire of Europe.

By this time the Round Table conspiracy of Milner and the Rothschilds in the U. K., had become established in the U.S.A. Naturally, the Warburgs, Rockefellers, and Morgans were the backbone of this American Round Table Group.

The Federal Reserve [2]

It was Paul Warburg, more than any other man, who was responsible for the creation of the American Federal Reserve System, which contrary to the presumption of most Americans, is not a Government Reserve Bank, but is a central bank of the USA., in private hands—in the hands of the International conspirators.

A privately-owned central bank is essential to anyone who wants to control the economy and leaders of a nation. The USA did have a central bank in the early 19th century, which was an early attempt of European financiers to gain control over America. That Bank was wisely abolished by President Jackson in 1836. The Rothschilds however continued to exercise influence in the USA, as they did in Europe.

Throughout the 19th century, the International Bankers succeeded in establishing or gaining control of Central banks in England, France, Germany and most other European nations. Later on when many of these central banks were "nationalized" (such as the Bank of England in 1946) the control remained the same—it was merely an "official" change, which put a government appearance to the Banks.

In the U.SA., the plan to capture the financial system needed to be far more subtle, as from early times, Americans were well aware of the dangers of money manipulation, and of centralized powers of government and finance. One of America's first Presidents, Thomas Jefferson, once wrote "Banking establishments are more dangerous than standing armies." [3]

In the early 20th century, the rapidly growing banking cartel of Eastern America—the Morgans, Warburgs, Kuhn–Loebs and Rockefellers, schemed to establish a central bank, by selling the people the idea that there was need for "banking reform" to protect the people from vested interests. In other words, the International Bankers propagated the idea that America needed to be protected from International Bankers—a common tactic of conspirators.

Another tactic is to create scares, crises, artificial shortages and inflation as a means of gaining the consent of the people to accept new measures which seemingly protect the people, but which actually increase the power of the manipulators.

Thus in 1907 J. P. Morgan & Co. triggered off a series of panics. Rumours of the insolvency of smaller banks, soon led to a run on those banks, and created a crisis. The answer to the problem, it was soon suggested, was "banking reform". Paul Warburg was paid $500,000 a year by the Kuhn–Loeb and Company for six years, during which he spent nearly all his time in writing and lecturing on the need for "bank reform".

The Insiders' man in the Senate was Nelson Aldrich who was also pushing the need for bank reform. The Insiders man in the White House was a brilliant man—another Morgan agent, "Colonel" Edward Mandell House. (He was never a military man His title was honorary).[4]

House is credited as being the "alter ego" of President Woodrow Wilson, and the real president of the Wilson years. The President himself had written, "Mr. House is my second personality. He is my independent self. His thoughts and mine are one." House was the man to guide the Federal Reserve Act through Congress in 1913.

EDWARD HOUSE

The Insiders' eggs, however, were not all in one basket. In the 1912 campaign, Teddy Roosevelt was another Insiders' man. Both Roosevelt and Wilson contested against the incumbent President, William Taft. Both Wilson and Roosevelt were supported by the Insiders' finance, and both stormed the country, trying to out–do each other in denouncing the "money trust", and promised new legislation that would finally end financial monopoly.

With Wilson installed as President, it was barely a year before Colonel House had successfully steered the the Federal Reserve Act through Congress. It was passed into law on December 22, 1913.

The Act was hailed as a victory for democracy over vested interests, but the whole Act consolidated the power of the International Bankers over the wealth and economy of America. A great step on the road to World Control had been successfully engineered. The first Federal Reserve Board was handpicked by Colonel House. It included Paul Warburg, and Benjamin Strong, a leading Morgan banker.

The Federal Reserve is directed by a board of seven governors, who are supposedly appointed (for 14-year terms) by the President. In fact it is the bankers who "appoint the President" for they are the ones who finance the presidential candidate of their own choice. The President then appoints any new governors to the Board, but men approved by the Financiers.

Neither President nor Congressmen, nor the Secretary of the Treasury direct the Federal Reserve. Technically the stock of the Federal Reserve is held by the twelve national banks that make up the system. These 12 banks are all owned by the private banking dynasties that created the system.

There is no doubt who is the power behind the Federal Reserve system — it is stamped on every dollar note they print. On the reverse side of the U.S. dollar note is the All-seeing eye of Power 13. The same symbol was used by the Manichaeans, the Illuminati and the Freemasons.

Illuminati

Federal Reserve

The same symbol appears on the Great Seal of the Federal Government of the U.S.A. Is it a coincidence that the Illuminati symbol is used by the American Federal Reserve System, which issues the dollar notes?

Some people explain the symbol as the "all-seeing eye of God," but it is not. This symbol is never used in the Bible. It is true that God sees all things, including the innermost core of all conspiracies. But this triangular eye is a symbol of Power 13.

On the American symbol, the triangular eye is suspended over a pyramid. And on the base of the pyramid, the number 1776 in Roman letters – yes, the year of the American Independence. Is it a coincidence that the pyramid belongs to Egypt, and that Weishaupt received his "mysteries" via Kolmer from the Manichaean cult in Egypt? No! Rather it is the stamp of Power 13 upon the Federal Reserve System of America, and the indication of Illuminati conspiracy in the U.S.A.

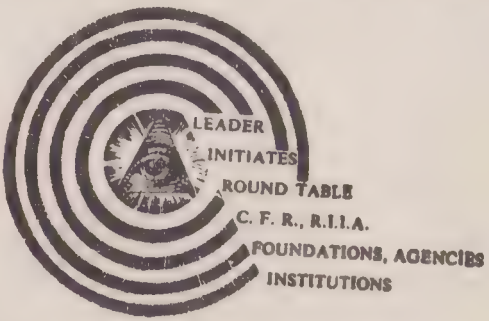
WORLD GOVERNMENT—the desire of despots

"You know that those who are recognized as rulers of the Gentiles lord it over them; and their great men exercise authority over them."

(Mark 10:42)

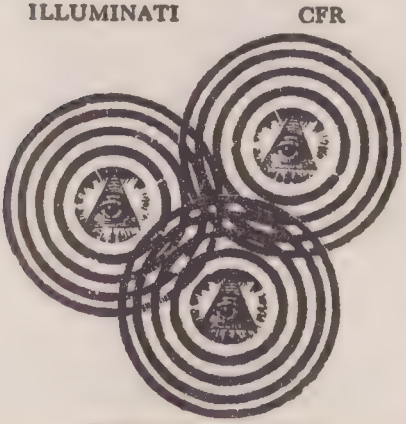


It has always been a practice of secret societies to form "front" organisations, which provide an outlet for their activities while camouflaging the real body. Front organisations are used to draw in possible initiates and also to carry out a "front" program which would hide the real intentions of the society from the general view. The Round Table Group formed front organisations in many countries.

After the close of World War 1, President Wilson and his "alter ego" and shadow, Colonel House, had gone to Europe with hopes of establishing a world government in the form of the League of Nations. The main reason given for the need of such a world government was of course, to prevent another world war. (Ten million people had perished in those 4 years.) American opinion and reaction, however, prevented the Insiders' dream from becoming a reality.

In 1919, representatives of European and American Round Table Groups including Colonel House, met with other "Insiders," in Paris, to extend their common goals and to sell the people of Europe and USA, the need for international government, to bring about "peace in our time." [1]

That secret conference in Paris immediately founded a front organisation called the Institute of International Affairs. In the U.K., it was called the Royal Institute of International Affairs, but in the USA it was called the Council on Foreign Relations. It was essential that the CFR appear as a completely American body and avoid the appearance of being a branch of the European Round Table. Quigley bluntly says the C.F.R. was a front for J. P. Morgan and Company. [2]



The original membership of the CFR included the same crowd who had engineered the Federal Reserve System—Paul Warburg & Jacob Schiff (of Kuhn-Loebs), Frank Vanderlip (of National City Bank), Nelson Aldrich, J. P. Morgan Averell Harriman and John D. Rockefeller.

The CFR has always remained a semi-secret clique of elite. New members can become part of the "prestigious" society only by invitation. It is for specially chosen "men on the rise". The council publishes little about itself, although it has a quarterly publication entitled "Foreign Affairs."

The general public have either never heard about the CFR. or have no idea of its aims and purposes. Many presume it is a government agency and often confuse the CFR with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which is quite different and separate.

The CFR is not a government organisation, but it has been called "the invisible government of the USA." It is also referred to as "the Establishment" and in derogatory terms, "The Rockefellers' Foreign Office."

DAVID ROCKEFELLER

The current chairman of the CFR is David Rockefeller, the brother of Nelson Rockefeller who was formerly Governor of New York State, and the Vice-President of America. David Rockefeller is also chairman of the Chase-Manhattan Bank.

The Rockefellers have always been a main power in the CFR, and their influence is beyond imagination. If we diverge for a few moments to consider the present-day Rockefellers, we will have a little better knowledge of the power behind the CFR and some idea of why it is so prestigious. [3]

The Rockefeller's first business is the oil empire of Exxon with its 300 subsideraries and affiliates worldwide; and secondly, the Banking Empire—the Chase-Manhattan, the Citi and Chemical Banks. Closely related to these banks are 3 gigantic insurance companies, which have interlocking boards of directors.

More than these main banks and insurance companies, the Rockefeller investments account for about 25% of the assets of the 50 largest commercial banks, and 30% of all the assets of the 50 largest Life Insurance Companies in the U.S.A.

Large amounts of stock held by Rockefellers, and investments by their banks and interlocking directorates give them control or influence over: Mobil Oil, Inland Steel, Marathon Oil, IBM, Westinghouse, Boeing, International Paper, Xerox, National Steel, Avon, TWA, Eastern, United, National, Delta and North-West Airlines; Penn Central (Railways), Consolidated Freightways; Safeway (chain supermarkets), General Foods; Allied Chemicals, Anaconda Copper, Shell, Gulf, Union, and Continental Oil; American Motors & Chrysler—to name only the most well-known companies within the Rockefeller Empire.

Recently, a report submitted to Congress by two University of California professors revealed that 15 members of the Rockefeller family are directors of 40 corporations which have total assets of 70 billion dollars. The boards on which the Rockefellers serve have interlocking directorates with 91 major U.S. corporations controlling combined assets of 640 billion dollars.[4] This gives some idea of the gigantic Rockefeller power in America.

NELSON ROCKEFELLER

The Rockefellers have more than 200 trusts and foundations where tremendous deposits of wealth are placed (which is then tax-exempt, and not counted as private wealth, although control over its use is retained).

Former Vice-President Nelson Rockefeller admitted having an estimated personal fortune of $218 million. Presumably, this was his pocket money and did not include an art collection which he valued a $35 million dollars.

The main homestead of the family, is the palatial mansions at Pocantico Hills in New York State. The estate is more than 4,000 acres in size, and has 70 miles of roads. In 1929 it had 75 buildings. How many now? An underground archives to store family records cost $ 4½ million dollars to build. No expense has been spared to make the estate a paradise. In comparison, Buckingham Palace must look like a barn.

Between them, the Rockefellers have about 100 residences including an enormous ranch in Venezuala, a coffee plantation in Ecuador, several farms in Brazil, an 18,000 acre ranch in Texas, plus 7 other ranches, grand resorts in Hawaii and Purto Rico, retreats in the Caribbean, Italy and Maine, and a 32–room apartment in the centre of Manhattan (quite separate to the Rockefeller tower which is also in Manhattan, where three complete storeys are taken over by the Rockefellers' financial and business staff.

The Rockefeller women, understandably lose count of their servants—estimated at about 2,500. The families have a fleet of private jets to whizz them around the world, just as an ordinary business man might be driven around a city.

The story of the Rockefellers and their assets and activities is endless. The families are now in their fourth generation from John D. the First. John D. IV was recently elected governor of West Virginia.

Now back to the CFR, which is undoubtedly the most influencial group in America. According to an article of Sept. 1, 1961, in the "Christian Science Monitor" edited by a member of the Round Table. the CFR roster "...contains names distinguished in the field of diplomacy, government, business, finance, science, labour, journalism, law and education. What united so wide ranging and disparate membership is a passionate concern for the direction of American foreign policy."

One of the CFR members, Joseph Kraft, has called the council a "School for statesmen"[5] which suggests that members are pruned for leading positions in Washington, and indoctrinated with CFR strategy.

According to the Christian Science Monitor article, there is a constant flow of CFR members into public service. The council has served as a type of "employment agency" for the Federal Government, and has in fact, dominated every administration for the last four decades. For the last 43 years, every secretary of State (except 3) has been a CFR member.

Adlai Stevenson, Eisenhower, John Kennedy, Johnson, Hubert Humphrey, Nixon, McGovern, Jimmy Carter – all have been members of the CFR. Richard Nixon appointed at least 115 CFR members to key positions in his administration the most notable being Dr. Henry Kissinger.[6] Carter's chief appointees are mostly CFR men also.

The CFR has, at present, some 1600 members. The goal of the organisation is quite clear. It is exactly the same as the Illuminati, and of the Round Table—the establishing of a "New World Order"—which is the code word for "world government." The CFR does not even hide this fact (they don't need to, as it is now impossible to change direction).

In a Special Study No. 7, dated 25 Nov. '59, the CFR advocated..."building a new international order...responsive to world aspirations for peace, for social and economic change...an international order including states labelling themselves as socialist'."[7]

One of the first disclosures of the origins, aims and activities of the CFR came from one of its own members Professor Caroll Quigley of Georgetown University. He wrote a 1300-page book, entitled Tragedy and Hope (MacMillan & Co., 1966)

Quigley reveals an international network whose goal is "nothing less than to create a world system of financial control in private hands able to dominate the political system of each country and the economy of the world as a whole."

He describes conditions in the future world system, when the individual's freedom and choice will be controlled within very narrow alternatives by the fact that he will be numbered from birth and followed, as a number, through his educational training, his required military or other public service, his tax contributions, his health and medical requirements, and his final retirement and death benefits.

Quigley himself is not opposed to these plans of the Insiders, and evidently feels that they are the solution to the world's problems. Many of the CFR members, as well as a growing array of intellectuals all around the world, are actually convinced that World Government is the answer to our world crises—our armaments build-up, nuclear threat, food and famine problems, our energy crisis, monetary problems, inflation crisis, the pollution, population, crime, drugs, poverty and exploitation.

The problems are emphasized, and numerous international organisations to solve them are being established. "Let's work for a new world order" these ideologists proclaim, "and we will have at last, an equitable world, where freedom, peace and happiness dwell."

That's the world we would all like to establish—all of us, except Power 13 and his Man 666, and the inner core of conspirators who want to rule the world; and except for the multitude of money-lovers, drug-peddlers, pornography-producers, exploiters, perverters, mafia, God-despisers, Christ-rejectors and Satan-worshippers.

And while Satan is well and loose on this planet, the vision of a just and equitable world is but a futile dream. World Government led by ruthless men is not the answer to our problems—but it is the goal of Power 13.

For a World Government to become a reality, all nations must surrender sovereignty and independence to a World Body. Another CFR member who has testified against the Organisation (and who is no longer invited into the inner sanctums of the group) is Admiral Chester Ward (U.S. Navy Rtd.)

This Admiral, who is more patriotic than conspiratorial, failed to embrace the aims of the CFR, and has warned, "the lust to surrender the sovereignty and independence of the United States, is pervasive throughout most of the membership." Ward quoted another CFR member, Kingston Brewster, Jr. who wrote an article, "Reflections on our National Purpose," which stated, "Our national purpose should be to abolish our nationality."

To whom are the nations supposed to surrender their sovereignty? Admiral Ward made it clear – to an all-powerful, one-world government. He made it clear also that about 95% of the CFR members are aware of this real purpose, and support this goal. [8]

Interdependence is a modern word used to express the necessity of embracing a world supra-government. In 1976, (the American bi-centennial year of independence) was a year in which scores of U.S. Senators and Congressmen signed a new declaration—a Declaration of Interdependence, which plans to surrender U.S. sovereignty to a world government.

It is hard to believe that nations would be willing for this. But as far back as May 1960, the British parliament issued a White Paper, which stated that H.M. Government was prepared to surrender its full sovereignty to a world government to be formed. The same day the U.S.A. and Italy made similar declarations. Since then at least nine other nations have made such statements.

On many occasions, Dr. Henry Kissinger has declared that the creation of a "New World Order" is his goal. Washington columnist Paul Scott has written:

"It is Kissinger's belief, according to his aides, that by controlling food, one can control people, and by controlling energy, especially oil, one can control nations and their financial systems. By placing food and oil, under international control along with the world's monetary system, Kissinger is convinced a loosely-knit world government operating under the frame-work of the United Nations can become a reality before 1980." [9]

Of course, Kissinger left the State Department when Gerald Ford's presidency expired. But Jimmy Carter's appointee, Secretary of State, Cyrus Vance, is also a CFR; and so the Insiders' program continues without any hinderance. The CFR, of course, does not belong to either major U.S. party – but it operates in both.

The CFR influence is not only through government positions, but even more important, through the news media. The following mass media companies all have leading members—directors, editors and writers — in the CFR: National Broadcasting Corporation, Columbia Broadcasting System, Time, Life, Fortune, Look, New York Times, Washington Post, Los Angeles Times, New York Post, Denver Post, Macmillan Co., Saturday Review, Business Week—and more.

With the CFR guiding the main news media of the USA, it is not surprising that the urge for Internationalism, interdependence and a supra-world government is catching on fast, and that the nations are almost ready for the first stage—a loosely-knit world government operating within the framework of the United Nations which Dr. Kissinger is convinced can become a reality before 1980.

The CFR is not the innermost core of the conspiracy. It is one major front for the network Quigley revealed. But with Power 13 operating within the CFR and its vast connections, it is evident that World Government is not far away.

Chapter 7

BIBLE NUMBERS — the stamp of inspiration

"But the very hairs of your head are all numbered."

(Matthew 10 : 30)

In earlier chapters we have referred to Power 13, Man 666, and Mystery 666. Let me explain why. In the Bible various numbers have special significance, and God has used these numbers in a most complex, regular and presistent way, to set His seal upon the inspiration of the Bible, to declare perfect that which is perfect; and demonic that which is demonic.

Here are some of the most common numbers, and their most usual significance : [1]

1 Speaks of Unity
2 Separation or witness
3 God, Divine perfection or, the Godhead
4 The world or creative work
5 Grace (the free gift of God)
6 Man (under sin)
7 Perfection
8 Resurrection (the personal number of Jesus Christ)
9 Finality
10 Ordinal perfection
11 Disorganisation
12 Government
13 Sin, rebellion & Satan
37 The living Word of God
40 Probation

In Hebrew and Greek (the languages the Bible was written in) every letter has a numeric value, similar to the Roman letter-numbers which we still often use—V for 5, X for 10, L for 50 and C for 100, etc.

For example, 8 is the number of Jesus (the Resurrection). If you take the Greek letters of the word Jesus, it is like this.

		Value
I	—	10
E	—	8
S	—	200
O	—	70
U	—	400
		888	Total

This number is a perfect 8 (triple 8). But Jesus is also the "Word of God" which is signified by the number 37. And Jesus as God is signified by the letter 3. So these three numbers 8, 37 & 3, all represent the person of Christ. Now multiply 8 x 37 x 3—total 888. The same number as the value of His name! Notice also the total is a multiple of 8 (111 x 8) [1]

Is it co-incidence that the letters of the word "Jesus" add up to 888? Not at all. It is the stamp of inspiration and God's design in the written Word. And not just in a few places, but, throughout the Bible.

The title,

THE CHRIST has a numeric value of	1480	(185 x 8)
SAVIOUR	1408	(176 x 8)
LORD	800	(100 x 8)
MESSIAH	656	(82 x 8)
THE SON OF MAN ...	2960	(370 x 8)
THE TRUTH	64	(8 x 8)

The number 8 is stamped in many ways upon the Word of God, when referring to the Resurrection, or Jesus the Resurrection. The last book of the Bible is "The Revelation of Jesus Christ" It has exactly 888 words. [1]

The letter 3 signifies God. The letter 7, perfection. Surely God's number—the number of the Holy Trinity is 777.

In the first verse of the Bible, Gen. 1:1, you read, "In the beginning God created heaven and earth.". God is the God of Heaven and earth. If you take the total numeric value of those three nouns, God. heaven & earth, it is exactly 777. That first verse, furthermore, has exactly seven Hebrew words. The seven words have exactly 28 letters (4 x 7) There is one verb, "created" which has a numeric value of 203 (29 x 7). [1]

These are a few examples of how God has woven the Scriptures in a miraculous way, with numerical significance. This forms a very interesting study, and volumes of numeric studies could be written.

My intention in pointing out this amazing phenomena, is to show that the numbers 6 and 13 are also interwoven into Scripture, into historical facts, stamped upon certain people and into prophetical events, when referring to Man under sin (6) or the Man of Sin (666), the activities of Satan and the activities of men directed by Satan. If we study the number 6, we will detect it is Man's number. And number 13, represents sin, and Satan.

Many people superstitiously regard Friday 13th as an unlucky day. It is true that Friday is the sixth day of the week, and has 6 letters; and 6 & 13 are the numbers of sinful man and Satan. But we do not need to be superstitious about these numbers. Our lives are not directed by "fate", and pre-planned by numerology, astrology, the planets, etc. Whatever truth there is in these things, it has been perverted by Satan.

It is true that God said : "Let there be lights in the expanse of the heavens to separate the day from the night, and let them be for signs, and for days and years." (Genesis 1:14), but that does not give a basis for the bogus system of astrology which was invented under the guidance of Satan at ancient Babel.

It is true also that God has stamped numbers upon various subjects. But this is not ground for a system of numerology, in which everything is governed by numbers, so that if a person is born on the 13th he will have an unlucky life, or if his name has 13 letters he is intrinsically evil, or if his name has 7 letters, he is absolutely perfect. Many godly people have 6-letter names, eg. Daniel, Joshua. So a number does not prove evil.

But we do recognise that Satan's instruments and activities will carry Satan's marks, in some way or other —so often in a person's character. One Satan-possessed man was Judas Iscariot (13 letters) !

One amazing example of "13" is in Genesis 10:26-29. A man named Joktan (6) was the ancestor of a sinful, rebellious race. Joktan had 13 sons. The numeric value of his name is 169 (13 X 13). The total numeric value of the names of all his 13 sons adds up to 2756 (212 X 13). [1]

The word "zume" meaning leaven, which is a symbol of sin, occurs 13 times in Scripture. Its numeric value is 455 (35 X 13). The words "backsliding" and "hypocrite" each occur 13 times in the Old Testament. The word dragon (a title of Satan) also occurs 13 times.

Now look at the value of the titles of Satan :

Dragon	...	975	(75 x 13)
Tempter	...	1053	(81 x 13)
Belial	...	78	(6 x 13)
Murderer	...	1820	(140 x 13)
Serpent	...	780	(60 x 13)

The phraze "called the devil and Satan".....2197 (13 x 13 x 13). Any doubt that is it Satan's number? Is this why 13 has been superstiously regarded as an unlucky number?

Now look at the number 6. Man was created on the 6th day. In Genesis chapter 3 where man falls into sin, the word 'man' is mentioned 6 times. In Genesis 6, there is the increase of man. In verse 13, the extremity of man's sin.

The future " Man of Sin " is spoken of in 2 Thessalonians 2. Six titles are given, Man of Sin, Son of destruction, One who opposes and exalts himself, One who displays himself as being God, Lawless one, and One whose coming is in accord with the activity of Satan.

In Rev. 6 you have the rise of the Man of Sin (Antichrist). In Rev. 18 (6 + 6 + 6) you have the destruction of Babylon, the kingdom of Antichrist. In Rev. 13 there is the worship of the Man of Sin (the beast) and also of the Origin of Sin (Satan). This chapter has 18 verses (3 x 6), and in verse 18 itself, the number of the Man of Sin (666).

In Rev. 13 you have the Demonic Trinity–Satan (the Dragon), the Man of Sin (Ist Beast), and the False Prophet (the 2nd Beast). These titles are given a total of 18 times (6 x 3) in this chapter. The absolute world-wide reign of the Man of Sin is 42 months (6 x 7) verse 5. The word "Beast" (in the evil sense) occurs 36 (6 x 6) in the Book of Revelation.

What is the significance of the triple 6? A triple number respresents the complete, or ultimate, or absolute. 333 represents the Triune God. 777 represents absolute perfection (God of Heaven and Earth). 888 represents the fulness of Christ, the Resurrection. So 666 represents the ultimate sinful man—or Man of Sin. He will be the embodiment of sin, or sin incarnate, in the sense that Satan will possess him during those 42 months.

It is possible that the significance of 666 is also related to wealth, for the triple 6 is mentioned in one other scripture—2 Chronicles 9:13 (maybe verse 13 is not coincidence?) There it mentions that Solomon received 666 talents of gold in one year.

This could suggest that wealth will be in the hand of Man 666. And I certainly believe it will, for he will undoubtedly control the new monetary system which the I.M.F. and the International Banks are working on right now.

Another certainty is that the numerical value of the name of this coming Antichrist, will be exactly 666.

Could this Antichrist be living at this time? Certainly! I would say, undoubtedly ! He must be manoeuvering behind the scenes right now. He could be one of the Jewish Rothschilds. Certainly he will be a Jew, for he will claim to be the Messiah.

What about Henry Kissinger ? He is a Jew, (although he was excommunicated from Jewry in 1976) and an Insider, and a "man of peace" ? Someone has even worked out that he fits the equation of 666. If you start with A (6), add 6 for each letter: B–12, C–18, D–24, and so on, you have the "6" scale.

Dr. Super K.

Add up the values of the letters of Kissinger—it is 666. And the letters of "Henry" add up to 420 (6 X 70). And his middle initial is A – (6). Well that does not prove Dr. Kissinger is Antichrist.

Henry certainly would make a good candidate for the World Rulership, but, the trouble is, Henry is already revealed. The Scripture in 2 Thes. 2:7–8 says that the Lawless One will be revealed only after the Restrainer (the Holy Spirit) is taken out of the way. But Henry has certainly been helping to prepare the way for Man 666.

We refer in this book, to the Mystery of Iniquity as Mystery 666. That is because the conspiracy of Satan comes to its climax in Man 666. That plan of evil will naturally be stamped with the figures 13, 6 and 666, and their multiples, and thus we may detect various tentacles of its working.

The Illuminati is so stamped that it could not be a coincidence. Rather it is Satan's stamp–the stamp of sin, the stamp of his conspiracy, indelibly upon it. The name of Adam Weishaupt has 13 letters. He was born on 6th Feb. (1748). "Adam" means "man", and the number of man is 6. The Illuminati was formed in 1776 (296 X 6) The Illuminati brought forth the Communist Manifesto in 1848 (308 X 6). Karl Marx was born in 1818 (303 X 6). Weishaupt died in 1830 (305 X 6).

From the beginning of the Illuminati (1776) to the "Communist Manifesto" (1848) is 72 years(12 X 6). The year of the U.S. Federal Reserve Act, which is stamped with the Illuminati symbol was 1913.

The year that Henry Kissinger expects a loosely-knit world government to be formed–the same year that the European Economic Community (the Common Market) expects to be united under a single great ruler, the year that the new monetary system is expected to be in operation is 1980. Is this year significant? It could be. (55X6 X 6). From the beginning of the Illuminati to 1980 is 204 years (34×6).

I do not prophecy anything for that year, but I'm sure Nelson & David Rockefeller are keen to see the fulfilment of the grand design in their lifetime; and they are both already grandfathers. In 1980 Nelson will be 72 years, and David 65. So 1980 could well be their goal for the crowning of the King of Sin.

We do not set dates for the fulfilment of prophecy, for Scripture does not encourage that. What it does encourage, is to discern the signs of the coming Day of the Lord, and to be always ready for the Return of Christ.

— the god of this world

"the whole world lies in the power of the evil one." (1 John 5 : 19)

There is a power at work in the world today that is nothing less than devilish. It is stamping itself upon society in every possible way. This power is the very core of conspiracy–it is a power working against God, and against man. It takes up every willing instrument, and manipulates even the unwilling. It exploits the unwary, and perverts the good-intentioned. It enlists the poor as well as the rich, and promises benefits to both, and indeed to anyone else who will do its bidding. It offers wealth to the poor, and power to the rich. It provides fame and position to the ambitious.

Those who resist this power will face bitter onslaughts, and anyone who dares expose it, is guaranteed a malicious attempt to discredit and vilify him. This author has faced many diatribes from this power, but nevertheless we must expose his schemes that are working to blind, blight and bind the nations—not merely the nations in general, but the individuals of the nations. Should we not expose this enemy, we would be, not on the side of God, but in the grip also of this evil force.

This is the power behind the Illuminati; behind the Round Table, the CRF, the Bilderbergers and the myriads of agencies working for World Government.

Power 13 is no other than Satan, the chief of devils —not an imaginary figure of the Dark Ages, but a powerful spiritual being who is invisible to the natural eye, but as real as you and I. He is the enemy of God, and the enemy of man. He is the leader of myriads of evil spirits, which are generally called demons.

Satan and demons are not human beings – they never were. They are fallen angels. Originally they were created by God, as angels – to serve Him. But, Lucifer, the beautiful "Star of the Morning", was lifted up with pride. This privileged creature, who dwelt in the presence of God, and continually beheld the glory of God, desired the one thing that God could not grant him—worship. Lucifer wanted to be as God – he wanted to be worshipped. Because of this pride and envy, Lucifer was cast out of the presence of God and became Satan, the chief devil, who is often called, the serpent, the dragon, Belial and Beelzebub.

We call Satan and his forces of darkness, Power 13, not because 13 is an unlucky number, but because 13 is the number Scripture stamps upon Satan. 13 is also the number of SIN—and Satan is the origin of sin.

Not many details are given in Scripture concerning the beginnings of Satan, but in Isaiah, we do have a glimpse of his original pride and rebellion.

"How you have fallen from heaven, O star of the morning, son of the dawn! You have been cut down to the earth, You who have weakened the nations! But you said in your heart, 'I will ascend to heaven; I will raise my throne above the stars of God. And I will sit on the mount of assembly, in the recesses of the north. I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I WILL MAKE MYSELF LIKE THE MOST HIGH.' Nevertheless you will be thrust down to sheol, to the recesses of the pit." (Isaiah 14:12–15)

This prophecy has two applications. Firstly, it concerns the king of Babylon, who exalted himself above everything on earth; and secondly, it teaches about Satan. It is not by accident that these two are very related. The king of Babylon is a "symbol of Satan," and "Babylon", throughout scripture, represent Satan's counterfeit kingdom.

This passage in Isaiah, clearly reveals more than the earthly king's self–exaltation. It gives a glimpse of the original state, and the fall of the devil.

His evil desire being denied, Lucifer sought to usurp authority and to claim allegiance and worship. We are not told how, but Satan succeeded in leading many angels in rebellion against God, and won their allegiance and worship.

In Matthew 25:41 we read of "the eternal fire which has been prepared for the devil and his angels.". He is clearly the leader of this spiritual world of wickedness. Another scripture reveals that demons are very numerous. They operate in the heavenly and spiritual realm, but have a tremendous influence upon this world of men:

"Put on the full armor of God, that you may be able to stand firm against the schemes of the devil. For our struggle is not against flesh and blood but against the rulers, against the powers, against the world-forces of this darkness, against the spiritual forces of wickedness in the heavenly places." (Ephesians 6:11–12)

Not content, however, with the allegiance of myriads of fallen angels, Satan attacked the human race, as soon as it was created, by appealing to Eve; "You will be as God', he said, tempting her to eat of the forbidden fruit.

Having succeeded in causing Adam and Eve to sin by disobeying God, and having robbed them of their innocence, Satan then claimed their allegiance, and the allegiance of all their descendants.

Adam and Eve's disobedience was not some little mistake. It was so dreadful, so damaging, so devastating, that it immediately led these two, humanity's first forefathers, into chains of despair. It led them into the clutches of the Deceiver. And not only Adam and Eve, but through them, the whole human race was infected by their depravity. [1]

Because of the inborn sin nature of every babe coming into the world, Satan immediately claims these little ones as his subjects. His activity is then directed to consolidating control over them all and to prevent their deliverance from his influence and domain.

The result is the extension of the kingdom of darkness to include all of humanity. The desperate outcome we have seen down the centuries and we see it at this very moment, around the world.

The degredation, the poverty, the slavery, the wars, the crime, vice, immorality, the confusion, fear, hunger—all are a result of Satan's success in the garden of Eden. Since then his evil influence has spread, and continues to infiltrate ever part of human society, and to such an extent that we read; "the god of this world has blinded the minds of the unbelieving, that they might not see the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God." (2 Corinthians 4:4).

Satan's most daring attempt to deceive was when he tempted the God-man, Jesus. "Fall down and worship me", Satan said, "and I will give you all the kingdoms of world." (Matt. 4:8–9)

If he could have succeeded in deceiving Jesus, Satan would have pulled off the greatest bloodless coup of all time. In exchange for the king of kings, he would have gladly given all the kings within his clutches. Satan would gladly have given all enslaved humanity if he could somehow gain, even two minutes of worship, from the One who had denied him worship.

It is unthinkable that God could worship the devil, but nevertheless, Satan evidently thought it was worthwhile trying, maybe thinking that God, clothed in humanity, might just be volnerable to his subtleties.

"Get behind Me, Satan; it is written, you shall worship the Lord your God, and Him only shall you worship."

Satan failed in that attempt, just as he did when he attempted genocide on God's people. And yet, his many successes can be seen in men and nations, throughout history, and can be clearly discerned in the international conspiracy rings today.

Power 13 at Work

For approximately 6,000 years, Satan has been at work in the human race. His aims have always been the same–to gain worship from humanity. His plans and methods have differed at various times but throughout history we can discern, not only his activity, but his special strategy to consolidate control of the race, and the ultimate enforcment of satanic worship.

One of the earliest civilizations was the Egyptian, and much of what we know of it, is learnt from the Great Pyramid, known also as the Pyramid of Cheops. Here, Power 13 used astronomy, as a religion to enslave the race[2].

The exact date of the building of this pyramid–"the greatest edifice ever constructed on the earth"–is not known; but many have agreed it was built about 2,700 B.C., (450 x 6). This was about 350 years before the Great Flood.

The Great Pyramid is stamped with Satan's marks. It covers an area of 13 acres It's height is 480 ft. (80 x 6). There were 2,300,000 stone blocks in the structure, each weighing 60 tons each (10 x 6).

This pyramid has been built using astronomical figures, particularly in relation to the sun. The length of the base line of the pyramid is 365.2422 cubits—the exact number of days in a solar (sun) year.

The 4 cornerstones of the base of the structure, are standing at true North, East, South and West of the compass, so that when the sun crosses the equinox, no shadow is cast anywhere on all four sides.

For every 10ft. of the slope of the pyramid, one rises 9ft. in altitude. Now by multiplying the full altitude of the pyramid by 10^9 (10 raised to the power of nine) we arrive at a figure which is the exact distance (in feet) of the earth from the sun at its nearest orbital point. Why should the ancient Egyptians have such emphasis on solar measurements? Because the sun was the Egyptian god, Ra.

But one must ask, if the ancient Egyptians actually had phenomenal astronomical knowledge how could they possibly believe that the sun was a god, and not merely a star ? Was it Power 13 that guided them, not only in the exact astronomical measurements, but also in the tremendous feat of constructing the great pyramid ?

That construction is so huge, that it is said it could contain all the cathedrals of Rome, Milan and Florence, as well as the Empire State Building, Westminister Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral and the British Houses of Parliament.

Much about the pyramid is uncanny. There is a power that operates in the structure even today. "Scientists who have been trying to x-ray the pyramid at Giza near Cairo (the Great Pyramid), are baffled by mysterious influences that are throwing into utter confusion the reading of their space age electronic equipment.....it defies all the known laws of science and electronics.....there is a mystery which is beyond explanation – call it what you will, occultism, the curse of the Pharaohs, sorcery, or magic—there is some force that defies the laws of science at work in the pyramids!" [3]

Many kings and rulers, including Napoleon, have claimed to have had supernatural experiences, and their futures revealed, while visiting the Great Pyramid. It is Power 13 at work. The pyramid itself is a symbol of ancient Egyptian occultism.

OCCULT ILLUMINATI

FEDERAL RESERVE

Remember, Adam Weishaupt was initiated into the Manichaeans by Kolmer who had learnt its mysteries in Egypt. And Weishaupt later formed the Illuminati. Thus we see the link up of the occult of ancient Egypt with the Illuminati of 1776, and also the U.S. Federal Reserve System of 1913. The symbol on the $1 note is too significant to be coincidence—the eye, the triangle, the pyramid, the year 1776 and the motto, "NOVUS ORDO SECLORUM" (new world order).

The program of Power 13 has been essentially one—deceiving humanity, so that men might be enslaved in an international demonic order that has Satan at the core of worship. In the decades immediately prior to the Great Flood, this Power caused great havoc in world conditions and almost succeeded in fulfilling its aim. When the flood came, there were a mere eight people in the whole world who worshipped the living God.

In Genesis chapter 6 we read of the population explosion of those days, and also of the crime and corruption increase. In verse 13, we read of the extremity of sin, and God's pronouncement upon it.

"Then God said to Noah, The end of all flesh has come before Me; for the earth is filled with violence because of them; and behold, I am about to destroy them with the earth." (Genesis 6:13)

Satan succeeded in damning the whole race (except for eight – eight people experienced the "resurrection" – coming from the world of death into the new world), but he soon attacked the new race. This time he took hold of a mighty hunter, named Nimrod (6 letters). Nimrod was the Rockefeller of his day, and built the Assyrian Empire with cities at Nineveh, Babel, Erech, Accad, Calneh, Rehoboth-Ir, Calah and Resen. (Gen. 10:8–12).

Nineveh the capital of the empire had the stamp of Satan upon it. It was enclosed by a wall 60 (6 x 10) miles round. It was defended by 1500 towers (250 x 6), but when it was at its height of glory and sin, Zephaniah prophesied its destruction in chapter 2:13:

"And He will stretch out His hand against the north and destroy Assyria. And He will make Nineveh a desolation, parched like the wilderness."

It was evidently Nimrod's idea, that Babel, not Nineveh, should become a world capital, for Power 13 put the ambition into Nimrod's heart; "Build yourself a great city. Build a tower to show the world that you are the greatest man alive. Build a one-world government. pronounce yourself world ruler; and establish a one-world religion. Count upon Power 13."

The excuse for World Government at that time was, "lest we be scattered across the face of the whole earth." (Gen 11:4). But the motivation behind it was the worship of Satan. Nimrod's wife was the one to help him there. As a priestess, Semiramis established an organized religion, built upon astrology. She herself became the "Queen of Heaven", and when she brought forth her son Tammuz, he was quickly proclaimed, "the promised seed—the Messiah."

This religion was the beginning of "Babylonianism", which is another name for "Satanism". The Satanic cult which pictured the "Queen of Heaven" and her male child-god, spread throughout the world, taking various names in each country: in Canaan, Astoroth and Baal; in Egypt, Isis and Horus; in Greece, Aphrodite and Eros; in Italy, Venus and Cupid.[4]

The tower of Babel was built of brick, and on the site of the later famous city, Babylon. It reached 1140 feet (190 x 6). I would not presume that those builders actually thought they could reach heaven—but this tower does show the Satanic motivation—' you will be as gods—you can exalt vourselves to the height of heaven '.

The Assyrian Empire lasted for 666 years until it was destroyed by Babylon.[5] That Rockytower was never completed. The vison of a unified world government, with a united language, and united religion, was not fully achieved. But Power 13 is never complete, and will never say "enough".

Satan's next attempt, after the Assyrian failure, was Babylonia—the empire of which Nebuchadnezzar was the greatest king. In his reign the capital of Babylon was a tremendous and beautiful city. Its area has been estimated at 150 square miles (25 x 6), with a wall 100 ft. high and 30 ft (5 x 6) thick. Babylon was built on the very site of Babel, and both names have the same meaning—"confusion."

Again the attempt was to establish a world order, and a UNIVERSAL DEMONIC WORSHIP. The Babylonian empire was filled with sorcerers, astrologers and magicians, which are all part of Satanic religion.

It was Nebuchadnezzar who destroyed the city of Jerusalem and the Temple of God there. Satan's attempt was to destroy, not merely the Jewish religion, but the revelation and knowledge of the true God, which was deposited with the people of Judah.

Conspiracy was stamped upon the 120 (6 x 20) satraps over which Daniel ("God is judge") was appointed as First President. Power 13 could not tolerate a godly man in such a high position, (especially with that name), so he inspired the satraps to conspire to destroy God's man. Daniel was thrown to the lions, but he was preserved by God. The conspirators were also thrown into the den—and you know what happened to them! This is one speciality of Power 13. If his instruments cannot destroy God s people, or if they fail to fulfil Satan's plan, then he will destroy them.

It was Nebuchadnezzar who made an image of gold, 60 cubits high and 6 cubits wide and commanded the whole world to worship it. No wonder that Isaiah prophesied against him, as we have read in Isaiah 14. There were those, however, who honoured the Lord God, and who were willing to be cast into a blazing furnace, rather than worship this image of Satan.

It was this same Nebuchadnezzar who destroyed the commercial city of Tyre—another of Satan's cities—when it was at its height of prosperity and SIN. Ezekiel in chapter 26 (13x2) prophesied Tyre' s destruction 240 years (40×6) beforehand. History tells us that the fortifications of the city were so strong it took Nebuchadnezzar 13 years to break through.[6]

The utter destruction of Babylon was propheised in Isaiah 13 : 19-22 :

"And Babylon, the beauty of kingdoms, the glory of the Chaldeans' pride, will be as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah. It will never be inhabited or lived in from generation to generation; nor will the Arab pitch his tent there. nor will shepherds make their flocks lie down there. But desert creatures will lie down there. And their houses will be full of owls, Ostriches also will live there, and shaggy goats will frolic there. And hyenas will howl in their fortified towers and jackals in their luxurious palaces. Her fateful time also will soon come and her days will not be prolonged." (Isaiah 13:19-22). This destruction was fulfilled by Darius the Mede (Darius 6, "Darius the Mede" 13) who ruled over the great Medo-Persian Empire.

In the reign of Xerxes, (i.e. Ahasuerus of the book of Esther), Power 13 was again at work. seeking to destroy the Jewish race, and consequently the knowledge of God. Haman was Man 6 for that time, and although his own name does not have 6 letters, he is clearly Satan's man, for he was of the line of Amalek (6) who is, in Scripture, very much a "man of sin" .

Haman's plan to annihilate every Jew was frustrated, and like the satraps who tried to destroy Daniel, and like the Illuminatus, Robespierre, he died on his own gallows.

One of the earliest experiments in communism was on the Island of Crete about 1300 B. C. Later, in the 7th Century B. C., Lycurgus the ruler of the Greek city-state, Sparta, adopted the Cretian model for his kingdom. [7]

In Sparta the principles of equality and common life were enforced. Public meals and public sleeping apartments were provided for all citizens. Newborn infants were examined by a State Board, to determine which ones were fit for military training and thus should be permitted to live. At seven years of age, boys were forced to live in barracks, undergoing intense indoctrination which was thoroughly militaristic. The Spartans were given to war. Military service continued till the age of 60 years. Business enterprises were forbidden, and it was impossible to accumulate personal wealth.

As the ancient historian, Plutarch wrote, "no man was at liberty to live as he pleased, the city being like one great camp where all had their stated allowance." [8]

That Sparta was not an attempt at "happiness for everyone", is seen by its conspiratorial drive, using its communistic principles, to rule the Greek world. For nearly 30 years, Sparta fought Athens, until the latter was defeated. Then Sparta gained supremacy over all the Greek states, and formed a confederacy of allies, to fight against the Persians. [9]

Throughout the Spartan "experiment", Satan was at his usual work, to captivate, and to destroy. The religion of Sparta was WAR. But when Power 13 was finished with it, Sparta was also destroyed by war, and what was left, came under the mighty heal of the despotic rule of Alexander the Great.

It was the Spartan "experiment" that centuries later, inspired Adam Weishaupt, whose pseudonym was "Spartacus." Spartacus was also the name of a Roman gladiator who led a rebellion in Italy in 73–71 B.C. It is hardly likely however, that the downtrodden gladiator inspired Weishaupt, but rather the dictatorial system of Sparta.

The Grecian empire came to world leadership with the succession of Alexander in B.C. 336 (56 x 6). Here Satan used Philosophy to capture the minds of the educated; and a vast collection of Mythologies to divert the common people from the knowledge of the true God.

Then came the ruthless, iron-fisted Romans. The plan of Power 13 this time was to try Deification. In anticipation of the advent of the God-Man, Jesus Christ, Satan launched in and created a human god—Caesar. Julius Caesar (6+ 6) became the Emperor -god, and took the title of Pontifex Maximus, a title that had developed out of the ancient mysteries of Babylon. [10]

It was the Roman Empire that captured Jerusalem, and held the city for 666 years. It was the Roman Caesars, particularly Nero and, who sought to destroy the early Christian Church. It was Emperor Titus who destroyed Jerusalem and the temple in A.D. 70. Destroy, destroy! That's another of Satan's rubber stamps.

If we come to modern history, we see Satan's continued attempts to destroy, to enslave, and to gain worship. And his stamps of 6 and 13 will so often be seen on his chief instruments—if not in their names, then in some other way.

One of the bloodiest men of this century was Joseph Visuryonuvich Stalin (6+13+6) whose purges took the lives of millions, including many of his closest comrades. In communism Satan has used atheism to destroy faith in the living God.

Then there was Fuehrer Adolf Hitler (18 — 6 +6+ 6) who exterminated 6 million Jews. In Hitler's heyday, Fuehrer - (leader) worship was established; and that demoniac, of course, wanted to rule the world. At the end of the World War he had created (in which 50 million lives were lost), Hitler and his mistress died by their own hands, and went to collect their rewards.

Nimrod, Nebuchadnezzar, Haman, Alexander, Caesar, Stalin, Hitler—all are a type or forerunners of the coming Man of Sin. You can call him Pharoah, Caesar, Fuehrer, Dictator, Antichrist or Beast—he will be all of them put together. He will come to the world throne with all the devilish power that Satan can muster, for Power 13 will be determined not to fail in this final attempt to establish an "International Demoniac Order. Prophecy: "A king will arise, insolent and skilled in intrigue. And his power will be mighty, but not by his own power, and he will destroy to an extraordinary degree and prosper and perform his will:He will destroy mighty men and the holy people. And through his shrewdness; he will cause deceit to succeed by his infiuences and he will magnify himself in his heart, and he will magnify himself in his heart, and He will destroy many while they are at ease. He will even oppose the Prince of princes, but he will be broken without human agency." (Daniel 8:23–25) That's Man Friday !

MYSTERY 666 — the machination of Man Friday

"All these things will I give You, if You fall down and worship me." (Matthew 4:9)

The Bible speaks of a centuries-old conspiracy that will come to a climax at the end of this age. Let us turn this Bible prophecy and see what God has revealed concerning this end-time plan of evil—about Mystery 666. First, turn to the second book of Thessalonians, chapter 2. Read the prophecy:

"Now we request you, brethren, with regard to the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and our gathering together to Him, that you may not be quickly shaken from your composure or be disturbed either by a spirit or a message or a letter as if from us, to the effect that the day of the Lord has come. Let no one in any way deceive you, for it will not come unless the apostasy comes first, and the man of lawlessness is revealed, the son of destruction, who opposes and exalts himself above every so-called god or object of worship so that he takes his seat in the temple of God, displaying himself as being God.

"Do you not remember that while I was still with you, I was telling you these things? And you know what restrains him now, so that in his time he may be revealed. For the mystery of lawlessness is already at work; only he who now restrains will do so until he is taken out of the way. And then that lawless one will be revealed whom the Lord will slay with the breath of His mouth and bring to an end by the appearance of His coming; that is, the one whose coming is in accord with the activity of Satan, with all power and signs and false wonders and with all the deception of wickedness for those who perish, because they did not receive the love of the truth so as to be saved.

And for this reason God will send upon them a deluding influence so that they might believe what is false, in order that they all may be judged who did not believe the truth, but took pleasure in wickedness." (2 Thessalonians 2:1–12)

This prophecy was written by the Apostle Paul to answer certain doubts. In an earlier letter, he had explained to the young believers at Thessalonica, that the Lord Jesus would come again to gather His people to Himself. Let's read that prophecy also:

"For the Lord Himself will descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trumpet of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first. Then we who are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, and thus we shall always be with the Lord." (I Thessalonians 4:16–17)

This passage amplified the promise of the Lord Jesus: "In My Father's house are many dwelling places; if it were not so, I would have told you; for I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you to Myself that where I am, there you may be also." (John 14:2-3)

I refer to this as "Day 8" for eight stands for Resurrection. Naturally the believers would ask, when will the Lord come and gather us to Himself? So Paul explains:

"Now as to the times and the epochs, brethren, you have no need of anything to be written to you. For you yourselves know full well that the day of the Lord will come just like a thief in the night. While they are saying 'Peace and safety!' then the destruction will come upon them suddenly like birth pangs upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape." (I Thessalonians 5:1-3)

So Paul here links the gathering of the Lord's people, to the Day of the Lord, which will usher in the Great Tribulation—that is, the great "destruction" which will fall upon the world in the last seven years of this age. It is during these seven years that the Mystery of Lawlessness Mystery 666 - will come to its climax.

The Thessalonians knew the basic prophecies—the Lord Jesus would come; He would gather His people to Himself; and there would be a great Tribulation. But they were confused as to what would take place first, just as many are still confused today.

Some believers were very disturbed, thinking that the Day of the Lord (the fearful Tribulation) had already begun. (That's a thought that would surely cause fear in anyone's heart).

Paul had already explained: "For God has not destined us for wrath, but for obtaining salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ." (I Thessalonians 5:9). So the passage in 2 Thessalonians 2, is written to amplify and to clarify.

The gathering to the Lord (also called the Rapture) is different to the appearance of His coming. Both events can be called the coming of Christ. But the first is the coming of the Lord to meet His people in the air. The second is the coming of the Lord in a display of power and great glory to the earth itself, when every eye shall see Him.

The gathering (Day 8) takes place before the 7-year Tribulation. Thus the Lord's people are saved from the wrath of God. The appearance (Day 9) takes place at the end of the 7 years, at which time the Man of Sin (Man 666) will be destroyed by the Lord. I refer to this as Day 9, for nine stands for finality, and this event brings the conclusion to the Tribulation, the mystery, and man's long 6,000-year age.

Paul says, the "mystery of lawlessness," (or as it is also called, the "mystery of iniquity," or the "mystery of sinfulness"—or as I refer to it, the "mystery 666,") is already at work. Yes, as we explained in the last chapter, it has been at work for six thousand years at least.

The mystery—you can also call it conspiracy—comes to its climax in the 7-year tribulation and is connected to Man 666—the Man of Sin, the Man of Lawlessness, the Son of Destruction, the Lawless One (also called Anti-christ, and the Beast. And shall we call him Man Friday after the sixth day?)

When the Tribulation begins, this evil man will be revealed. But at present, as Paul says, someone is restraining him, and restraining the consummation of his conspiracy.

Who is restraining this evil program? Is it the President of USA? Not at all! He is a stooge in the hands of the Mystery. Then who is restraining? It is obvious—it is the Holy Spirit?

God's Holy Spirit is holding back the avalanche of evil, and He does that largely through the influence of the Lord's people—the Church The Lord Jesus said to His people, "you are the lights of the world," and "you are the salt of the earth." So this Godly presence, working through all His people, prevents the full development of the corruption of the world. Of course, if God's people lose their saltiness, then the wickedness will increase with little restraint.

In verse 7, Paul says that one day the Restrainer will be taken out of the way. When is this? It is before the Tribulation begins. It is on "Day 8". Two things happen simultaneously.

1. The Holy Spirit, who indwells all of the Lord's people, will escort these people when they are caught up to meet the Lord, to the Father's House.

There is a beautiful illustration of this in the O. T. (Genesis 24), where Abraham sends his servant, Eliezer, to a far country to choose a bride for his son Isaac. Eliezer is led by God to Rebekah, and tells her of Abraham's son. Rebekah is enthralled by the love of Isaac, and is willing to leave all and go to this great man. So Eliezer escorts her back to his master's house, but before they reach, Isaac comes out to meet them on the way, and together they return to the Master's house.

Abraham is a type of God the Father; Isaac, a type of Christ; Eliezer, a type of the Holy Spirit, and Rebekah, of course, a type of the church—the Bride of Christ.

Today the Holy Spirit is choosing the Lord's people. All those who are enthralled by the love of Christ and wish to embrace Him and share His life, are being escorted through the deserts of this world. But they are nearing the end of the journey. They are keenly waiting for the first glimpse of their "Isaac", when He comes down to meet them part way. And all the time, our "Eliezer" is telling us of the Heavenly Bridegroom, whom we expect to see at any moment.

2. The Holy Spirit, not only escorts the Lord's people to the Father's House, but He also removes His restraining hand from the world. It is then that every evil condition explodes, and mystery 666 quickly consolidates its absolute control over the world.

3. The Man of Sin will be revealed on earth. Till that moment he will, like Adam Weishaupt, be carefully concealed. He is the very core of the conspiracy, and only the innermost insiders know who he is. I believe this man is very much alive today, and at the core of the conspiratorial circles we can discern operating today.

The Apostasy

The apostasy that must come first, is not merely apostasy in general, such as we see already throughout the world, especially in Christendom—a great falling away from the truth, from the Word of God, and from love of Christ. Paul is speaking here of a specific apostasy, connected to the Man of Sin. It is the collapse of the true faith and the development of a religion of darkness.

When the Lord catches His people away, what will you have left? Pure Babylonianism, which the False Prophet will rapidly turn into absolute Satanism.

In another prophecy Paul says:

"But the Spirit explicitly says that in latter times some will fall away from the faith, paying attention to deceitful spirits and doctrines of demons."(1 Timothy 4:1)

Then in Revelation 17, the prophecy specifically speaks of the Great Harlot—the apostate religious system known as Babylon.

"And upon her forehead a name was written, a mystery, 'BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND OF THE ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH'." (Revelation 17:5)

This system, after it has become "drunk with the blood of the saints, and with the blood of the witnesses

His Origin

He ascends out of the bottomless pit. This speaks of his satanic origin. (Rev. 11:7)

He arises from the "sea"—symbolic of the Gentile nations (Rev. 13:1) and appears in the "latter times" of Israel's history (Dan 8:23)

He rises through a peace program. (Dan. 8:25)

His Person

He is a political leader, being the ruler of the Roman Empire—the empire that destroyed Jerusalem (Dan. 9:26)

He is marked by intelligence, persuasiveness, subtlety and craft. (Dan. 7:8, 20; 8:23. Ez. 28:6) His chief interest is in power (Dan. 11:38)

He bears the characterisation of a blasphemer because of his assumption of deity. (Ez. 28:2. Dan. 7:25; Rev. 13:1, 5-6)

He is energised by, and receives his authority from Satan. (Ez. 28:2,9-12; Rev. 13:4; Dan. 8:25)

He is worshipped by the people because of their blindness. (2 Thess. 2:11)

He exalts himself above all that is God, claiming to be God. (2 Thes. 2:4. Dan. 11:36)

His Work

He rules the nations with absolute authority. (Rev. 13:8. Dan. 11:36)

He makes a 7-year covenant with Israel, which is broken after 3½ years. (Dan. 9:27)

He introduces an idolatrous worship, in which he sets himself up as god. (Dan. 9:27, 11:36-37, 2 Thes. 2:4; Rev. 13:5)

He is the head of Satan's lawless system, and his claim to power is proven by signs done through satanic power. (2 Thes. 2:3, 9-10)

He becomes the adversary of Israel (Dan. 7:21, 25; 8:24; Rev. 13:7)

He destroys Religious Babylon—the apostate religious system that helped in his rise to power. (Rev. 17:3,16-17)

He is the special adversary of the Prince of princes (Christ), and His people. (Dan. 7:21; 8:25) He continues in power for 7 years—the second half, over the whole world. (Dan. 9:27. Rev. 13:5)

His End

His rule will be terminated by judgment from God and he will be cast into the Lake of Fire. (Rev: 19:19-20) of Jesus" will itself be destroyed by the Man of Sin and the 10 "kings" of his kingdom.

"And the ten horns which you saw, and the beast, these will hate the harlot and will make her desolate and naked, and will eat her flesh and will burn her up with fire. For God has put it in their hearts to execute His purpose by having a common purpose, and by giving their kingdom to the beast, until the words of God should be fulfilled." (Revelation 17:16-17)

Thus the way is cleared for the pure worship of Satan.

Today we see two particular apostate systems growing. One is the ecumenical movement, embodied particularly in the increasingly truth-rejecting World Council of Churches (W.C.C.). The second is the fast growing movement known as Satanism.

Both systems will continue to develop alongside each other, until the middle of the Tribulation period. It is at that time that the Man of Lawlessness "exalts himself above every so-called god or object of worship, so that he takes his seat in the temple of God, displaying himself as being God." (2 Thes. 2:4).

He will then destroy the Jewish religion, the World Christian Religion, and every other religion except Satanism, which will be established and enforced universally. This is, remember, the main aim behind Mystery 666. World Government is not the main goal—that is only the means of achieving the enforced worship of Satan.

Note again 2 Thes. 2:9-10, which says, the Lawless one will come "in accord with the activity of Satan, with all power and signs and false wonders, and with all the deception of wickedness for those who perish." This speaks of the program and power of the demonic Trinity, to achieve the age-long desire of Lucifer. To see a little of what is involved in this mystery, we must turn to Revelation chapter 13 (what an appropriate number, for if there is any chapter that describes Satan's program, it is this one.)

In this chapter we read of the Satanic trinity. Just as God is a Holy Trinity—Father, Son and Holy Spirit, so Satan has a counterfeit Trinity consisting of himself, the Man of Sin, and the False Prophet. Satan imitates God the Father; the Man of Sin (a false Messiah) imitates the Son of Man (Jesus the true Messiah); the False Prophet imitates the work of the Holy Spirit, and His true prophets.

In this chapter these three evil personalities are called, the Dragon, the Beast, and the Second Beast. Their titles are used 18 times in the chapter (6+6+6). Now read the first section.

"And he stood on the sand of the seashore. And I saw a beast coming up out of the sea, having ten horns and seven heads, and on his horns were ten diadems, and on his heads were blasphemous names. And the beast which I saw was like a leopard, and his feet were like those of a bear, and his mouth like the mouth of a lion. And the dragon gave him his power and his throne and great authority. And I saw one of his heads as if it had been slain, and his fatal wound was healed. And the whole earth was amazed and followed after the beast; and they worshipped the dragon because he gave his authority to the beast; and they worshipped the beast, saying "Who is like the beast, and who is able to wage war with him?

"And there was given to him a mouth speaking arrogant words and blasphemies; and authority to act for forty-two months was given to him. And he opened his mouth in blasphemies against God, to blaspheme His name and His tabernacle, that is, those who dwell in heaven. And it was given to him to make war with the saints and to overcome them; and authority over every tribe and tongue and nation was given to him. And all who dwell on the earth will worship him, every one whose name has not been written from the foundation of the world in the book of life of the Lamb who has been slain." (Revelation 13:1-8)

The ten horns of the Beast represent the ten kings who have authority with the Beast, and who make up his brittle-strong kingdom which has developed out of the Roman Empire. It corresponds to the ten toes of the dream-image of Nebuchadnezzer. It is becoming increasingly clear that the European Economic Community is fulfilling this Revived Roman Empire prophecy today.

The seven heads represent seven mountains. Many believe this refers to the seven mountains of Rome, especially considering that Rome was the capital of the Iron Empire of the Caesars; and also because the E.C.C. is the outcome of the Treaty of Rome, which was signed in 1957.

Rev. 17:9-10 amplifies a little, and explains that the seven mountains are also kings. At the time John wrote the inspired prophecy (1st century A. D.), five kings had fallen, the sixth was existent; the seventh would be a short-lived future Kingdom.

The word "king" in these prophecies may also mean "kingdom" for a king represents the kingdom. (Nebuchadnezzer was called the kingdom of gold, but it is clearly referring to the empire as well as to the king as head).

The six past kingdoms (including the one existent in the Ist century) were all vehicles for the woman—the apostate and counterfeit religion called Babylonianism. The first was Egypt, the second Assyria, then Babylon, Medo-Persia, Greece and Rome.

The seventh kingdom is the future Roman/European Empire of 10 nations. Its ascendancy we see today. It will survive for a short time. From the time it proclaims its supreme ruler till the time it is destroyed, is just 84 months (14 x 6) lunar years. That period, of course, is the Tribulation.

Verse 11, explains that an eighth king would rise out of the other seven, and that he would be the personal Beast, the Man 666. He arises out of the seven in the sense that he is the embodiment of all the apostasy, and is Satan's man, who represents the mystery that has been at work in all the past empires. In Rev. 13:2 we read that the dragon, Satan, gives him (the Beast and the Beast, kingdom) his power, and throne and authority.

The head that appeared to be slain, but which revived was the sixth empire–the Roman. This Empire of the Caesars declined and fell—and everyone thought it was finished. But it is being revived in this generation, to become the 7th head. [1]

Europe is rising, and soon the world will be amazed at its power, even more than they have been by the phenomenal rise of post-war Japan.

The reign of the personal Beast will last 42 months (7x6) over his own kingdom, and then a further 42 months, (7x6) over the whole world—over every tribe, peoples, tongue and nation. (See verse 7)

The result of this authority will be a "reign of terror" that will make Robespierre's activities in the French Revolution seem like a Vaudeville sideshow. It will surpass both the holocaust of Nazi Germany, and the Gulag Archipelago.

The most vitriolic attacks will be against any who follow the Living God; and then against anyone who seeks to follow any religion other than Satanism. To ensure the success of this demonic order, the second beast, the false prophet, will launch his ruthless program, backed by his dragon-empowered miracles, great signs and false wonders.

"And he performs great signs, so that he even makes fire come down out of heaven to the earth in the presence of men. And he deceives those who dwell on the earth because of the signs which it was given him to perform in the presence of the beast, telling those who dwell on the earth to make an image to the beast who had the wound of the sword and has come to life. And there was given to him to give breath to the image of the beast, that the image of the beast might even speak and cause as many as do not worship the image of the beast to be killed.

"And he causes all, the small and the great, and the rich and the poor, and the free men and the slaves, to be given a mark on their right hand, or on their forehead, and he provides that no one should be able to buy or to sell, except the one who has the mark, either the name of the beast or the number of his name. Here is wisdom. Let him who has understanding calculate the number of the beast, for the number is that of a man; and his number is six hundred and sixty-six". (Revelation 13:13-18)

The whole program is one of deception, as we read here, and also in 2 Thes. 2:9–11; and because the people will not receive the truth of God, they will become victims of this "deluding influence".

The image of the Beast itself will be a deception. It will appear to be a living creature, but it is likely to be a highly developed computor. Already today, "living machines" have been built and programmed. Some computors already talk; and banking companies are working on computors which will be able to 'hear' and 'talk' over a telephone.

The program to mark every person, is of course, aimed at controlling the world's population. It may be the very system that is being planned at this time. World leaders and monetary experts are today planning a new monetary system, in which every person in the world will receive a personal number of 18 digits (6+6+6) This number is to be invisibly tatooed on the right hand or on the forehead of every person. That number will then be with him for life, and information concerning that individual will be stored in computor memory banks, around the world [2].

Money as we know it will be cancelled, and instead, every person is to have a personal computerized banking account through which all exchange transactions will be completed.

There will be many advantages to this new monetary system—transactions will be instant—none of that waiting ages at banks, or waiting weeks for cheques to be cleared; there will be no bank robberies, nor fear of losing the cash you carry or keep on hand. Black money will be eradicated, and tax evasion impossible. But privacy will be gone. (See further, chapter 12)

The danger of such a system is that it will be used to dictate to the population. The system used by the Antichrist will certainly enable him to force the world to worship Satan. Those who refuse the mark will be killed, except for a remnant who eke out an existence in hiding for those 3½ years. Receiving his mark, however, will be more than becoming part of an economic system-it will be receiving the seal of Satan for in some way, it will be linked to obeisance to Satan. It will be the seal of doom, for the wrath of God will fall unremittingly upon those who receive the mark.

"If anyone worships the beast and his image, and receives a mark on his forehead or upon his hand, he also will drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is mixed in full strength in the cup of His anger; and he will be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels and in the presence of the Lamb. And the smoke of their torment goes up for ever and ever; and they have no rest day and night, those who worship the beast and his image and whoever receives the mark of his name." (Revelation 14:9–11)

It is towards the fulfilment of this satanic conspiracy that so many current international movements are leading. Realizing Satan's aim, one can easily see how the surge towards world government not only plays into his hands, but is actually conspired by this fiendish mastermind.

Not all internationalists working for World Government have evil intentions—perhaps few do. And certainly the majority have no idea that they are being used as instruments for evil designs. It has always been that way—an evil core has manipulated men and nations, and regarded human lives as nothing more than expendable pawns.

But this book is written that you might be aware of the wiles and progress of the evil one; and that you might be motivated to save yourself and your family, your associates and friends, from the consummation of this fearful and evil Mystery 666.

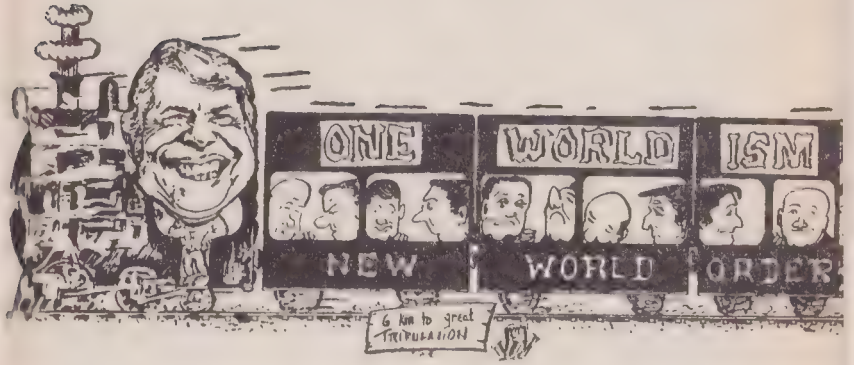
ONE WORLDISM

—the train to Great Tribulation



"It's chariot wheels (are) like a whirlwind. It's roaring is like a lioness and it roars like young lions; it growls as it seizes the prey, and carries it off with no one to deliver it." (Isaiah 5 : 28, 29)

It is not by accident that we are hearing more and more about a new international order, a new economic order, and of the new world that is, we are encouraged to believe, within reach.

The surge towards this "new order" has been carefully planned over decades. Attempt after attempt has been made; agency after agency has been formed, until today there are organisations to handle every conceivable international problem, concern and interest. The world is shrinking because of our increased means of travel. Nations have become deeply interlocked through mushrooming trade; and have become interdependent because of the need to exchange raw materials, food and energy fuel. The nations are becoming interwined through education, culture and scientific co-operation. Everything is emphasizing that we are all members of one human race. Our differences of race, language, religion and culture are fast being submerged in the face of the increasing awareness of our common heritage, environment, needs and aspirations.

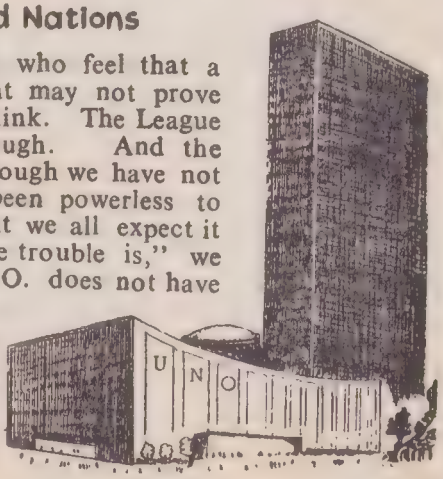
So, "come on, join hands, break down the remaining barriers, and let's be one. Let us all be under one roof, and have all things in common." This is the cry throughout the world today. Of course, any remaining obscurantists should be eliminated first. But once that is done, we should be able to have a new world where we all can enjoy the "fruits of the earth."

Sounds good! But! What about Power 13? Of course, the reply to that question is; "Superstition! Who believes in the devil? Who believes in supernatural power? We have the power in our own hands to make or mar our own future."

This is what the man in power thinks and propagates. That is what the over-confident man and the ambitious believe. But the man in the street is not so sure. Anyway, he will follow. Just lead the way, and he will think you are right – provided he gets a couple of square meals a day, and a few trinkets and gadgets to play with. He won't mind a free ride on the one-world train.

The United Nations



There are many who feel that a one-world government may not prove so successful as we think. The League of Nations fell through. And the United Nations, although we have not finished with it, has been powerless to provide the peace that we all expect it to provide. "Ah, the trouble is," we are told, "the U. N. O. does not have enough powers. We must increase the authority of this world body, and then it will be effective in solving world problems".

If we do that, then we must presume that the U. N. is led by well-intentioned and reliable men. But are we sure the World Body was created by good intentions? Well, just who was behind the formation of the U.N.O.? Let's see. The U.S. State Department for one.

This Department has been dominated by the Council on Foreign Relations since the 1920's. At the beginning of World War 2. the State Department set up a Committee on Post-War Problems, to work and plan for a new world organisation after the war. Later it was reorganised as an Advisory Committee on Post-War Foreign Policies. This committee was staffed entirely by C.F.R. members. [1]

In the State Department, another C.F.R member, Alger Hiss, became the Director of the Office of Special Political Affairs. Hiss was not only a C.F.R member, but also a communist. [2]

It was the Committee on Post-war Foreign Policies, Alger Hiss and the Soviets, who were the chief architects of the United Nations, which was to be the first station on the way to a World Superstate. The Communist Party members of U.S.A. were directed to build up great popular support and enthusiasm for the U. N.

At the San Francisco Conference in 1945 which founded the United Nations, the chief planner and acting Secretary-General was Alger Hiss. 74 C.F.R members, including Nelson Rockefeller, dominated the American delegation. [3]

It was Nelson Rockefeller, and his family who donated the land on the edge of Manhattan, for the construction of the U.N. complex, [3] which covers an area of 18 acres (6+6+6). It is the length of 6 New York blocks—that is, from 42nd to 48th streets (6 X 7, 6 X 8). The towering glass and marble secretariat has 39 stories (13 X 3). The construction was financed by an interest-free loan of $65 million (13 X 5) from the U.S.A. [4] And "United Nations" adds up to 13.

It is ironical that in the foyer of the U. N. General Assembly building, the Bible verse, Isaiah 2:4, is engraved in large letters on the marble wall.

"They shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruninghooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more".

The words quoted at the beginning of this chapter would be more appropriate. Ostensibly the U.N.O. is a peace-maker but ironically, the method to create peace, is first to arm to the teeth.

Now largely forgotten, but not without documentation, was the United Nations' atrocities in Katanga (Congo) in 1961. Under the pretext of peace-keeping, the U.N. sent in forces that perpetrated terrible cruelties. An African correspondent reported from Elisabethville on 12 Dec. 1961. ..."The United Nations jets next turned their attention to the center of the city. Screaming in at treetop level while excited soldiers and white civilians popped away at them with anything from 22 pistols to submachine guns, they blasted the post office and radio station, severing Katanga's communications with the outside world."[5]

The same day 46 civilian doctors of Elisabethville issued a report on the U.N. actions. One paragraph said: "The Shinkolobwe hospital is visibly marked with an enormous red cross on the roof of the administrative pavilion ..... At about 8 a.m. ... two aeroplanes flew over the hospital twice at very low altitude; at about 9:30 a.m. The aeroplanes started machine-gunning... the market square, and then the school and the hospital in which there were about 300 patients and their families....."[6]

At the height of the U. N. attack on Elisabethville, Mr. Georges Olivet, the Swiss International Red Cross representative there, cabled an appeal to his Geneva office to persuade the United Nations to stop firing on Red Cross vehicles. A few days later he disappeared while on a mercy mission to U.N. headquarters. It was not until eleven days afterward that his wrecked ambulance was found. It had been hit with bazooka rockets and machine-gunned by United Nations troops.[7]

How could the U.N.O. be such an instrument of destruction which it claims to be an instrument of peace?

Ah, my friend that's the false notion. The U.N. was not created to be a peace-keeping body, but a monolithic bureaucracy. with tentacles reaching into every area of human activity, to bring the whole world under centralized contol.

A communist paper described it in these terms: "The United Nations has become an imposing institution with a fantastic pyramid of agencies and commissions, and an agenda each autumn of 75 questions... There it stands–in its striking home of stone and steel and glass on the shores of the East River to which thousands of people come each week, in pilgrimages of peace and hope."[8]

Dr. Marek Korowicz, a U.N. delegate from communist Poland, who defected to the U.S.A. testified.: "We were all indoctrinated strongly with the Russian masterplan to reach the working masses of the various countries in the Western World over the heads of their governments ...The organisation of the U.N. is considered as one of the most important platforms for Soviet propaganda in the world."[9]

One naturally questions, how is it that the communists could support a body dominated by super-wealthy capitallists, whom they are supposed to hate? Was it a common desire to bring peace to the world? Or was it a common desire to rule the world?

And one may be forgiven for asking, Why have the International Bankers supported communist regimes throughout the world over the past 60 years ?[10] For example, Jacob Schiff, the senior partner in Kuhn, Loeb & Co., sank $20 million into the Bolsheviks in 1917.

The wealthy banker, and organizer of the Round Table Secret Society, Lord Alfred Milner, also financed the same revolution. The Rothschild–Manhattan Banker, Max Warburg arranged for $ 5 to $6 million in gold to be sent in to support Lenin. And the Morgans and Rockefellers were not to be outdone in supporting communism.

Then in 1926, Rockefeller's Standard Oil concluded a deal to market Soviet Oil in European countries. As a part of the deal, the Rockefellers loaned $75 million to the Bolsheviks. In 1927, Standard built an oil refinery in Russia. [11]

Was it merely business motives that have led these Bankers to support the very ones who claim they are at war with the super-rich? Or was it their intention to build up an enemy to use as a threat against governments and nations that would not play the bankers' game? Or was it an attempt to gain control of this vast land mass, and its tens of millions of people? Or could it be that communism was part of the same conspiracy that had engulfed the International Bankers? There is truth in all these speculations.

When we consider that May 1, 1776 was the formation of the Illuminati; May 1st is the worldwide Communist Labour day; and 1776 is used in connection with the Illuminati eye on the American Dollar note issued by the Federal Reserve System (the Bankers' Bank), one may be excused for thinking that Power 13 is at work in both camps and Mystery 666 is their common denominator.

The plan of the Insiders is that the United Nations should become a base or a framework for a world government. It is within a U.N. framework that Henry Kissinger envisages a loosely-knit world government by 1980. The U.N. may be abolished later, when a full-fledged supra-government is established. For the present the U.N. will be used to create and maintain more and more international agencies to look into every type of problem throughout the world, with a view to providing a "solution"—which will mean making the nations more and more dependent upon the international framework.

Few people realize that the nations are being conditioned, through crisis and propaganda, for the eventual surrender of the sovereignties of their countries to a World Body.

The United World Federalists [12]

This is an organisation that was formed in 1947, by two C.F.R. men, Norman Cousins and James P Warburg. It was James Warburg who stated before the U. S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee—"We shall have world government whether or not you like it—by conquest or consent." [13]

The U.W.F. has always been interlocked with the C.F.R. and indeed, it is a front for that secretive society. There is no doubt at all of the aims of the U.W.F. The first president of the organisation, Lord Meyer Jr., wrote in a book called "Peace or Anarchy," about the need for nations to merge into one Federation under the control of the U.N. ....."Once having joined the One-World Federated Government, no nation could secede or revolt... because with the Atom Bomb in its possession the Federal Government (of the World) would blow that nation off the face of the earth."

'United World Federalists' has 22 letters (11 X 2). 11 signifies disorganisation. Sounds like double disorganisation, to me—havoc. Sounds very much like Power 13 at work.

The Bilderbergers [14]

This unusual 13-letter word is the common name of one of the most prestigious organisations in the world. It is an international conference of the world's elite—politicians, bankers, brains and influence, who meet once or twice a year in very great seclusion and secrecy.

One of the main persons responsible for the creation of this International Insiders group, was Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands. Prince Bernhard is the German-born consort of Queen Juliana.

The Organisation was formed in 1954, and takes its name from the first conference location—the Hotel de Bilderberg in Holland.

PRINCE BERNHARD

In 1976, Prince Bernhard was named in the Lockheed scandals, and was charged with accepting a bribe of more than one million dollars. He was subsequently pressured to resign from most of his government positions. In 1977 he stepped down as Chairman of the Bilderbergers also. The new Chairman is Lord Home.

Other notable Bilderbergers include Baron Edmond de Rothschild, Chancellor Helmut Schmidt of West Germany, Giovanni Agnelli, the president of Fiat Motors, Geir Hallgrimson, Prime Minister of Iceland, Thorbjorn Falldin, Prime Minister of Sweden, Robert McNamara (President of the World Bank). Pierre Paul Schweitzer of the International Monetary Fund, and Bankers David Rockefeller, George Ball of Lehman Brothers, C. Douglas Dillon of Dillon, Read & Co., and of course, Superman, Dr. Henry Kissinger. Other leaders of Europe are also belonging to the organisation.

This organization has an inner circle, called the Advisory Committee; and then a larger circle of 39 elite Insiders, called the Steering Committee (why 39? why not 40? Well, 39 is more appropriate. It's 13 + 13 + 13). The widest circle of the group is the General Conference.

The Bilderbergers is interlocked with the CFR. Every one of the Americans who have been members of the Bilderberger Steering Committee, has also been a member of the C.F.R. The last 3 U.S. Presidents have been Bilderbergers.

The Rothschilds of France have been closely connected with Prince Bernhard in business—particularly the Royal Dutch Shell Oil, of which Bernhard is an important figure.

The discussions, plans and resolutions of the Bilderburgers' Conferences are never published. The whole proceedings are highly-guarded and secretive. But Prince Bernhard has made no efforts to hide the fact that the goal of the organisation is World Government.

The Bilderbergers may in fact, be the Steering Committee for Mystery 666.

The Trilateral Commission [15]

This is a more recently created front for the CFR–Mystery 666 program. In July 1973, CFR Chairman, David Rockefeller recruited some 200 leading bankers, businessmen, politicians and labour leaders from many places in the world, to join with him in forming this multi-national planning commission. 35 of them were CFR members, including Jimmy Carter.

As the CFR-influenced "Time"[16] says, "Carter, already contemplating a race for the presidency, was very responsive (to the commission)." Jimmy Carter himself said, "the commission was a splendid learning opportunity." And Time magazine adds he " did get a crash course of sorts in foreign affairs from the commission" (a la Rockefeller, of course).

The way to progress today is to get a ticket on the Rockefeller Express—and do what you are told! Jimmy Carter is now the exalted driver of that one–world train.

The appointed Director of the Trilateral Commission was Zbigniew Brzezinski (an officer of the CFR), who is now Carter's Special Presidential Assistant for National Security Affairs. Two other members of this commission are Cyrus Vance, now Secretary of State (and, of course, a CFR member), and Vice–President Walter Mondale. The commission is financed by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, and the Ford Foundation.

The CFR's "New York Times", in reference to the Trilateral Commission, said that "the lives and fortunes of large numbers of human beings hang upon the outcome of decisions taken by a small handful of national leaders." [17]

The dissemination of news now pouring out of such international organisations is that World Government is humanity's only hope. As Brzezinski has written in the CFR's "Foreign Affairs"... The world is not likely to unite (willingly) behind a common ideology or a super-government. The only practical hope is that it will now respond to a common concern for its own survival...the active promotion of such trilateral cooperation must now become the central priority of U.S. policy."

The trilateral cooperation is particularly referring to the U.S.A., Western Europe and Japan, but the scope of the commission is the world, and its key word is, merger. Maybe this Triangle also has an all-seeing eye in the centre.

The Club of Rome [18]

The general idea people have been given is that this group of distinguished industrialists, scientists, ecologists, economists, bankers and humanists, is a collection of rather harmless, but fanatical cronies.

The Club came into prominence in 1972 with the publication of a doomsday book called, "The Limits to Growth." The book predicted "apocalyptic" famines, and world collapse in the near future, unless every possible step was taken immediately to rectify the world's multiple problems.

The Club of Rome (13 letters), has a seven-man executive committee and was founded in Bellagio Italy (13 letters), "largely on the initiative of Aurelio Peccei (13 letters), an Italian businessman and economist." Dr. Peccei is a top official of the Fiat Motor company.

Why is it called The Club of Rome? Is it a group of Italians. Hardly. It had, by 1973, an exclusive membership of about 100 men from at least 25 nations.

Is it connected with the prophesied Revived Roman Empire? Or is it a part of the worldwide conspiracy which is fulfilling Mystery 666? Both! That it aims at a new world order is seen from the statement of Dr. Peccei: "The only possible way to make these decisions is to take a global approach. A New International Order will have to be established, not just in the economic sphere, but in social and political areas."[19]

And to make one a little suspicious that the Club might have something to do with the Insiders, we learn

The Club of Rome is certainly not a harmless debating or bowling club for retired men. It has its plans and proposals, one being, to divide up the the world into eight regions under a Club of Rome-appointed commissar for "technocratic decision-making" purposes. Dr. Kissinger, here's your chance!

Watch this curious Club! It's one of the most influential of the hundreds of organisations now working for the new world order contrived by Power 13 since ages past.

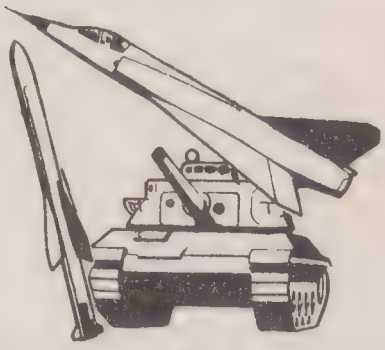
Chapter 11

MYSTERY METHODS

—the making of interdependence

"Tossed here and there by waves, and carried about by every wind of doctrine, by the trickery of men, by craftiness in deceitful scheming."

(Epesians 4:14)



Take an element of truth, amplify and exaggerate it, and you have, not only an untruth, but an artificial crisis. This is a simple equation that has been used by conspirators of all time, and is being used to such drastic results today.

It is bad enough when soap dealers hoard millions of cakes of soap, so that there is such a shortage that people are willing to pay double the price. But when artificial crises are created on the international level, it can lead to wide panic and to men and nations surrendering basic interests to external control.

Satan has been, and still is, a master at this device. He will isolate a problem in an individual's life and then suggest his solution to the problem—a solution which eventually proves to be a means of enslaving him more.

Here is a man. His problem: a nagging wife. Satan's proposed solution: alcohol—"forget the worries." Result : enslavement to the habit, loss of resources, debilitation, multiplied nagging, and ruination. Satan's object achieved !

Here is a girl. Her problem : loneliness. Satan's solution: promiscuity, "Enjoy yourself". Result immorality, guilt, fear and frustration. Object achieved.

Here is a fellow. His problem: financial shortages, Satan's solution: "Help yourself."—dishonesty (swindle, fraud and robbery). Result: Corruption, unrest, guilt, exposure, defeat. Object achieved.

Another woman—a famous film star. Her problem: In spite of her fame, her several marriages have failed, and the buildup of guilt, frustration and loneliness have caused acute depression. Satan's solution: "Pull the trigger. End your life—then the world will weep for you, and you will be free from this misery." Result : suicide, instant regret, Hell, the Lake of fire, the eternal leer of the devil, endless remorse, and weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. Satan's object achieved.

And just as Satan capitalizes on an individual's problems, so he does with the world's needs, turning them into crises, so that nations yield to his designs.

International bankers are experts at manipulating money—increasing or reducing the flow of currency to create inflation or depression. They are masters at political intrigue, at dethroning kings and financing wars. And today they, along with their assorted fellow-insiders, are manipulating world conditions to create apparent crisis. so that the nations will believe that the only hope for us all, is in World Government.

No one denies that the world is facing problems—the nuclear buildup, population, famine, pollution, energy, crime, drugs and pestilences. And global cooperation is definitely needed. Many organisations like the U.N.'s World Health Organisation which has conquered small pox, are undoubtedly doing a wonderful job. And certainly many internationalists—maybe the majority—are working with no ulterior motives. They are striving to solve the world's problems. But the inner circles of conspiracy are the powerful vested interests behind the organisations which want to rule the world. And behind them is Power 13.

Now if Satan was a "jolly good fellow", then of course there would be nothing to worry about. But he is not stamped with "13" without reason. His work throughout the last 6,000 years that has caused such havoc and untold misery, is well documented. And before he is through, he will cause as much destruction as possible. One of the best ways to do that is through . . .

Armaments Buildup

The world is now spending $570,000 (Rs. 50 lakhs) every minute on armaments. Weapons is the world's biggest business. Well we can't deny that the stockpiling of weapons is a problem—especially as we have enough nuclear and biochemical weapons to destroy the world many times over.

Of course, we won't talk about who has supplied the cash for the phenomenal cost of the armaments—billions upon billions of dollars, nor of the debts that the nations have accumulated in developing or purchasing these instruments of destruction. But we must admit that it has created a frightful problem.

Well don't worry. There is a solution. Call it Resolution 13, if you like. The solution is simple: disarmament. The world must be disarmed, and then no one will be able to make war ! That's what the SALT Talks (Strategic Arms Limitation Talks) are all about—or so they say.

If all weapons in the world were destroyed we could enthusiastically shout, "Hallelujah." But "disarmament" today, does not mean a world without weapons.

In September 1960, the Soviet Union presented a plan to the United Nations, for "total and complete disarmament." It called for systematic reduction in arms.

A few months later, the CFR issued "Study No. 7", which argued that the United States must "search for an international order", "maintain and gradually increase the authority of the U.N.," and "conduct serious negoti-, ations, to achieve international agreement on limitation, reduction and control of armaments." [1]

Then in September, 1961, the U. S. Department of State released Publication 7277, entitled, "Freedom from War. The United States Program for General and Complete Disarmament in a Peaceful World." According to this plan . . .

"In Stage III progressive controlled disarmament and continuously developing principles and procedures of international law would proceed to a point where no state would have the military power to challenge the progressively strengthened U.N. Peace Force and all international disputes would be settled according to agreed principles of international conduct ... The peace-keeping capabilities of the United Nations would be sufficiently strong and the obligations of all states under such arrangements sufficiently far reaching as to assure peace and the just settlement of differences in a disarmed world".

In October 1968, the U. S. Disarmament Agency issued another statement, entitled "Arms Control and National Security," making it clear that only the U.N. would be armed:

"Since 1959, the agreed ultimate goal of the negotiation has been general and complete disarmament, i. e., the total elimination of all armed forces and armaments except those needed to maintain internal order within states and to furnish the United Nations with peace forces..... While the reductions were taking place, a U.N. peace force would be established and developed, and by the time the plan was completed, it would be so strong that no nation could challenge it."

As far as the U. S. A. is concerned, it was CFR member, Robert S. McNamara who commenced the inplementation of the CFR disarmament-of-America program. Between 1961 and 1968, it is said that he destroyed more operational U. S. strategic weapons than could have been destroyed in a full-scale nuclear attack.[2] In the meantime, the Soviet Union has continued to arm, and to such an extent that it has now surpassed the U.S.A. in many respects, as a military power.

What is behind this planned imbalance? The reasoning is that America must be weakened, so that if the freedom-loving people of the U.S. are not willing to surrender to a world government, then a nuclear ultimatum can be issued by the Insiders' men in Russia. Faced with such a situation, the CFR President of the U.S.A. would naturally surrender to the World Body.

Remember the statement of Paul Warburg? "We shall have world government whether or not you like it—by conquest or consent."

But how can the Disarmers of America be sure the Soviets will not spring a surprize attack, and blast the U.S. off the map?

Well, firstly, the Soviet Union still needs the finance of the International Bankers, not only of America, but of Europe. Secondly, it still needs the technological assistance and know-how that the U.S. has given it in the past. Thirdly, the U.S. is a valuable piece of real estate—there's not much advantage in destroying the prize. Fourthly, and mainly, the Insiders are everywhere—they do the manipulating.

This does not mean the Insiders will prevent a war. Rather, war is an option. The international bankers have created many a war in the past—and they will arrange it again, if necessary. The Bible does, in fact, prophecy a great war for the Tribulation time.[3] This war, I believe, is World War 3, and it will take place early in the Tribulation.

As World War I brought forth the League of Nations, and World War II led to the formation of the United Nations, so World War III will result in the formation of the World Government, under the absolute rulership of Man Tripple Six.

Through it all, Satan's objective will be achieved. Countless millions will be destroyed—but even more important, the way will be cleared for his long-planned international demonic order.

Food, Population, Energy and all the other problems

To repeat the quote on Kissinger by Paul Scott in chapter 6 : "By controlling food and energy, people and nations can be controlled and brought into the "loosely-knit world government operating under the framework of the U. N."

One of the options of Power 13, is to create "insurmountable problems" and offer world government as the solution. This may be called the "crisis route to the New World Order." The ploy seeks to isolate problems in each nation, and to provide a "solution" to each problem in the form of an international organisation.

Thus scores of organisations have been formed—a majority within the U. N. framework. The more a nation becomes involved in these organisations, the more "internationalized" it becomes, and the more interdependence is established.

Food is one of the crises. Thus the call to establish a World Food Bank was given by Robert McNamara (CFR) at the International Monetary Fund Conference in Nairobi. Then at the U. N.'s World Food Conference in Rome in Nov.'74, Henry Kissinger declared; "We are faced not just with the problems of food but with the accelerating momentum of our interdependence." [4]

What Dr. Henry is saying is that we are all becoming more and more dependent upon each other. The fact is that the Insiders do not want any nation to be independent, especially in food and energy. If the nations are self-sufficient, then the need for World Control will vanish faster than your monthly pay cheque.

Population is another crisis. We in India know full well the problems of overpopulation. But one may be a little suspicious when he learns that the chairman of the U. S. National Commission on Population Growth, is no other than John D. Rockefeller III. In August '74 John D. the third, spear-headed the World Population Conference at Bucharest, Romania, where he called for greater measures in controlling world population. [5] He called for a redistribution of wealth, and advocated an "equitable distribution of the fruits of progress", which meant that the "haves" should voluntarily reduce their standard of living and wait for the rest to catch up. Of course, Rockefeller has donated some millions of dollars to promote population research and reduction, but we don't witness the Rockefellers shedding their fortune. The ploy is to insist: Overpopulation creates poverty; solution: a new world economic order. That sounds exactly like Adam Weishaupt, and by the way, J. D. Rockefeller adds up to thirteen, too.

Energy of course is one of our biggest problems, so we are told. If we don't do something drastic, industry will soon stop and we will all be sitting around a candle to get warm, and riding bicycles to and from the office, within a few short years. What can we do? The first step is to somehow stop those luxury-loving Americans from using up the World's last remaining precious barrels of oil, which those Arabs are gingerly rationing out. Then we must establish an international organisation to solve the energy crisis.

Well they have already done that. They have the World Energy Conference, and also the International Energy Agency It's strange, though, that prior to 1973, we never heard of the energy crisis. Oil was cheap and plentiful. Then came to the Yom Kippur War, the Arab oil boycott, and the rocketing price rises.

Now the Arabs are raking in billions of dollars—but they are not the only ones. The oil companies, which refine and market petrol, claim a tidy 33% of the cost of petrol.

Exxon has been called the "United Nations of Oil." It markets petroleum in more than 100 countries through its 300 or more subsidiaries and affiliates.

In 1974 the Exxon Corporation became the World's biggest publicly held industrial corporation. In 1973 it reported the largest annual profit ever earned by any industrial company: $2.4 billion after taxes.[6] The year of the oil crisis certainly did not hurt Exxon, nor the Rockefellers who hold the controlling shares of the company.

It is a fact that the U.S.A., for one, is not nearly at the end of its own oil reserves. Some conservative estimates give the U. S. several hundred billion barrels of oil, excluding shale oil.

Shale oil is oil inside porous rock. The Interior Department estimates that the U.S. has 80 billion barrels of easily recoverable shale, and 600 billion barrels that could be recovered with intensive technology.

America has also approximately 780 billion barrels of offshore oil, and another 20 billion barrels in Alaska. The U.S. then, is sitting on 1480 bbs of oil. And the total consumption of oil in the U. S. is a mere 6 billion barrels a year. Who said there is an oil shortage? Superman!

And the blame is placed almost exclusively on the Arabs. Both Gerald Ford and Henry Kissinger are on record as stating that the U.S. might invade the Middle East if oil prices are artificially rigged or another embargo takes place. Such a crisis and situation would lead to "the internationalization of oil production, pricing and distribution." This would amount to an "ultimate monopoly," and they who controlled it, would control the world.

Now name whatever crisis you like, and we'll name an international organisation that's out to "solve" it. For the drug problem there are, the U.N. Fund for Drug Abuse Control, the International Narcotics Control Board, and the Division of Narcotic Drugs.

For displaced persons there is the U.N. Commission for Refugees. For needy children, the U.N. Childrens' Fund. For those who leave this world there is the International Bureau for Declaration of Deaths. To fight disease there's the World Health Organisation. If you need a new eye, there is now the International Eye Bank. For the better half of society, there is the International Council of Women.

Any problem with your private jet, then approach the International Civil Aviation Organisation. And if you need an S.D.R. or two, try the International Monetary Fund. If you want to know anything about Palynology, then contact the International Commission for Palynology. And if you want to create a big shock, see the International Association for Earthquake Engineering.

Today "International" is the Word. I suppose it is coincidence that it's another 13-letter word. Well, maybe we can change it to supernational. No ! that's 13 too, just like United Nations, and, The Club of Rome, and Bilderbergers, The Round Table, and The Illuminati. Well let's just call it New World Order—oh no! that's 13 too. What about International Economic Order ? (13 x 2). Then leave it at Mystery 666!

In closing this chapter let me add—watch the problems in your life. God has a solution for them. Jesus can solve every problem. He can unravel every knot. He is a Master at extricating a man or woman from the tangles of life. But beware of the "solution" that Satan offers, for it will definifely lead to greater tangles. If he throws you a rope, it is so that you can hang yourself. If he lends you aid, it is so that you might be indebted to him. Like the international bankers, Power 13 does not hand out free grants. There's always a hook at the end of the line.

S. D. R. — the money you can't handle

"Come now, you rich, weep and howl for your miseries which are coming upon you ...Your gold and your silver have rusted and their rust will be a witness against you and will consume your flesh like fire. It is in the Last Days that you have stored up your treasure!" (Jam. 5:13)

In the realm of finance, the world has suddenly come into a big problem—a compound problem that is called, the Monetary Crisis. We are told we must have monetary reform. There are various reasons given.

1. Inflation: To the common man, inflation means an increase in the cost of living; and the blame is placed upon workers who demand higher wages, and upon raw material producers such as the Arab Oil Corporations, who raise the price of essential commodities. These are, of course, significant factors, but actually, the main cause of inflation is increased money supply. And they who control the monetary system have the power to increase or reduce the supply of currency. At first is seems a good idea to "print more currency notes. We will be able to buy much more!" But paper money is not real money—it is merely a substitute. It is a type of I.O.U. promissory note. And as more notes are issued, the value of the notes is lowered, through the price of true wealth (commodities) being raised.

All over Europe, nowadays, it is becoming a common occurence for a party of four to pay $ 100 (Rs. 900) for lunch.[1] It only stands to reason—there's more currency in circulation today than there used to be. People are not necessarily richer, for 50 years ago, a man on a monthly salary of Rs. 100/- was far better off than a man today earning Rs. 1000/-.

Inflation is not a local problem, but international. It is a technique that is used to bring great profit to the powers that control nations, and to further consolidate their control of people.

What was once a national money ploy, is now international strategy. And inflation is played up as a problem threatening the collapse of society. The spectre of having to pay Rs. 100/- for a loaf bread, is enough to cause any uninformed person to panic. Even now the common man and woman cries out, "where will it all end?" And they hope that there are some good, honest, selfless leaders in the world who will solve the problem.

2. Another reason given for the need of monetary reform is World Trade, which had increased to $367 billion p.a. by 1973.[2] And one of the problems connected with it, is the fluctuating value of the currencies of the various nations. Some currencies are "floating", which means their values can change every day. The option of governments to revalue or devalue their money, of course, leads to speculation, and to temporary disruptions, and sometimes to ruination of companies that are caught on the wrong side of the fluctuation.

Of course, we will not mention the powers that pressurize and manipulate such fluctuations—(the same power that encourages nations to arm to the teeth, and then to blow it all, so that they can buy that many weapons again.)

3. Another problem is that our present monetary system is far too slow. We have built up a system using cheques, which is convenient in many ways, and certainly, it is safer than carrying bags full of paper currency around with you, which can be stolen at any inch of the way. But the trouble is that cheques sometimes take several weeks to clear, and involves a tremendous amount of postage and bookwork. And although it does keep a lot of people employed, the system belongs to the past decades. We are now in the supersonic age, and need something that can do transactions instantly.

America, for instance has to process 30,000,000,000 cheques a year. The President of the Bank of America, Russel Fenwick said in a radio interview : "Something must be done soon. We're being drowned under a mountain of paper. We can't continue on like this much longer." [3]

We must have a solution ! Okey. Let's examine the new monetary system. Two main international organisations to solve the monetary crisis, are

The International Monetary Fund

Both organisations operate within the U. N. framework. International Bankers, of course, were behind the plans in 1944, and the creation of both world banks in 1945. Both have a Board of Governors consisting of one person from each member nation, and an Executive of 18 directors (6+6+6) each. The organisations had, at last count, 129 members.

The Managing Director of the IMF is Bilderberger Johannes Witteveen (retiring August 1978). The President of the World Bank is Bilderberger Robert McNamara.

The world was given a little insight into the future monetary system, on March 31, 1969 when the I.M.F. announced that the nations were ready to start business, using a new type of exchange which would eventually replace all other currencies, and even gold. This new medium was referred to as "Paper Gold", but it is neither paper nor gold. It is a number/credit system of S.D.R. (Special Drawing Rights).

This was a big step forward, and on that same day, Pierre Schweitzer declared, "Gentlemen, we are right on schedule."[4] In 1976 the I.M.F. declared that gold would be replaced by SDR as the Reserve of the Fund. Since then the Fund has been auctioning off its gold holdings.

SDR are simply numbers in the international "books", which represents the credit of the member nations. SDR are now being used for international trade. No currency is used, but the account of the nation is debited or credited for purchases or sales. SDR presents a unified unit for international trade. Existing currencies have a value in relationship to SDR—for instance one SDR is worth about $1.20 on the I.M.F. books.

Eventually however, all currencies will become obsolete and cancelled. SDR will then be the means for transactions for all individuals as well as nations. Naturally if the leading nations adopt the system (and they are doing that step by step) then all nations must follow. The only alternative would be complete isolation from World Trade.

The changeover can be seen in many areas already. From this year (1977) Airlines are also quoting passenger fares and cargo rates in SDR. The OPEC oil countries are considering an SDR pricing system.

The need is, however, not merely for a unified currency but for an instantaneous means of payment (other than handing over cash on the spot). SDR, of course, can't be "handled over", for they are numbers. They can only be debited or credited in the "books". And the "books" are not ordinary books, but computer machines.

Computers can work a million times faster than human beings, and some modern computers can memorize more information than is held in a public library. To show how far we have come in the field of super-speed technology, we quote from the February 1976, edition of COMPUTER DIGEST, as the publication made note of the speed of a modern computer:[5]

"In the half-second it takes for spilled coffee to fall from table to floor, today's computer can:

—Debit 2,000 checks to 300 different bank accounts and —Examine electrocardiograms of 1000 patients, and —Score 150,000 answers on 3,000 exams concurrently evaluating the effectiveness of the question, and

The laser computer possesses the capability of placing on one reel of magnetic tape less than 5000 feet long, the names, addresses, credit rating and 20-pages of personal information of every man, woman and child in the United States—that is 220 million people, each with 20-page manuscript about himself. packed onto one reel of recording tape."[6]

Computers are being made now in great numbers, so that many companies have their own machines. Many businesses, however, do not need a full-time computer—they need only to "hire" a computer for 5 minutes a month, to complete all their requirements.

For the new monetary system to become fully operational, several steps have to be taken. [7]

1. All consumer goods will need to carry a computer mark. This is already being done in the West. Each item, even a box of matches, is being marked with a series of lines and numbers, which can be instantly recorded by a small computer "pick-up" no bigger than a fountain pen.

2. All selling and buying must be done by computer. Already this system has been introduced in various states.

3. SDR must become the standard medium, doing away with cheques and currency. This has already been introduced in the international network.

4. Every individual must receive a personal number, which will be his account number in the national computer system.

Already a number of nations have numbering systems—social security numbers and "credit ratings" etc. In early 1973, the New York Times confirmed the coming system:

"The Federal Reserve System has endorsed the development of a vast nationwide network of computers to transfer money from one person to another...an electronic communications network would be employed to transfer funds instantaneously.....from the account of a person making a purchase at a department store, or from the account of a company issuing a payroll check, or to the account of a utility making a regular monthly billing. At the ultimate, the Federal Research indicated, every home could in effect be a branch bank in the age of electronic money through the installation of a computer terminal that would be interconnected with a national money-transfer network.....through the use of a card or similar identifying device...this procedure will be accomplished through automated teller units conveniently located in shoping centers, and in other places handling numerous consumer sales and in the homes." [8]

The U.S; Government is in the process of spending three billion dollars to set up a numbering system for all Americans. [9]

5. The number must be tatooed on each individual so that it will never be forgotten or lost, and as a means of eliminating fraud.

A U.S. magazine which is distributed nationwide to high schools and colleges,' spelt out clearly what is involved in the new system.

"All buying and selling in the program will be done by computer. No currency, no change, no checks. In the program, people would receive a number that had been assigned them tattooed in their wrist or forehead. The number is put on by a laser beam and cannot be felt. The number in the body is not seen with the naked eye and is as permanent as your fingerprint. All items of consumer goods will be marked with a computer mark. The computer outlet in the store which picks up the number on the items at the checkstand will also pick up the number in the person s body and automatically total the price and deduct the amount from the person's Special Drawing Right's account....." [10]

Already laser beams are being used to brand livestock, and thousands of salmon fish. The fish can be branded even while they are swimming. The laser painlessly destroys the skin pigment, but it can be so extremely fine that it is invisible to the eye. [11]

The I.M.F.'s plans to mark every individual, envisage an 18-digit number (6+6+6) which would convey not only the account number, but other relevant information about the person—his birth, nationality, religion, status, etc.

A report about a computer in Brussels called "The Beast", standing 3 storeys high and designed to computerize all world trade, has been printed in numerous magazines all round the world. The report has also been labelled as fictitious. The Common Market Headquarters has denied that there is a computer called "The Beast".

What cannot be denied is the fact that computers are already a big part of our trading system, and are fast becoming indispensable. If a centralized computer is not already in existence, it won't be long before it is. World computerisation is essential to further progress. As Dr. K. said (and he should know), we have the problem of the accelerating rate of our interdependence.

The new monetary system is part and parcel of the new international economic order that the United Nations is promoting (and we have not yet heard any nation protesting against it). On May 2, 1974, the U.N.

formed NIEO (New International Economic Order) and in the Preamble to its Declaration, says:

"We, the Members of the United Nations....solemnly proclaim our united determination to work urgently for the establishment of a New International Economic Order based on equity, sovereign equality, INTERDEPENDENCE, COMMON INTEREST AND CO-OPERATION AMONG ALL STATES, IRRESPECTIVE OF THEIR ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL SYSTEMS....." [13]

Since 1974, the international trust has been towards the interdependent development of this new economic order. And there are a few facts that have been noted recently, which seem just too amazing to be coincidence, such as:

Israeli computers are made in the United States by Lear Siegler, Inc., and each computer going to Israel has the number on the seal—666. [14]

Dr. Jack Van Impe and Howard Estep, both well-known and respected ministers, have reported in their publications that they have received information that the new computer system for stores and commercial outlets for consumer goods will be on a central code of 666. [15]

Many advantages are obvious in the new system — bank robberies will be over, as there will be no money to steal (unless some gang wants to steal a computer machine). Transactions will be instantaneous; money can't be lost; currency fluctuations will be over, and stability will be established. "Black money" will be non-existent; no one will be able to evade taxes. (Some will regard the last two points as decided disadvantages.)

The danger of the system however, is in WHO controls it. What if Man 666 controls it? What if Power 13 is behind the switches?

The prophecy in Revelation clearly shows that the Antichrist will rule over the whole world—every tribe and nation; and that every person will receive his mark on the forehead or right hand; and that all buying and selling, which would include all services, will be under his control.

It is very possible that the new monetary system which the Bilderbergers have already half-established, may be the very system of the Beast — Man 666. One thing is sure; when the marking system of the Beast is enforced, it will be co-related to the worship of, and allegiance to Satan's man.

"Don't worry", some people urge "it may take them decades to establish such a system".

Well, experts are predicting it will arrive by 1980.

That's the year of Kissinger's "loosely-knit world government". The new monetary system is essential for a supra-government. The "Watergate tapes" revealed that Nixon stated, the U.S. did not intend to try to save or stabilize free world currencies, because we are going to get a new money system. [16]

The interesting question is, who will guarantee the new worldwide system using S. D. Rs? It cannot be a single, or even a group of governments—for all the governments are in debt. It can only be the powerful financial forces that are already holding the nations in their grip.

Who guarantees the American dollar? the Federal Reserve System of private international banking dynasties. And these are the only ones who can and do guarantee S.D.R. The world is in their hands.

Humanity has been bought with a price—bought by gold, bought by paper currency and bought by the blood of its own soldiers. It has been bought by bankers, manipulators and conspirators. It has been bought by Power 13. And lest there should be any doubt about it, he will soon prove it by marking all of his people, with his (laser-tatoo?) tripple six stamp.

And yet, all of mankind does not belong to Satan. There are multitudes who belong to God—those who have been redeemed and bought by the precious blood of the Lord Jesus.

"You were not redeemed with perishable things like silver or gold from your futile way of life inherited from your forefathers, but with precious blood as of a lamb unblemished and spotless, the blood of Christ." (I Peter 1:18-19)

And to prove that His people are truly His, God places His mark—His seal, on all believers.

" In Him (Christ) you also, after listening to the message of truth, the gospel of your salvation—having also believed, you were sealed in Him (Christ) with the Holy Spirit of promise, who is given as a pledge of our inheritance, with a view to the redemption of God's own possession, to the praise of His glory." (Ephesians 1:13–14)

The Holy Spirit is God's seal upon the born-again follower of the Lord Jesus. The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of Christ, the Spirit of God, and He lives within all of the Lord's people. Being the seal upon us, He guarantees to keep us, to own us, and to escort us to the Father's House on Day 8.

Blessed are they who are sealed with the Spirit of of Promise. They do not belong to Satan, nor to the bankers, nor to this present world. They belong to Christ, and to the eternal Kingdom of God.

Chapter 13

EUROPE — the whore and the Beast

"You have lived luxuriously on the earth and led a life of wanton pleasure ; you have fattened your hearts in a day of slaughter." (James 5:5)

One of the most significant events we see today is the emergence of a great federation of nations in the part of the world that was once called Rome. The European Economic Community (commonly called the Common Market) is a serious attempt to unify Western Europe, so that it might stand against any external threat, and also to regain a leading position in the world.

What is happening in Europe today is definitely not by chance. A great Rome/European confederation is prophesied in the Bible, and is very much in line with Mystery 666, which the international Insiders are seeking to consolidate within the next ten years.

Let us take an extended look at the prophetic dream-image of the great Nebuchadnezzar. Not all dreams are significant, but this one is, for Daniel clearly told the dream and its meaning. It furnishes a panoramic view of four great empires, and the culmination of world kingdoms in the days immediately prior to the descent of Christ to the earth. Read the dream carefully:

"You, O king, were looking and behold, there was a single great statue; that statue, which was large and of extraordinary splendor, was standing in front of you, and its appearance was awesome. The head of that statue was made of fine gold, its breast and its arms of silver, its belly and its thighs of bronze, its legs of iron, its feet partly of iron and partly clay.

"You continued looking until a stone was cut out without hands, and it struck the statue on its feet of iron and clay, and crushed them. Then the iron, the clay, the bronze, the silver and the gold were crushed all the same time, and became like chaff from the summer threshing floors; and the wind carried them away so that not a trace of them was found. But the stone that struck the statue became a great mountain and filled the whole earth." (Dan.2:31–35.)

Now hear Daniel's interpretation:

"This was the dream; now we shall tell its interpretation before the king. You, O king, are the king of kings, to whom the God of heaven has given the kingdom, the power, the strength, and the glory; and wherever the sons of men dwell, or the beasts of the field, or the birds of the sky, He has given them into your hand and has caused you to rule over them all. You are the head of gold.

"And after you there will arise another kingdom inferior to you, then another third kingdom of bronze, which will rule over all the earth. Then there will be a fourth kingdom as strong as iron; inasmuch as iron crushes and shatters all things, so like iron that breaks in pieces, it will crush and break all these in pieces.

"And in that you saw the feet and toes, partly potter's clay and partly of iron, it will be a divided kingdom; but it will have in it the toughness of iron, inasmuch as you saw the iron mixed with common clay. And as the toes of the feet were partly of iron and partly pottery, so some of the kingdom will be strong and part of it will be brittle And in that you saw the iron mixed with common clay, they will continue with one another in the seed of men; but they will not adhere to one another, even as iron does not combine with pottery.

"And in the days of those kings the God of heaven will set up a kingdom which will never be destroyed and that kingdom will not be left for another people; it will crush and put an end to all these kingdoms, but it will itself endure forever.

"Inasmuch as you saw that a stone was cut out of the mountain without hands and that it crushed the iron, the bronze, the clay, the silver, and the gold, the Great God has made known to the king what will take place in the future; so the dream is true, and its interpretation is trustworthy." (Daniel 2:36–45)

Four World Empires

The image pictured four world empires. The first, represented by the head of gold, was the glorious BABYLONIAN KINGDOM of Nebuchadnezzar. Here Satan tried to force the world to worship him, by erecting the 60 x 6 cubit golden image.

The second section of the image, the breast and arms of silver, was the MEDO-PERSIAN EMPIRE, which captured and destroyed the Babylonian in the reign of Belshazzar.

The third kingdom was the GREEK represented by the body of bronze.

The fourth empire, represented by the legs of iron, was the ROMAN, which was ruthless and strong, and crushed all nations.

The feet and 10 toes of iron and clay, represented the final form of the Roman Empire—a brittle/strong empire, that would develop at the end of the age—in the days immediately preceding the second coming of Christ.

This 10-kingdom confederation is the EUROPEAN-ROMAN EMPIRE OF THE ANTICHRIST, who is Satan's man in the Tribulation time to fulfil the centuries-old Mystery 666. This empire will succeed in conquering the whole world—through conspiracy, coercion, consent and conquest, but it will last for a few years only.

This final world empire of Satan will be destroyed by "THE STONE" that is, the LORD JESUS CHIRST, who will establish His Millennial Kingdom, throughout the whole world.

It is the final attempt of Satan that we see developing before our eyes today. Satan and his legions of cohorts, both demonic and human, are working towards the culmination of his "grand design"—the imposing of a NEW INTERNATIONAL DEMONIC ORDER. The design which he has been working on for centuries, envisages a One-World Government, a One-World Monetary System and an all-powerful world Ruler who will be able to enforce a One-World religion—the worship of Satan.

The European Common Market was formed in 1957, when 6 nations (a good number to start with) met together and signed an historic document called, The Treaty of Rome.

The six nations were Italy, West Germany, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. On June 1, 1973, three new members (Great Britain, Ireland and Denmark) were admitted to the Community, making it nine. The tenth nation may well be Greece, which has applied for membership, and expects to join the federation very soon. Greece, we feel, should be a member, as it was very much a part of the ancient Roman Empire.

Is it coincidence that the letters of these ten nations come to a total of 78 (6 x 13) ?

Is it a coincidence that the alliance is built on the Treaty of Rome ? Why not the Treaty of Brussels (the capital of the E.E.C.)? Of course, the original meeting took place in Rome. Why wasn't it held in Paris, or Frankfurt or Bonn ? Because the latter-day federation was to come out of Rome—so to Rome it should go.

An observation by a publication of the Common Market itself, links the EEC to the Bible prophecies:

"The EEC Roman Treaty supports...interpretations of the Books of Ezekiel, Daniel and Revelation that this 'Last Day's kingdom is a new Rome Empire." [1]

It is indeed amazing that the Common Market's own publication admits the similarity between the EEC alliance and the Revived Roman Empire predicted for the end of the age in the Bible.

Other nations may become associate members of the EEC, and of course, the trade of this economic-politico-religious Empire, must be worldwide, as the prophecy in Rev. 18:3 shows:

"For all the nations have drunk of the wine of the passion of her immorality, and the kings of the earth have committed acts of immorality with her, and the merchants of the earth have become rich by the wealth of her sensuality."

In Revelation 18, the Empire is called Babylon, for "Babylon" is the symbolic name for the kingdom of Satan and his Man of Sin.

The task of uniting Europe needs superhuman effort, but Power 13 is available. The Nine have often been disunited, but nevertheless, the push towards economic cohesion, monetary union, political unity, and a unified military command is gaining momentum.

The combined population of the Nine is more than 250 million, and the people of these nations may now move and settle in any one of the countries, without passports. And a common Common Market passport is now being issued for travel outside the federation.

In early 1978, direct Parliamentary elections will be held throughout the Common Market countries, to form the new European Parliament which will, for the first time, have real powers. By 1980, the European President is expected to be the actual ruler of Europe. (At present there are 2 Presidents—of the Commission, and of the Council of Ministers—but without real powers).

According to the Daily Mirror (London) a discreet search is going on in the Common Market countries for a man of superlative diplomatic power and presence. He will be—if they can agree on him, the most striking symbol of supra-nationality the EEC has yet produced.[2]

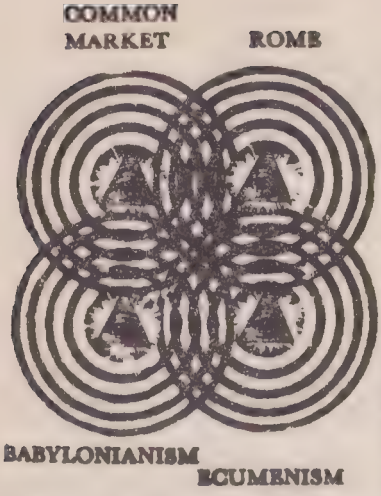
At present, the European capital is Brussels. We can expect it to be moved eventually to Rome itself. From another aspect, Rome is already the capital of the Common Market, for Rome is the seat of the "Holy See" —that is, the Pope. Roman Catholicism is by far, the majority religion in the Nine. Anglicanism of Britain, and Lutheranism of Germany already have both feet in the One-World "Christian" Church which is evolving at this time—a church that undoubtedly the Pope will head.

An Anglican-Roman Catholic International Commission issued a document in January, 1977, which stated that the Pope should head any future united church.[3]

The ecumenical movement today is not an accident. It is very much a part of Mystery 666, for the prophecy in Rev. 17 shows the relationship of the apostate religious system, to the Beast Kingdom of Antichrist.

"And he carried me away in the Spirit into a wilderness; and I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet beast, full of blasphemous names, having seven heads and ten horns. And the woman was clothed in purple and scarlet, and adorned with gold and precious stones and pearls, having in her hand a gold cup full of abominations and of the unclean things of her immorality, and upon her forehead a name was written, a mystery, 'BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND OF THE ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH'." (Revelation 17:3–5)

The scarlet beast here, is the same kingdom we read of in chapter 18—the ten-horned federation which is the climax of all Satanic kingdoms of the past.



And the woman here, is called Babylon the Great. She represents the religious aspect of those Satanic kingdoms. She is the apostate system within the kingdoms of wicked men and Satan.

In this prophecy, this "Mother of Harlots", is in the saddle. She is riding in pomp and glory upon the mighty Beast Kingdom. This "harlot" is apostate Christianity in particular. The World Church which the World Council of Churches is conspiring to create (and it is well on the way to success) will be the final result. If these words regarding the World Church seem strong, then just read of the apostasy, the corruption of Christianity, in the next chapter.

The Greek Orthodox Church, which has been separated from the Roman Church for centuries, has now recognized the Papal authority. And in a meeting in December 1975, Pope Paul knelt and kissed the foot of a representative of the Greek Church in response to the conciliatory statements of the Archbishop of Constantinople. This church is also making great strides to reserve a place on the saddle of the Beast.

Many people have thought and taught that the Pope is the Antichrist. One support for this contention is the Latin numeric value of the title engraved on the crown of the Pope. That "Papel bonnet" has the words, VICARIVS FILEII DEI, which mean "substitute for the Son of God.

"Originally, only 6 Roman letters were used as numericals. That is; I—1, V—5, X—10, L—50, C—100 and D—500 (Later on M was added, to stand for 1000) It is interesting, fantastic (or coincidence ?) that those 6 numericals add up to—well count them yourself—666.)

Now coming to the title of the Pope who is the head of the overwhelming part of Christendom—the value of the Roman letters on his crown comes to 666.

V means	5	F means	0	D means	500
I.....	1	I	1	E	0
C.....	100	L	50	I	1
A.....	0	E	0		—
R.....	0	I	1		501
I.....	1	I	1		112
V.....	5		—		53
S.....	0		53		—
	—				666

This does not prove that the Pope is Antichrist. In Rev. 13:18, we see that 666 is the number of the name of Antichrist.

The Pope is not Antichrist, for Antichrist is the Man of Sin who has not yet been revealed. He will be revealed only after the Restrainer, the Holy Spirit, removes the true born-again believers from this world. i.e., on Day 8, of which I have written in chapter 9. And yet, the Pope, as head of the World Church will play a dominant role in the rise of Antichrist, just as he has done already, in the formation of the European Economic Community

One other title of the Pope, which links his throne to that of the ancient Roman Empire, is PONTIFEX MAXIMUS. This title was first taken by the pagan high priest of Rome after the Babylonian cult was established there. Later the title was given to Julius Caesar (6 + 6), and then was held by every Roman Emperor down to Constantine the Great. When Constantine was converted, he proclaimed Christianity as the state religion. Persecution ended, but pagan Roman "mysteries " were brought into the Church. Later the term Pontifix Maximus was passed on to the "Holy Roman Emperor "—the Pope.[4]

The end of religious Babylon, the World Church, is prophesied. "And the ten horns which you saw, and the beast, these will hate the harlot and will make her desolate and naked, and will eat her flesh and will burn her up with fire." (Revelation 17:16).

Apostate religion which has been Satan's instrument down the centuries, will become obsolete when the worship of the Beast, Satanism, is established universally. And like all instruments of Power 13, it will be done away with because its usefulness has expired. She will be burnt up with fire. This is the wages of sin. This is sin's reward. This is Satan's payoff. When he is finished with you, he will destroy you. Don't, whatever you do, be caught on his payroll!

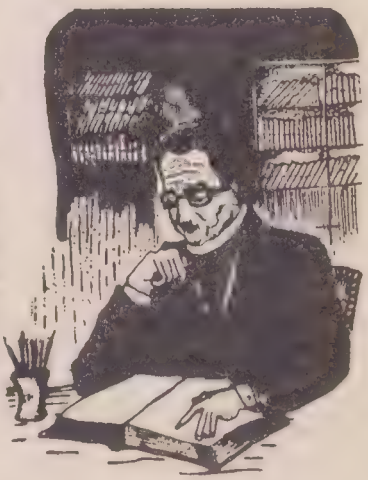
Chapter 14

MODERNISM

—to banish God from heaven and heart



"There is a conspiracy of her prophets in her midst, like a roaring lion tearing the prey..... The prophets prophesy falsely, And the priests rule on their own authority; and my people love it so! But what will you do at the end of it?"

(Ezekiel 22:25, Jeremiah 5:31)

The Bible-believing Christian today stands aghast at the utter nonsense that flows out of the mouths of many modern "Christian" theologians. He asks, "How it is that there is today, a great turning from the clearly-revealed truth of the Word of God? What accounts for the shocking apostasy of Christian leaders throughout Christendom?"

And it certainly is shocking. Take the blasphemy of a Christian United Church minister, Rev. Ben Smillie. He ridicules Christians who, as he says, "go on believing in a clay-made man, a floating zoo, an amphibious-footed Jesus, a son of God who demonstrated his divinity as a home brew artist by turning water into wine, and topped it with an ascension that looks like a Cape Kennedy blastoff."

Not only have a host of present preachers come out in a rash of modernism, liberalism, neo-orthodoxy and atheism, but many of them are openly encouraging immorality, fornication, and perversion, as well as anarchy and revolution.

How is it that heresy and unbelief are tolerated in the pulpits and vigorously taught in the seminaries? How is it that Christian organisations financially support guerilla warfare overseas, and propagate sexual promiscuity at home? How is it that homosexuals have formed a whole network of "gay" churches worldwide—not for the purposes of delivering homosexuals from their sins, but rather, to paint respectability to abomination?

Modernism, apostasy and immorality in the churches may be simply called "the spirit of the age", but it is far more than accident. It is planned. It is part of Conspiracy 666. Remember the first two points of the Illuminati objectives:

1. Banish God from the heavens and Christianity from the earth. Lead people to hate the very name or thought of God and Christ. 2. Corrupt the youth, feed them with sex. Circulate vulgar, immoral pornographic literature. Encourage homosexuality and heterosexual promiscuity.

For the last two hundred years, Power 13 has been promoting these two points (along with the rest of the mystery program), so that what we see today is the end result of planned corruption.

Illuminati Theology[1]

Adam Weishaupt, you will remember, was an initiate of the Egyptian Occult, the Manichaeans. He was, then, a type of Satanist. But as "the most profound conspirator," he put a "Christian" facade to his society, and successfully captured the Freemasons of Europe, which itself was pseudo-Christian.

The Illuminati carried the order of presbyter or priest, and Weishaupt claimed that he preached, "the original and apostolic Christianity," and called it "Masonic Christianity." The new discoveries, he said, had been obscured by centuries of institutionalized religion.

Weishaupt's theology is essentially "pantheism" or "naturalism"—the concept that religious truth is derived from nature, not revelation. It teaches that "God" is in everything, and that the Universe is "God". Fundamentally, pantheism means atheism, for it denies the existence of a personal, Divine Being. It implies a collectivist ideology, where individuality is of no great consequence,—everyone is merely a part of the universe. Man came from dust and to dust (nature) he returns. The world is the "sole reality."

Weishaupt did not necessarily believe this false concept, but he did appreciate its value as a philosophy, to divert people from the living God. He proclaimed the need for all peoples to be "illuminated" by Reason, and reunited in one family, one religion and one government.

This "human devil" taught anarchism—the idea that all civil authority is evil, and sought to give justification to this doctrine by invoking the name of Jesus, and twisting the Scripture. (Similar to those who today claim Christ was a revolutionary, or the "first communist". Jesus was neither!)

Weishaupt wrote: "Jesus of Nazareth, the Grand Master of our Order, appeared at a time when the world was in the utmost disorder, and among a people who for ages had groaned under the yoke of bondage. He taught them the lessons of reason. To be more effective, he took in the aid of Religion—of opinions which were current—and, in a very clever manner combined his secret doctrines with the popular religion, and with the customs which lay to his hand. In these he wrapped up his lessons—he taught by parables...Let us only take Liberty and Equality as the great aim of his doctrines.....and everything in the New Testament will be comprehensible; and Jesus will appear as the Redeemer of slaves. Man is fallen from the condition of Liberty and Equality, the STATE OF PURE NATURE. He is under subordination and civil bondage, arising from the vices of man. This is the FALL, and ORIGINAL SIN. The KINGDOM OF GRACE is the restoration which may be brought about by illumination...This is the NEW BIRTH. When man lives under government, he is fallen, his worth is gone, and his nature tarnished." (Emphasis in original.)[2]

And with glee stamped upon his face, this Man Friday wrote, evidently to an Illuminati innercore member, of the success of his deception:

"You can't imagine what respect and curiosity my priest-degree has raised; and, which is wonderful, a famous Protestant divine, who is now of the Order, is persuaded that the religion contained in it is the true sense of Christianity. O MAN! MAN! TO WHAT MAY'ST THOU NOT BE PERSUADED. Who would imagine that I was to be the founder of a new religion."[3]

One early writing which exposed the Illuminati society, was "Proofs of a Conspiracy." written in 1798, by John Robison a professor of Edinburg, Scotland. Robison wrote: "Free Masonry and Christianity are compounded—first with marks of respect—then Christianity is twisted to a purpose foreign from it, but the same with that aimed at by Weishaupt—then it is thrown away altogether, and Natural Religion and Atheism substituted for it ....."

Professor Robison explains how this pantheism was propagated by a famous theologian, who was a closely associated Illuminatus of Weishaupt - Dr. Karl Friedrich Bahrdt. One of Bahrdt's writings was "Better Than Horus," and it "aimed to destroy the authority of our Scriptures, either as historical narrations or as revelations of the intentions of providence and of the future prospects of man." Soon the "new" doctrine "filled every part of Germany." Is it any wonder that Germany became the chief seat of modernism?

The doctrines of Illumination have infiltrated so many Christian churches, both Protestant and Catholic since then, and have been the main roots of present day modernism, liberalism and existentialism. The "God is dead theology" is another variation of this unbelief.

The German Friedrich Schleiermacher (1768 - 1834) who has been called "the greatest theologian of the Protestant church since the Reformation," eulogized the philosopher, Benedict Spinoza who had been a source of pantheistic thought for the Illuminati, and clearly reveals Schleiermacher's own "naturalism."

"Offer with me reverently a tribute to the manes of the holy, rejected, Spinoza. The high World-Spirit pervaded him; the Infinite was his beginning and his end; the Universe was his only and his everlasting love. In holy innocence and in deep humility he beheld himself mirrored in the eternal world, and perceived how he also was its most worthy mirror. He was full of religion, full of the Holy Spirit. Wherefore, he stands there alone and unequalled; master in his art, yet without disciples and without citizenship." [4]

One Catholic theologian who followed the same doctrine, was Pierre Teilhard de Chardin. Teilhard propagated a "Scientific Christianity", which is nothing more than "pantheistic evolution," of which he wrote; "It is much more; it is a general condition to which all theories, all hypotheses, all systems must bow and which they must satisfy henceforward if they are to be thinkable and true. Evolution is a light illuminating all facts, a curve that all lines must follow." [5]

Teilhard's god has been described as, at best, "the synthesis of the Christian God and the Marxist god." This seems to be the very same 'God' of the present World Council of Churches. Of course, Power 13 doesn't mind what name he is called by as long as he is worshipped.

Modern Apostasy

Illuminati/communist "theology" has infiltrated both Protestant and Catholic institutions so deeply, that it is not at all surprising to read of widespread apostasy in the pulpits and "Christian" bodies throughout the world. It is not by accident.

In the late 19th century and early 20th, two theologians of great influence for the illuminist doctrine were Dr. Walter Rauschenbusch (6 +13), and Dr. Harry F. Ward. These two doctors certainly used their scalpels on the Bible, and were perhaps the most responsible for the 20th century "revolution in religion." They replaced the need of individual salvation with a "social gospel". This gospel, which is the "gospel" the W.C.C. preaches today, is no other than Weishaupt's "humanism." "Gospel" means no more than the social uplift of mankind.

Again Power 13 was at work, and in Rauschenbusch's theology, he offered a "new deal." It was to be a "king-of God on Earth," but brought about through the rejection of God and every principle He has revealed.

Rauschenbusch was a graduate and later a professor of Rochester Theological Seminary. And of Rauschenbusch, a former President of the Federal Council of Churches wrote (in 1937). "It is clear it seems to me, that the greatest single influence on the life and thought of the American Church in the last 50 years was exerted by Walter Rauschenbusch."[6]

It was Dr. Harry F. Ward who was the conspiratorial genius to provide the impetus for this "new gospel". Ward was an identified communist. For 25 years he was professor of Christian Ethics at New York's influential Union Theological Seminary (24, 6 x 4). This same seminary has been heavily financed for decades by the Rockefellers, and it has gained a great reputation, not for turning out godly soul-winners, evangelists, and revivalists, but rather, "Christian-communists."[7]

Dr. Ward played an important part in the forming of the Federal Council of Churches, (24, 6 x 4) which was the forerunner of the present National Council of Churches, which was the instrument to create the World Council of Churches.[8]

In his book "Democracy and Social Change," (1940) Ward made the prediction: "It is evident that religion will play a significant part in the struggle that brings in the next stage of human society." Knowing his "illuminated" character, it is clear that Ward is not referring to the Millennium, but that he expects the Ecumenical Movement to play an important part in creating the New International Order.

An FBI undercover agent, Herbert A. Philbrick, testified to the U. S. Government, in 1953, that "so far as the strategy, and tactics of the Communist Party in this country are concerned, under present conditions we were taught that the Communist part at this moment was not to destroy religion in the U. S., but to use it."[9] staffed by young seminarians. And just as Weishaupt captured the Freemasons, the present-day Illuminati have captured the seminaries.

There are, of course, some seminaries that are still fundamentalist, but the apostasy emanating from the "Christian Seats of Learning" is having a tremendous impact on Christendom as a whole.

What is presented today as new, "progressive" theological thought, is nothing but the corruption of perverted hearts that are opposed to the glorious gospel of Jesus Christ—hearts that have been captured by Power 13, and which are being manipulated to help bring in the "ultimate man", The Beast.

One of the most victous attacks has been directed towards the Deity of the Lord Jesus Christ and to the existence of God.

"Illuminated" A. J. Ungersma in his book, "Handbook for Christian Believers" (used by the Presbyterian Church) denies the truth that Jesus is God: "In an honest etfort to exalt Jesus, his followers sometimes have insisted that he is God: However, the Scriptures nowhere declare that Jesus made this claim." [10]

A Disciples of Christ official organ stated, "Disciples in general have never been able to accept the idea of Jesus being God." Methodist Bishop Gerald Kennedy says: "I believe the testimony of the New Testament taken as a whole is against the deity of Jesus, although I think it bears overwhelming witness to the divinity of Christ." [11]

So much for the modern theologians. When they stand before the Word of God, they are proven to be liars, or at best, utterly confused by illuminated nonsense.

The Word of God stands as an immovable rock, and is a light before which infidelity must scamper like a cockroach to the hidden places of darkness.

Concerning the Deity of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Word of God says:

"In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. He was in the beginning with God. All things came into being through Him; and apart from Him nothing came into being that has come into being." (John 1:1-3) "And the Word became flesh, and dwelt among us, and we beheld His glory as of the only begotten from the Father, full of grace and truth". (John 1:14) "And no one has ascended into heaven but He who descended from heaven, even the Son of Man." (John 3:13)

"Who is liar but the one who denies that Jesus is the Christ ? This is the antichrist, the one who denies the Father and the Son. Whoever denies the Son does not have the Father; the one who confesses the Son has the Father also." (I John 2:22–23)

The doctrine of salvation by faith in Christ who shed His blood on the cross for our sins, is spurned by the moderns.

Frederick C. Grant, one of the translators of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, says in his book, Basic Christian Beliefs, "To describe the death of Christ as a 'propitiation' clearly implies an angry God who must be placated by the death of a sinless person: but this is not the meaning of the New Testament..... Nowhere does Jesus suggest or even imply that divine forgiveness is conditioned upon his own death." [12]

Grant is apostate. He has helped to translate the Bible but he cannot understand plain language.

The Word of God says: "...all things are cleansed with blood, and without shedding of blood there is no forgiveness...For Christ did not enter a holy place made with hands, a mere copy of the true one, but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us; now once at the consummation He has been manifested to put away sin by the sacrifice of Himself...Christ also, having been offered once to bear the sins of many, shall appear a second time, not to bear sin, to those who eagerly await Him, for salvation." (Hebrews 9: 22,24,26 & 28)

"If we walk in the light as He Himself is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus His Son cleanses us from all sin." (I John 1:7) "By this the love of God was manifested in us, that God has sent His only begotten Son into the world so that we might live through Him. In this is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins." (I John 4:9-10)

"And He Himself bore our sins in His body on the cross, that we might die to sin and live to righteousness; for by His wounds you were healed." (I Peter 2:24)

Grant would have us believe that Peter and John misunderstood the teachings and work of Jesus. I suppose it would be unreasonable to suggest that although fishermen, Peter and John were illuminated by the Light of the World, Christ; whereas Grant is clearly illuminated by Weishauptism, which means utter darkness.

Of course, Heaven and Hell is just too fanciful even to contemplate, to these "enlightened" church leaders. The heretical Episcopal Bishop James Pike was one who assailed "this heaven and hell business". The United Presbyterian Sunday School "Crossroads," say; "...of course, we have to give up childish ideas about heaven as a place somewhere out there..."[13]

Heaven and hell, of course, don't go along with the politics of Illuminism. And infidels always find it convenient to explain away truths that don't suit them. But the Word of God cannot be added to, nor can anything be taken away from it; and neither can it be twisted and corrupted to suit false conceptions and fanciful theology.

These sceptics should pluck out their unbelieving hearts, for the Lord Jesus Himself said, "And if your eye causes you to stumble, cast it out; it is better for you to enter the kingdom of God with one eye, than having two eyes, to be cast into hell; where THEIR WORM DOES NOT DIE, AND THE FIRE IS NOT QUENCHED." (Mark 9:47-48)

Listen, oh unbelievers, to your future forecast :

"But for the cowardly and unbelieving and abominable and murderers and immoral persons and sorcerers and idolaters and all liars, their part will be in the lake that burns with fire and brimstone, which is the second death."

And regarding Heaven, I'll take Peter's inspired word: "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who according to His great mercy has caused us to be born again to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to obtain an inheritance which is imperishable and undefiled and will not fade away, reserved in heaven for you." (I Peter 1:3–4)

One President of Union Theological Seminary was Dr. John C. Bennett. This church leader is on record as stating, "neither the Bible, or tradition, or theology provides a static authority for ethical questions."

Bennett, clearly, does not believe the Bible, nor has he meditated upon Psalm 119.

"Thou hast ordained Thy precepts,
That we should keep them diligently." (Psalm 119:4)

What about you, my dear reader? Have you ever mediated upon this Psalm? I challenge you to do so.

Bennett makes little effort to camouflage his communist ideologies. He says "The basic fallacy of U.S. policy in Asia is the axion that communism is the worst fate that can ever come to any country..... Say what you will about the cost of the revolution, the cost of allowing old social conditions to go unchanged needs to be weighed over against it. Communism needs to be seen as the instrument of modernization, of national unity, of greater social welfare. The brainwashing, the cruel dealing with the opposition, and the political totalitarianism are the cost. At this stage, it is not for us to say whether we would or would not choose the effects at this cost."[14] And Bennett is a leader in the World Council of Churches.

A Roman Catholic leader, Msgr. Charles Owen Rice, followed on in the same strain. "It may sound strange coming from a Catholic priest, but I am convinced we should pray for the survival of the present government of China... The present government, even though Communist, has brought order to its vast nation, order and admirable measures of internal justice and peace."[15]

Neither of these theologians mention, of course, the 54 million Chinese, including tens of thousands of Christians, who were slaughtered by Mao. The "internal justice" of the reds in China, kept the godly Watchman Nee in prison for 20 years until he died.

Another leading seminary is the Cambridge Episcopal Theological School (Mass. USA) where professor, Dr. Joseph F. Fletcher advocates amending the Ten Commandments to read:

Thou shalt not commit adultery, ordinarily.

Fletcher said, "For me, there are no rules—none at all". The same Rev. Fletcher was a proven enthusiastic communist collaborator.[16]

With such professors in the saddle, it is not surprising to read the result of interviews with 100 students of eight leading seminaries, conducted by "Redbook" magazine, way back in 1961.

56% did not believe in the virgin birth of Jesus.

11% did not believe in the divinity of Jesus. The other 89% do believe, but wanted to define "divinity" in their own way.

1% only were convinced Jesus would come again.

69% did not believe in a real heaven or hell.

54% did not believe in the physical ascension of Christ.

The seminaries have certainly not returned to the "faith of our fathers" in the 16 years since then. In 1969 a wide poll of Protestant ministers revealed that 80% to 90% of Episcopalians, Presbyterians and Methodists denied that the Bible in the Inspired Word of God.

But in 1975, a leading Methodist minister in Washington, DC, said "In our denomination what you call the 'Faith of the Fathers' is approaching total extinction. Of course a few of the older ministers still cling to the Bible. But among the younger men, the leaders of our denomination, I do not know a single one who believes in miracles, in answers to prayer, in what you call the 'new birth', in the return of Christ, or any of the things you classify as fundamentals."

Today, Bible-believing Christians, or fundamentalists, have become a small minority of what is called Christianity. The "faith" of the great majority has either been "illuminated", or has withered up and died.

An Episcopal Bishop, Henry I. Louttit, wrote in his official diocesan paper, "The Palm Branch", "Fundamentalists hold theological positions almost opposite, if not completely contrary, to the faith of the Episcopal Church and of every other major Christian body."[17]

What the Bishop did not point out, is that historically and originally, the Episcopalians and nearly every other major Christian body did hold to the fundamentals of the Bible, which they now reject.

It is interesting to note that President Carter declared that his favourite theologians are Reinhold Niebuhr, Karl Barth, Paul Tillich and Soren Kierkegaard. All were modernists. Niebuhr was a "social radicalist," long associated with Communist organisations, and for 30 years, was professor of Applied Christianity at Union Theological Seminary. Niebuhr invited Paul Tillich, a German-born and educated modernist, to join the faculty of Union Theological Seminary. There Tillich added to the apostasy of the seminary, for many years.

Kierkegaard was a 19th c. Danish theologian, and the father of "Existentialism". He wrote volumes to prove his theory that what exists, is not God.

Karl Barth was a neo-orthodox. He used the Bible language but twisted the meanings. He believed in "extra-biblical revelation," which gives scope for extracting whatever you feel is "truth", from any source.

These are the favourite writers of the present professed "born again" U.S. President. It doesn't add up to 777. It seems that Jimmy Carter has learnt most of his theology, not at the Plains Baptist Church, but from the Union Theological Seminary; and how to "apply his theology" in the CFR and Trilateral Commission.

According to former Georgia Governor, Carl Sanders who was outraged at Carter's hypocrisy, Jimmy Carter, far from being a fundamental Christian, is an ultra-liberal who once worked to delete the word 'God' from the Georgia Constitution. [18]

The Ecumenical Front

The Mystery of Iniquity aims at enslaving the whole human race, and to bring it to its knees in worship of Satan. To help fulfil this plan, Power 13 has created a front movement — Ecumenism, which aims at creating a One World Church. This "movement" now embraces almost all Protestant, Catholic, and Orthodox denominations, and finds expression in the National Councils of Churches in nearly all the free nations, in the state-authorized churches of the communist countries; in a multitude of bilateral and multilateral cooperations; and in the World Council of Churches which is seeking to tie it all together.

It is not an accident; neither is it a sudden awakening to the idea that "we should all be one." It is a big part of the 666 conspiracy.

Not every one associated with the W.C.C. is a conspirator or communist. Far from it. The majority, perhaps, are ideologists who genuinely feel that a One-world Christian Church is both scriptural and advisable, as well as urgent and imperative.

The Federal Council of Churches, was declaimed by the U.S. Naval Intelligence in 1936 as one of the most dangerous, subversive organisations in the country. It was this organisation that expanded in 1950 to become the National Council of Churches. [19]

The NCC today claims to represent more than 40 million Protestants in the USA., and if it appears to be Christian, look at this fact: In 1967 a poll was taken of the delegates to the N.C.C. convention in Miami. [20]

3?% could not ascribe to a belief in God.

75% did not believe the Bible miracles.

87% rejected the Bible teaching that man was born in sin.

79% expressed the opinion that salvation depended more on racial tolerance and love than on a personal faith in Jesus Christ as Saviour.

These are the type of people who are aiming to establish a World Church. One is compelled to ask, Why do they bother to remain Christians when they reject or negate the Word of God ? Is it that religion has become their "business". Or is it that they are in the church to use it, and then to destroy it?

We can only conclude that the Ecumenical Movement is not the Christianity of the Bible, and it should be exposed for what it is—a front for Mystery 666.

The World Council of Churches was founded in Amsterdam in 1948. The first meeting was attended by delegates from 147 denominations from 44 countries. Today it has 286 denominations in membership from 90 countries—representing more than 500,000,000 people. A vast number of people support the WCC, directly or indirectly, not realizing or not caring, or not daring to believe, that they support a program that will be their ruin.

As a sample of the W.C.C. teaching, take the following extract from its quarterly: "Certainly in the Gospels one simply does not find a Jesus who is the first Evangelical Churchman! As a matter of fact, if it is the function of the preacher to 'pluck brands from the burning,' one can only say that Jesus is rather irresponsible! When he confronts the crowds, he does not speak of their eternal destiny.....He tells them how damn lucky they are to be alive and that there is no need to overdo it with their prayers!"[21]

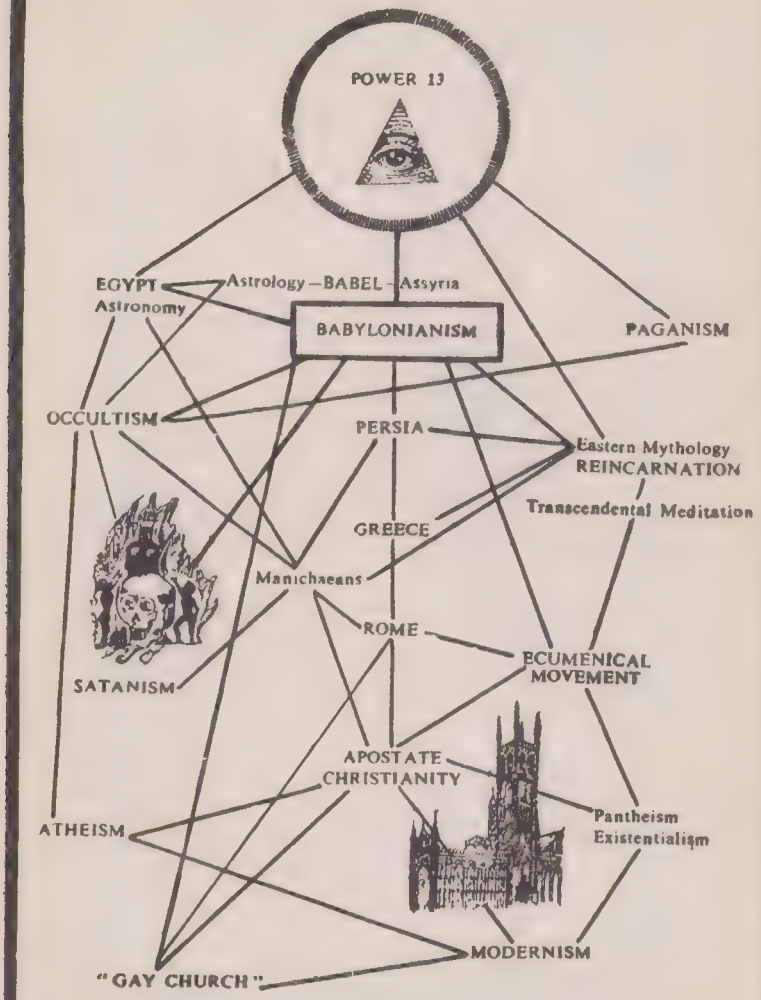
At the W.C.C. convention in Geneva in 1966, the World Body dedicated itself to political and economic change through revolution. Part of the convention's program read:

"Rationalization of distribution...under the auspices of the United Nations... elimination of the adverse effect of price fluctuations and terms of trade.....the establishment of world commodity marketing boards... an international division of labor...a system of international taxation."[22]

"Barons" weekly, a most respected financial magazine commented on the W.C.C. program.

"How many millions of people would be dislocated, ruined, enslaved, tortured and murdered under a World

BABYLON THE GREAT



Council of Churches' plan to restructure the world economy?...Was any past crime committed in the name of Christianity during the darkest ages of history of greater magnitude than that contemplated in the World Council of Churches?" [23]

The W.C C. has allocated hundreds of thousands of dollars to revolutionary guerilla groups operating in South Africa and South America. This aid, of course, is part of the W.C.C.'s "social gospel campaign." They are out to convert the world, you know—to Weishauptism (that means, Babylonianism).

The W.C.C. is concerned not only with Christians, but also with entering into dialogue with all religions. Everyone has to be brought into the "one fold." This accounts for the fact that the W C.C. "World Conference on Salvation Today" in Bangkok in Dec. 1972–Jan.73 was opened by a Buddhist—Princess Poon Pismai Diskul, President of the World Fellowship of Buddhists.

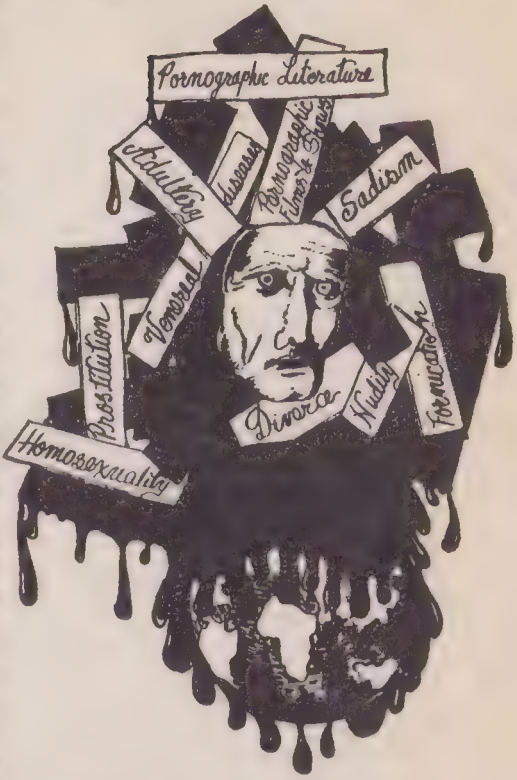
The W.C.C. now has a big emphasis on "synthesis"—that is, the extracting of common ideologies of all religions and making them the basis of dialogue, cooperation, and unity.

The religion of the ecumenical movement is becoming more and more, a synthesis similar to Manichaeaism —of philosophy, atheism, pantheism and heretical Christianity. What it does have of the truth, seems to be purely by accident.

In line with the synthetic trend is the "Temple of Understanding" in Washington D C., wh ch is dedicated to bringing about universal brotherhood within the framework of man's SIX main religions: Islam, Judaism, Christianity, Buddhism, Hinduism and Confucianism:

Similar movements are under way all over the world to unite all religions. They all want a seat in the saddle of the beast. Riding the beast however, is not comparable to a ride on a jumbo at the local zoo. It is more like the spirited breaking-in of a bronco—except, the bronco in this case is a crossbred mongrel from a leopard, lion and a grizzly bear.

The Moral Breakdown



The 1970's have been known for the wide and wicked "moral revolution" in the Western world in particular. The influence of the "permissive age" is being felt all around the world in varying degrees.

This breakdown is one of the main planks of the Illuminati-Communist—Satanist program. How Weishaupt would smile at the success of his plan today, not only through the "show" and "painting" but also through the churches, schools and colleges. We might say, "What a tragedy the church is an instrument to destroy people." But, I repeat, it is not by accident. It's planned.

We have already quoted from Bennett and Fletcher. A host of modern theologians join them in discarding absolutes of right and wrong, and to promote the "new morality."

Rev. Frederick C. Wood of Baltimore — an Episcopal School chaplain— told his congregation of girls. "We all ought to relax and stop feeling guilty about our sexual activities. thoughts and desires. And I mean this, whether those thoughts are heterosexual, homosexual, or autosexual...Sex is fun...and this means there are no laws attached which you ought to do or not to do. There are no rules of the game, so to speak." [24]

Church money pays for calculated "breakdown" literature, such as the quarterly magazine, "Campus Encounter", published by the United Campus Christian Fellowship. One of their articles, was "Love Without Fear." The author advocated, and described in detailed language, all types of sexual and perverted activity.[25]

The Sunday School quarterly, "Baptist Young People" recommended that young people read the book "Another Country" by James Baldwin, which has been described as "low grade filth."

A booklet designed for young people by the National Council of Churches is entitled, "Called to Responsible Freedom, The Meaning of Sex in the Christian Life." The booklet did not seek to teach the commands of God, or the wholesomeness of sex in its right place (marriage), but said; "For the Christian there are no laws, no rules, no regulations...Life is a series of grays and not pure blacks and whites...both Jesus and the Apostle Paul were seeking to set men free from this sort of legalistic bondage."[26]

The N.C.C. seems to be directly opposed to the Word of God, which says: "For this is the will of God, your sanctification; that is, that you abstain from sexual immorality; that each of you know how to possess his own vessel in sanctification and honor." (I Thessalonians 4:3–4)

Now if the "Church" encourages the breakdown of morality, it is not the least surprising that atheists and satanists, and the world in general, do so without the least restraint.

It has long been one of the communist planks, to subvert the free nations through corrupting morals. In May 1919, at Dusseldorf, Germany, Allied Forces obtained a copy of the "Communist Rules for Revolution". Two points were:

1. Corrupt the young: get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superfical; destroy their ruggedness.[27] This rule has since been amplified to make the promotion of pornography, homosexuality and narotic drugs, a special three–pronged attack on the free society. 2. Get control of all means of publicity.

An Italian Communist Party publication confirmed the conspiratorial attack on morality: "As a tactical policy, our aim is to defend an enterprise that is pornographic and entirely free of the restrictions of ordinary moral rules...that condone homosexuality...We are interested in encouraging this type of play, and we likewise are prepared to praise actors in such plays as champions of freedom...such bourgeois people, however cynical and contemptible they may be, are fighting on our side. They are in effect ants working voluntarily and without pay for us as they eat away the very roots of bourgeois society". [28]

In 1962, the Senate Armed Service Committee studied the sale of pornographic literature on military bases. It exposed the subtle communist propaganda interwoven with obscene material and disclosed that an important communist who died in East Berlin in 1959 had spent 27 years in the U.S. producing pornographic literature. [29]

The success of the planned breakdown of morality, and the corruption of modern society, is seen in every direction.

A powerful satanic force behind today's pornography and drug trade, is the Mafia—a term given to large organised crime rings. In the U.S.A., the Mafia has an estimated annual income of $12 billion (Rs. 10,400 crores).

Pornography since 1973, has come out blatantly in the West, but is now not content with sex and perversion, but incorporates violence and S-M (Sadism and Masochism). Sadism is torture to others; masochism is torture to oneself. These are combined with sex to provide a new depraved emphasis in the film industry. And there is plenty of appetite for it.

One film that is not publicly showing, but for which people in the U.S.A. have paid $200 to see at private screenings, shows a young actress being actually murdered, after participating with several men in a series of sexual sado-masochistic activities. [30]

Weishaupt's maxim, to "fill the judicatories of the state with our worthy members" has also been successfully achieved. The U.S. Supreme Court, over the past 15 years, has been spectacular in its decrees, which ostensively relate to the climate of modern society, but in reality, fulfils the avowed aims of Power 13.

For instance, on June 25, 1962, the judges banned Prayer and Bible reading from American public schools. On the very same day, the Supreme Court opened the U.S. mails to a homosexual magazine. Since then most laws against pornography have been abolished, as have laws against abortion. [31] Homosexuality has been legalized in several states, and openly campaigned for in the rest. President Carter's son, J. C. the Third; entered a "gay tricycle race" in San Francisco recently to call attention to the "gay people's political situation." [32]

In January 1977, the Episcopal Church ordained its first openly committed homosexual "priest." The woman, now called Rev. Ellen Barrett, said candidly that her relationship with her female lover, "is what feeds the strength and compassion I bring to the ministry." [33]

The Metropolitan Community Church (The "Gay-Homosexual-Church") formed by Rev. Troy Perry (formerly a Pentecostalist), now has more than 200 congregations and 20,000 members, and is pressing for the passage of the "National Gay Civil Rights Bill", which has been co-sponsored in the Congress by 28 Congressmen.

This Metropolitan Church has also been having talks for the last few years with the National Council of Churches, with a view to membership in the N. C. C. and in the W.C.C. It is expected to be admitted after some time—when homosexuality becomes just a little more acceptable.

Says Troy Perry, "Jesus died for our sins, not for our sexual orientation."[34] Another "minister", ex-Baptist Rev. Bill Hudson, brags, "I'm a homosexual and I'm proud of it."

Of course, Jesus did die for our sins, and He died for homosexuals, as well as for adulterers, prostitutes, murderers, drug addicts, the proud and self-righteous, and for all the "good" people too. But the Scripture says: "Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return to the LORD, and He will have compassion on him; and to our God, for He will abundantly pardon." (Isaiah 55:7)

Yes it is true—gloriously true, that Jesus saves from sin. He can save from the guttermost to the uttermost—the man in the gutter, to the man who considers himself "the chief of sinners". The power of Christ to save, not only from the penalty of sin, but also from the bondage of sin, is available for all who will call upon the Lord.

Jesus will never turn anyone away. "But God being rich in mercy, because of His great love with which He loved us, even when we were dead in our transgressions, made us alive together with Christ (by grace you have been saved) and raised us up with Him." (Eph. 2:4-5). The Lord is full of compassion and is merciful." (James 5:11)

Paul considered himself the "chief of sinners" for he persecuted the church. John Newton, the great preacher who wrote, "Amazing grace, that saved a wretch like me" worked for a prostitute. Terrible drunkards have been saved and delivered. Nikky Cruz was a hopeless drug addict, but Jesus saved him. Mike Warnke, a Satanist high priest (see next chapter), was wonderfully delivered from the clutches of Satan, by the power of the living Christ. Jim Kaspar and Mike Bussee were formerly practicing homosexuals but they have been converted and are now serving the Lord, seeking to deliver homosexuals from their sin and bondage.

Mary Magdalene was a degraded sinner, and so was the Samaritan woman. But Jesus loved and saved them. He saved the despised tax collector, Zaccheus. The Lord Jesus makes a specialty of saving the low and the outcast. And whoever my reader may be, Jesus can, and will save you too, if you will let Him, and if you will call upon Him. "Every one who calls on the name of the Lord shall be saved." (Acts 2:21)

God is merciful, and loving, and not willing that a single soul should perish. This is the age of grace! But remember, God is angry at sin, and He will not pardon one who continues in rebellion.

One group of people which is in severe danger of judgment is the religiously proud, who like to look down their noses at sinners, and in an air of self-righteousness, promulgate, "My God, how I thank thee that I am impeccably perfect and worthy of thy favour. As for that implacable pariah there, he deserves thy wrath. Let us turn him over to Satan. Let us stone him. And do thou Lord, be pleased to send him to the pit."

Such Pharisees, while ignoring Romans 2:1–4, love to judge others and justify themselves by invoking the holiness of God. And yet, if they knew anything of the holiness of God. they would be the last to cast stones.

The only people the Lord won't or can't save are the "righteous"–those who think they have no need of a Saviour; and the "rebellious"—those who want to cling to their sin. The Pharisees belong to the first; the "gay church" is included in the latter. How sad. How sinful, and how foolish! If we say we have no sin we deceive ourselves. [35] But accommodation with sin spells RUIN!

Now my reader, don't cling to your sin whatever it may be—the Lord wants to set you free. Don't compromise with iniquity! Whatever your shortcomings, your failures, your evil habits are, trust the Lord Jesus to deliver you.

It is not uncommon today, however, for people to be proud of sin. Some brag about their corruption. We are living in a world where the standards of the majority, are the standards of the nations, even though those standards have been "plotted in hell" and are bringing about a collapse of society, which will give countless lives over into the hands of an evil tyrant far wore than Adolf Hitler, and more "profound" than Adam Weishaupt.

But far worse than the apostasy in the churches, and the breakdown in morality in society, is the shocking, diabolical system of worship that millions of people are becoming involved in today — Satanism.

SATANISM— demonism in dead earnest

"This wisdom is not that which comes down from above, but is earthly, natural, demonic. For where jealousy and selfish ambition exist, there is disorder and every evil thing."

(James 3:15–16)

The organisation that goes under this name today, is very near to the core of Mystery 666, for it practises the worship of Satan himself.

Satanism is not fun and games, nor is it merely a few fanatics trying to call up spirits. It is deadly serious, and is involving millions of people.

Satanism is not new. It has taken many forms throughout the ages. It is as old as occultism, as old as black magic, as ancient as temptation. Mostly it has been camouflaged by religious fronts. It has paraded as astronomy, astrology, mythology philosophy, ancestral-worship, deification, and even atheism.

According to E. M. Bullinger, the number 666 was the secret symbol of ancient pagan mysteries connected with the worship of the Devil.

Today, however, we see an unprecedentedly-widespread propagation of the deliberate, depraved worship of Satan, the chief-demon and arch-enemy of God and of everything called good.

The Bible prophecy tells of this end-time capitulation to Power 13; "But the Spirit explicitly says that in later times some will fall away from the faith, paying attention to deceitful spirits and doctrines of demons." (I Tim. 4:1)

Today we see it—not a few hundred people, but in the U.S.A. alone, over 5 million people openly worshipping Satan. One city has 600 "churches" dedicated to the devil. [1] The movement is not confined to the U.S.A., but is all over the world. In Sydney, Australia, it has been reported that more than half of the high school students have experimented with the occult and satanism.

Newspapers, magazines and countless books are treating the subject, both for and against the phenomena, as well as many "neutral" writings. One high priest of the movement has predicted that satanism will be the main religion in the U.S.A., by the end of the century.

One of the modern movements was started by Anton Szandor La Vey, who established the San Francisco-based Church of Satan, which now has branches worldwide.

La Vey produced "The Satanic Bible", which had sold more than a million copies by 1975. This unholy bible has an inverted gospel: "Blessed are the strong for they shall possess the earth. If a man smite you on one cheek, smash him on the other." La Vey's church, however, is not the only, or even the main centre of Satanism. Some satanists claim that the "Church of Satan" is not nearly as deep as some other groups.

One high priest, who has since been converted to Christ, and delivered from the unbelievable horrors of satanism. is Mike Warnke. His story is told in the book, "The Satan-seller." [2] introduced to Marijuana (a drug that is smoked like cigarettes.) Mike was soon cured of alcohol, but became addicted to drugs. And the man who "hooked" him was not a mere drug-pusher, but a high priest of Satanism.

As a young student Mike became a victim to alcohol In this pitiful condition, he was approached by a friendly man who offered a cure for his alcoholism. Mike was then

Regular contact continued between the two men, and step by step Mike was introduced to other drugs, and then to sex orgies, witchcraft and the occult. Drugs and sex are used as a bait to hook unwary young people. Later on, Mike himself personally hooked hundreds of others, and brought them into the movement.

It is incumbent upon a satanist to "win souls" for Satan, and of course, every guile and every deceptive method may be used. No advancement will be made unless a member proves his dedication to Satan.

This evil movement is organised very much on conspiratorial lines. Members are brought in through baits, and then gradually introduced to the intriguing aspects of occultism. As the candidate progresses, he is premitted to attend "black masses" or seances. Then he becomes an initiate of a coven (group) of witches. Meetings are held, often late at night and in dark surroundings; sometimes in secretive surroundings on a farm, in a barn, in the open air or in a home.

An initiate is required to swear allegiance to Satan, and to sign his soul over to the devil. A priest will cut the wrist of the new member, and collect some of his blood in a chalice. The initiate will sign his name, with his own blood, in a satanic register. He will then be given some consecrated emblem such as a ring or necklace, to wear continuously.

Much ritual is performed, and that meticulously, for if anything is done amiss, the demons invoked are likely to do great damage or injury to the coven. The satanic altar usually carries a naked female member, over whose body the high priest makes magic incantations.

Often the priest will ask the members present to donate blood. Their wrists will be cut, and the blood collected in one chalice. Then they each one will drink the blood. Often animals, especially cats, are slaughtered on the altar, and the blood drank. A high priest may also call on a volunteer to sacrifice some flesh for Satan. Any progressive member will place his little finger on a block, to have it chopped off, and then eaten by the satanists.

Blasphemous activities are favourites of these devil worshippers. Mike Warnke tells of one occasion when one of their coven stole some "consecrated bread and wine" from a Catholic Church. At the coven-meet, the priests stamped upon the bread. The wine they mixed with urine and drank it. [3]

Sometimes homosexuality plays a part in these satanic services. Another favourite activity is to kidnap a young girl, especially a virgin if possible, and under threats to murder her if she does not obey, they will rape her upon the altar. Hardly a harmless game, is it?

One woman in U.S.A. had killed her own baby as a sacrifice to Satan, and when arrested, she had some of the baby's bones around her neck.

As a satanist progresses, he may be promoted to the rank of high priest. A high priest may be promoted to a higher level of activity or a wider area. Specially chosen ones may rise to the national level, or even to the international.

As in the Illuminati, members never know the leaders of the organisation, but only those immediately above them. There are rings within rings, but at the core of the organisation, it is clearly, Power 13.

If a member defects, the satanists will invoke evil spirits to pursue him, and to destroy him.

While reading the story of Mike Warnke I asked, How could a person, so deeply involved in this evil, ever be saved? But the Lord has delivered satanist high priests.

At his extremity, and in desperation, Mike Warnke found Jesus. Mike had proven an enthusiastic, dedicated servant of Satan. He had helped to enslave hundreds. Everything was provided for him—an apartment, two female servants, a Lincoln Continental car, drugs and cash. But when he became so hopelessly addicted to heroin, and a liability to the organisation, he was mercilessly excommunicated. His own companions administered an overdose of heroin, and then stripped him, and took his naked body by car, and dumped him on a road. Mike later came to, in a hospital.

His recovery was slow. But his conversion to Christ was amazing and thrilling. Then the satanists sought to kill him, and evil spirits were deputed to attack him. But Mike learnt the power of the mighty Name of Jesus, and proved that "He that is in you is greater than he that is in the world". Mike and his wife have now commenced a work, which seeks to warn of the dangers of the occult and satanism and to deliver ensnared young people. Pray for them.

Marx the Satanist[4]

Knowing the satanist background of Weishaupt, it is not really surprising to learn that Karl Marx also was a satanist. It is true that Marx's communist philosophy is ostensibly atheist, but enough has been said in this book to show that conspiracies always have a front organisation and a front doctrine, to cover up the real plot. Communist ideologies are a front, to enlist zealots who are keen to work for the betterment of humanity. The real aim is to rule humanity.

Karl Marx was German-born in 1818 (303 x 6), and was from a Christian background, but of Jewish origin. He came to bitterly hate Christians, Jews and Germans. As a young man he came into contact with, and evidently became initiated into a satanist cult. His hair style was characteristic of the disciples of Joana Southcott, a satanic priestess.

At this early stage Marx wrote to his father: "A curtain had fallen. My Holy of holies was rent asunder and new gods had to be installed". In a poem, he expresses his unnatural desires:

"I wish to build for myself a throne,
Its peak should be cold and huge,
Its bulwark should be human shudder,
Its marshal, gloomy pain."

In a little known drama called "Oulanem,"[5] which is an inversion of the word "Emanuel", he writes:

"Till I go mad and my heart is utterly changed,
See this sword—the prince of darkness sold it to me ....

Yet I have power within my useful arms
To clench and crush you (i.e., personified humanity)
While for us both the abyss yawns in darkness.
You will sink down and I shall follow laughing,
Whispering in your ears, 'Descend, come with me, friend'...

Ruined, ruined. My time has clean run out.
The clock has stopped, the pygmy house has crumbled.
Soon I shall embrace eternity to my breast,
And soon I shall howl gigantic curses on mankind....

Ha, eternity, she is our eternal grief,
An indescribable and immeasurable death,
Vile, artificially conceived to scorn us,
Ourselves being clockwork, blindly mechanical,
Made to be the fool-calendars of Time and Space,
Having no purpose, save to happen, to be ruined....

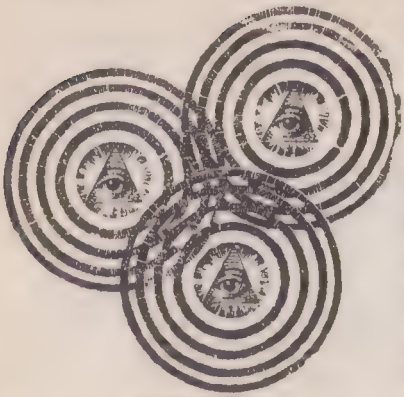
If there is something which devours,
I'll leap within it, though I bring the world to ruins—
The world which bulks between me and the abyss,
I will smash it to pieces with my enduring curses.
I'll throw my arms around its harsh reality.
Embracing me, the world will dumbly pass away
And then sink down to utter nothingness,
Perished, with no existence: that would be really living."

Marx at this time was a mere 23 years.

In 1841, an Illuminatus, Moses Hess, brought Marx into a society called the League of the Just, and taught him collectivist ideologies. Hess wrote, "Dr. Marx—my idol, will give the last kick to medieval religion and politics."[6]

Another friend of Marx, Georg Jung, wrote in the same year, "Marx will surely chase God from his heaven and will even sue him. Marx calls the Christian religion one of the most immoral of religions."[7]

Marx had 6 children. Two daughters and a son-in-law committed suicide. Two other children died of malnutrition. One son Edgar, wrote to Marx in 1854, and addressed his father as, "My dear devil."[8]



SATANISM

One of Marx's associates, in the First International, was a Russian anarchist, Bakunin, who wrote, "Satan is the first freethinker and saviour of the world. He frees Adam and impresses the seal of humanity and liberty on his forehead, by making him disobedient." [9]

According to Bakunin, another early communist was Proudhon, who also worshipped Satan, and wore the same hair style. Proudhon wrote: "We reach knowledge in spite of him, we reach well-being in spite of him, we reach society in spite of him. Every step of forward is a victory in which we overcome the Divine." He exclaims, "God is stupidity and cowardice; God is hypocrisy and falsehood; God is tyranny and poverty; God is evil. Where humanity bows before an altar, humanity, the slave of kings and priests, will be condemned ... ... I swear, God, with my hand stretched out towards the heavens, that you are nothing more than the executioner of my reason, the sceptre of my conscience ... ... God is essentially anti-civilised, anti-liberal, anti-human." [10]

The link between satanism and communism is not coincidence, but can be detected in many ways. Bukharin who was secretary-general of the Communist International, revealed that as early as 12 years of age, after reading the book of Revelation, he longed to become the Antichrist. And realizing that the Beast is the son of the "great whore," he insisted that his mother confess to having been a harlot. [11]

The same Bukharin wrote of his associate, Joseph Stalin, "He is not a man, but a devil." Is it coincidence that the first pseudonym under which Stalin wrote was "Demonoshwile," which means "Demoniac"? [12] the name and work of Christ, and desecrating the "bread and wine." Richard Wurmbrand who was in a communist prison for 14 years, revealed that there were imprisoned priests who were compelled to say the "mass" over excretment and urine, and then compelled to take "communion" with those "elements." [13] Why was there that perverted twist? Marxists have tortured Christians, explaining, "If we kill you, being Christians, you will go to heaven. But we don't wish you to be crowned martyrs. You should first curse God and then go to hell." This certainly does not sound like atheism, but Power 13.

Not all Marxists are satanists. The majority are ideological atheists, but at the core of the conspiracy is Satan, and around him, a select group of initiates. And certainly, to become a great communist leader, one needs to be "a devil."

In 1975, 2,000 delegates from all over the world gathered for the first World Congress of Sorcery, in Bogota, Colombia. The Satanists were expecting great things, but the congress was not the success hoped for. The reason: Christians and missionaries in Colombia called upon believers everywhere to join in prayer for the frustration of this evil congress; and the whole period was contested by believing, sword-wielding prayer.

This is the weapon we need to use today, against the inroads of evil in every area. As believers, and good soldiers of Christ, we must put on the whole armour of God: the helmet of salvation, the breastplate of righteousness, the belt of truth; the shoes of the gospel, the sword of the Spirit (the Word of God), and take especially the shield of faith. And then we must pray and watch with all perseverence and supplication.

"For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the powers, against the world-forces of this darkness, against the spiritual forces of wickedness in the heavenly places." (Ephesians 6:12)

This is not the age in which we should default, nor the day to relinquish territory to Power 13. This is still the day of salvation, the day in which the "prey of the terrible" must be delivered, for Satan goes about like a roaring lion, seeking people to devour. He likes young people, in particular.

ARMAGEDDON — the conspiracy destroyed

"Wherever the corpse is, there the vultures will gather." "For, lo, the kings assembled themselves, They passed by together. They saw it, then they were amazed; They were terrified, they fled in alarm. Panic seized them there, Anguish, as of a woman in childbirth." (Matthew 24:28 Psalms 48:4–6)

All conspiracies eventually come to an end. They either succeed, or they fail. Satan's conspiracy 666, will be abortive. Just when it seems that he has succeeded, it will be destroyed. The war that will bring about the end of this 6000–or–so–year "mystery", will be Armageddon.

In the Tribulation time there will be two main wars. The first, which I believe will be no other than World War 3, [1] will be during the first 3½ years, and through this war, Antichrist will become world dictator. The second, is at the end of the 7 years, and is called Armageddon. It is no ordinary war but is essentially a conflict between God and Satan. It is a war in which Satan's Superman, is destroyed by God's Omnipotent Man. It is the counterfeit–Christ, against the true Christ.

Armageddon climaxes the 7-year "reign of terror," during which the world experiences unprecedented tribulation—wars, famines, pestilences, earthquakes, cyclones, plagues, pollution, celestial upheavals, absolute dictatorship, persecution, tragedy, imposed and enforced satanism, utter destruction, chaos and immense depopulation. Even Solzhenitzyn could not, I am sure, adequately describe this era.

Of the second half—the Great Wrath – the Lord Jesus simply says; "For then there will be a great tribulation, such as has not occurred since the beginning of the world until now, nor ever shall. And unless those days had been cut short, no life would have been saved; but for the sake of the elect those days shall be cut short." (Matt. 24:21–22)

The angels in heaven cry in awe, "Woe, woe, woe, to those who dwell on the earth." Isaiah prophesied:

"Behold, the day of the LORD is coming, cruel, with fury and burning anger, to make the land a desolation; And He will exterminate its sinners from it. For the stars of heaven and their constellations will not flash forth their light; The sun will be dark when it rises And the moon will not shed its light. Thus I will punish the world for its evil, and the wicked for their iniquity; I will also put an end to the arrogance of the proud, and abase the haughtiness of the ruthless. I will make mortal man scarcer than pure gold, and mankind than the gold of Ophir. Therefore I shall make the heavens tremble, and the earth will be shaken from its place at the fury of the LORD of hosts in the day of His burning anger." (Is. 13: 9–13)

The book of Revelation does describe some of the horrors, and pictures the..."kings of the earth and the great men and the commanders and rich and the strong and every slave and free man, hid themselves in the caves and among the rocks of the mountains; and they said to the mountains and to the rocks, 'Fall on us and hide us from the presence of Him who sits on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb; for the great day of their wrath has come; and who is able to stand'?" (Rev. 6 : 15–17)

The Tribulation is both the wrath of Satan, and the wrath of God. The fury of Power 13 will be directed particularly against the Jewish people, and against any who profess faith in the Lord Jesus Christ during that time.

"Woe to the earth and the sea; because the devil has come down to you, having great wrath, knowing that he has only a short time . . . And the dragon was enraged with the woman. and went off to make war with the rest of her offspring, who keep the commandments of God and hold to the testimony of Jesus." (Rev. 12:12,17) "And it was given to him to make war with the saints and to overcome them." (Rev. 13: 7)

The wrath of God also, will be poured out, especially upon those who worship Satan, or who receive the mark of the Beast—not only on the earth, but also in the Lake of Fire.

"If any one worships the beast and his image, and receives a mark on his forehead or upon his hand, he also will drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is mixed in full strength in the cup of His anger; and he will be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels and in the presence of the Lamb. And the smoke of their torment goes up forever and ever; and they have no rest day and night, those who worship the beast and his image, and whoever receives the mark of his name." (Rev. 14 : 9–11)

The Man of Sin does succeed in marking the whole world, and enforcing the worship of Satan, as we have already seen in chapter 9, by the threat of death. And yet, there will be a remnant at that time who will be willing to face the lions or to embrace the flames, or to place their heads upon a guillotine, rather than worship the Beast. There will be a remnant also who manage to hide and survive until Day 9.

It is permitted to Antichrist to reign over the world for 42 months, and no longer. "And authority to act for forty-two months was given to him." (Rev.13:5)

Then as that period draws to a close, the ungodly trio send out evil spirits across the whole earth, to bring the leaders of all nations, and their armies, together, to the land of Israel.

Whatever the physical reason is, we are not told. But it is clearly to be a last stand of Satan, against the Lord. The prophecy says, "And I saw coming out of the mouth of the dragon and out of the mouth of the beast and out of the mouth of the false prophet, three unclean spirits like frogs; for they are spirits of demons, performing signs, which go out to the kings of the whole world, to gather them together for the war of the great day of God, the Almighty. And they gathered them together to the place which in Hebrew is called Har-Magedon." (Rev. 16:13,14,16)

Armageddon (or Har-Magedon) is refering to a particular valley in Northern Israel. It has been the scene of many battles in times past. It takes its name from the ancient fort of Megiddo and the valley which it overlooks.

By the end of the Tribulation, the world will be so greatly depopulated, that what is gathered to Armageddon will be but a remnant of the nations.

Armageddon is Act 9. It is the final scene before the curtain falls on Drama 666. It is the end of the Great Tribulation, the close of the 6000-year Age of Man; it is the wind-up of man's lawless society, and Satan's evil tyranny. It brings to an end the wilderness of wickedness, but ushers in the garden of God.

Now is the time for the sun to be darkened. But suddenly, amidst the eiree gloom, the sign of the Son of Man appears in the sky. And night is turned to day as Jesus Christ, the Lord of Heaven and Earth, bursts through the night with power and great glory. (Matt. 24:29-30)

How awesome is this grand display of Omnipotence. John saw it by revelation, and says, "And I saw heaven opened; and behold, a white horse, and He who sat upon it is called Faithful and True; and in righteousness He judges and wages war. And His eyes are a flame of fire, and upon His head are many diadems; and He has a name written upon Him which no one knows except Himself. And He is clothed with a robe dipped in blood, and His name is called The Word of God. And the armies which are in heaven, clothed in fine linen, white and clean, were following Him, on white horses. And from His mouth comes a sharp sword, so that with it He may smite the nations; and He will rule them with a rod of iron; and He treads the wine press of the fierce wrath of God, the Almighty. And on His robe and on His thigh He has a name written, 'KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS'." (Rev. 19:11-16) (The sharp sword represents the authority of the Lord to judge the nations by His spoken word.)

Oh what majesty! Oh what glory! Who can bare the sight of this overwhelming glory from the throne of God - a thousand times brighter than the light of the sun? Imagine the awe when "the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with His mighty angels in flaming fire, dealing out retribution to those who do not know God and to those who do not obey the gospel of our Lord Jesus." (2 Thes. 1:7-8).

Now the prophecy of the ancient Enoch is fulfilled. "Behold, the Lord came with many thousands of His holy ones, to execute judgment upon all, and to convict all the ungodly of all their ungodly deeds which they have done in an ungodly way, and of all the harsh things which ungodly sinners have spoken against Him." (Jude 14:15).

Come on, ye vultures, come on! Get ready for the feast. God is providing you a great supper. You can eat the flesh of kings and commanders, of conspirators and dictators. They are "dressed" for you by the sword of the Living Christ.

He's the God of Judgment. Once He was despised and rejected of men. "Away with Him", they cried! Now He comes in power invincible, to repay every wrong, to destroy every ugly design, to banish evildoers from the earth, and to consign them a place in the Lake that was prepared for the chief of conspirators.

Oh ye kings of the earth, see, your cities are fallen! Where now is Babylon the Great? Where now is Rome?

Where is Jerusalem? Where is Brussels, Paris, Tokyo, Los Angeles, Rio de Janeiro and Leningrad? Fallen! The earth yawns wide to swallow the cities of corruption. "And the great city was split into three parts, and the cities of the nations fell." (Rev. 16:19)

Woe, woe, oh Babylon. You have gorged yourself upon the blood of prophets and saints and nations. You have feasted upon the flesh of the unwary, and brought them down to the pit. Now it's your appointed hour; "for in one hour she has been laid waste...thus will Babylon, the great city, be thrown down with violence, and will not be found any longer." (Rev. 18:19,21)

Now where is your power, Man Triple Six? you who have slain the saints, enslaved the earth, ignited the innocent and tormented the terrible? Where now is your authority, oh devil-possessed Beast? Where now are your signs and false wonders, oh you, chiefest of false prophets? How to make war with the Lord of Lords, and King of Kings—The Almighty God? Of what use now are your nuclear weapons, and your SOBS, MIRVs and ICBMs? [2] Of what use now are your riches, ye international bankers? Your gold is cankered, your silver is rusted, your granaries are empty, your oil is wasted, and your SDR is but a puff of air, for your power has vanished, and your authority has terminated.

Come, gather, make war with God. Come, come to Megiddo. Prepare your breasts for the vultures.

"And I saw the Beast and the kings of the earth and their armies, assembled to make war against Him who sat upon the horse, and against His army. And the beast was seized, and with him the false prophet who performed the signs in his presence, by which he deceived those who had received the mark of the beast and those who worshipped his image; these two were thrown alive into the lake of fire which burns with brimstone. And the rest were killed with the sword which came from the mouth of Him who sat upon the horse.

"And all the birds were filled with their flesh." (Rev. 19: 19-21)

It is finished. The conspiracy is finished. But not quite! Power 13, himself. What of him? Ah that too, is prophesied : "And I saw an angel coming down from heaven, having the key of the abyss and a great chain in his hand. And he laid hold of the dragon the serpent of old who is the devil and Satan, and bound him for a thousand years, and threw him into the abyss and shut it and sealed it over him, so that he should not deceive the nations any longer, until the thousand years were completed; after these things he must be released for a short time." (Rev. 20:1–3)

After the 1000 years, that is, after the 1000–year Millennial reign of Christ, Satan will be released, for the purpose of testing the mortals living on earth at that time. He will lead the unregenerate in a final rebellion, which will bring down fire from heaven to destroy them (Rev. 20:7–9).

And then Lucifer, Star of the Morning-turned-Beelzebub, King of Darkness, is consigned to the flames of God's eternal wrath.

"The devil who deceived them was thrown into the lake of fire and brimstone, where the beast and the false prophet are also; and they will be tormentedday and night forever and ever." (Rev. 20:10)

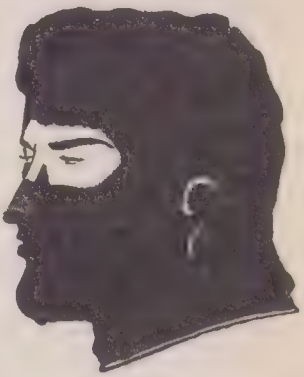
Chapter 17

RESOLUTION 9 — for now and eternity

"Blessed is he who reads and those who hear the words of the prophecy, and heed the things which are written in it; for the time is near." (Revelation 1 : 3)



As we look back along the corridors of time, we can discern the origin and the progress of the mystery of iniquity. As we look ahead through the pages of inspired prophetic Scripture, we see the destruction of the conspiracy, and the containment of the power behind it. Both the past and the future are intensely interesting; yes, fantastic, incredible, alarming, frightening.

We have briefly touched on 13 aspects of the "mystery", (illustrated on the back cover), and how they all tie in together. The information however is far from complete. If there seems to be an over-emphasis on the U.S.A., it is because more information is in hand, of conditions there. Volumes could be written of other worldwide events.

As we go press,[1] more information is coming to hand, which could be included. And I'm sure more will keep coming in. But we may all discern developments in our daily newspapers, for just everything today is connected with mystery 666, in some way or another.

This book has been written in order that my readers might know a little of what is happening, and why it is happening; and so that they might know the times in which we live, and the direction of society and today's world. It is written, not to create fear or a sense of hopelessness, but rather that we might find hope amidst an anguished and perplexed generation.

Is there really hope? Yes! it is the very hope mentioned in I John 3:2–3. "We know that, if He should appear, we shall be like Him, because we shall see Him just as He is. And every one who has this hope fixed on Him purifies himself, just as He is pure."

God lives! He's still on the throne. Jesus Christ lives, and because He lives, we can face tomorrow. If we know Him as our personal Saviour, then fear is dispelled, and we know that Jesus is coming to take His people out of this dread scene, to the Father's House, even as He promised. And what comfort His words are to us today: "Let not your heart be troubled; believe in God, believe also in Me. In My Father's house are many dwelling places; if it were not so, I would have told you; for I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you to Myself; that where I am, there you may be also." (John 14:1–3)

This book is written, further, that we might see the need to be both separate from all and every aspect of evil, as much as is within our power, and whole-heartedly committed to the cause of the Lord Jesus Christ, for He is the Lord God Almighty.

How imperative it is, after understanding what "Babylon" and the ecumenical movement stand for, to obey the injunction of the Word of God: "Come out of her, my people, that you may not participate in her sins and that you may not receive of her plagues." (Rev. 18: 4)

Beloved, don't remain in the city of Babylon. Flee to the mountain of God's provision and fellowship.

I have written to sound an alarm—for the bulk of humanity is in great danger, and billions of precious lives are soon to be branded by Satan's man, and lost—eternally lost. Many may not heed the alarm. So many do not seem to care. But even if one soul is saved from that fate, the months of hard work, and the thousands of rupees spent on this book, will have been worthwhile.

But I ask not for one life, but that tens of thousands of lives might be saved. I pray that a great many of my readers will turn to the Lord with all their hearts and become channels for the love and life of God, so that many might be delivered from the Terrible One, while there is still hope and time.

And there is still hope. God has not relinquished His saving power, and He has not yet closed the door to seeking souls. He is still full of mercy, and will save every one who calls upon the Name of Jesus.

"And there is salvation in no one else; for there is no other name under heaven that has been given among men, by which we must be saved." (Acts 4:12)

But there is no time to lose. The night is coming when no one can work ! The wonderful opportunity the Church has had over the past 200 years to evangelise, is fast disappearing. The evil influences in the world are enslaving multitudes every day. The quicksand of iniquity is sucking millions down into a fearful grave, and that, before our very eyes. The world is in despair; society is impoverished, humanity is in a desparate condition. How can we sleep ? How can we let the time and the opportunities slip like sand through our fingers ? How can we, if we profess to be followers of Christ, be wrapped up in ourselves, and in the trivialities of this passing world ? How can we lay up our treasures on earth, when gold will soon be cankered ? How can we build our little palaces, when all the kingdoms of this world are very soon to be destroyed ?

Those who know the Lord are to be watchmen, and are to sound an alarm. We may be called "alarmists" Well, that is what we should be.

The Club of Rome is sounding an alarm (how true or how false is not the point here). But this we know, full well, the world is soon to go into a Tribulation such as has never—no never, been experienced on this globe. Can we bare the thought that souls including some of our loved ones, will perish by our negligence? and can I bare the thought of standing before the Lord, tonight perhaps, with lowered head and tear-filled eyes, because I have not been faithful like I might have, and should have ?

Are we so out of contact with the living God that we cannot feel the throb of His heart, as He cries to a perishing world, "Turn ye, turn ye, for why will ye die? Have I any pleasure in the death of the wicked, and not that he should turn and live?"[2]

Is this not the one reason that God holds back the judgment, and that the Lord Jesus has not called His people away from the world? He is not willing that a single soul should perish.[3] You may have a hard heart. You may consign multitudes to the pit—but not the Lord. Man was created for God's glory. And it is the responsibility of every one of His children to save the perishing. The Lord Jesus is the true Illumination—He is the Light of the World, but His people are His "light bulbs." And if the Lord's people don't enlighten the world, then Weishaupt's illumination will. But that will not set men free; it will bring them into greater bondage.

The call of God to the world today is, Repent or Perish. And the command of the Lord Jesus to His people is, Repent and Rescue.

"Of what must we repent?" you ask. "We are the sheep of His pasture."

If you are, then well and good. But if are a sheep, don't act like goat! One day the Lord will separate the sheep from the goats, and you know where He will send the goats to![4]

And if you are truly on the Lord's side, then stand firm and true to Him. Don't sit in the middle of the road. That is a very dangerous place, especially these days. In these times of relative values, it is easy to compromise and become fellow-travellers with the wicked conspirators whose desire is to destroy the worship of Christ.

It is a popular thing in certain places to be a "born-again" Christian—provided you relate to the standards and ideologies of godless society.

To be born again, is to be born into God's family and to receive His life. This is the most essential thing in the world.[5] But this new birth is not a mere profession. It is a miracle. One who has been born again is born of God—and although he is not perfected in one day, the characteristics of his life are predominantly love, joy, peace, holiness, kindness, honesty, gentleness, faithfulness, self-control and godliness.

If ever there was a need for stalwarts of truth, faith, honesty, righteousness and holy living; stalwarts true to the Word of God and to the Living Word, Jesus Christ, it is today. If there was ever a need for courage, godly zeal, and utter dedication, it is at this very moment. But such stalwarts will be called fanatics, even by many "born-again" believers.

With many of us, we have not really made up our minds as to which side we are on. Some of us want to enjoy both worlds. We want to live for perishing trivialities. We blow bubbles in the air while dark clouds gather; we build castles of sand on the beach, while the tidal wave roars upon the shore.

It is nothing less than criminal—our carelessness, indifference, apathy, selfishness and disobedience. We are not sheep. We are not even goats; we are reptiles.

Who is on the Lord's side?[6] Who will stand for Jesus Christ in these evil days? Who will dare to obey the Lord, and put Him first, so that He is the Lord of all, the Lord of every area in the life, of every day, of every minute, of every decision and action? Who will dare to be a Daniel? Who will take up the cross daily and follow the Lord? Who will deny himself, and walk in the steps of the Master?

Choose this day whom you will serve.[7] If Satan is God, then worship him. But if the Lord be God, then serve and worship Him! But you cannot serve God and mammon.[8] You cannot serve God and wealth. You cannot God and selfish ambitions. You cannot serve God and the flesh. You cannot serve God and Satan.

And I want to call upon every one who reads this book, to decide, to choose to follow the Lord with all his heart. Before you close this book, will you look into your heart and ask, Is my life right with God? Am I involved in mystery 666? Am I clinging to some sin which is making me useless to God? Am I a spring without water? Have I yielded my all to Jesus, or am I holding back from absolute surrender ? Am I trying to squeeze Him into some back corner of my life, or have I enthroned Jesus Christ as my King, my Lord, my God, my Life, my all ?

Now, my friend, I am calling upon you to make a Resolution 9, for your life. I'm asking YOU to make up your mind. By Resolution 9, I mean, a definite and unchangeable decision to follow and obey the Lord Jesus Christ. Nine reprents finality. So Resolution 9 is a final and absolute decision a pledge of allegiance to the Lord of Heaven, and a vow to serve Him, both now and through eternity.

As the little song says:

I have decided to follow Jesus,
No turning back! No turning back!
The cross before me, the world behind me,
No turning back! No turning back!

That's Resolution 9 !

Some may be asking, "Why is it necessary to make Christ our Lord ? Is it not sufficient to just follow God?"

It is essential to receive Jesus as Lord and Saviour because of who He is, and what He has done. Jesus is not a mere prophet or teacher. Neither is He "one of the gods." Jesus is the Creator ? He is the Almighty, God the Son. The Father and the Son are essentially one, and you cannot know God, or come to the Father, except through the Son.

"Jesus said to him 'I am the way, and the truth, and the life, no-one comes to the Father, but through Me'." (John 14:6)

Many people have made that same claim, but no other has proved it true, by dying and rising again from the dead, as Jesus did.

"Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures, and that He was buried, and that He was raised on the third day according to the Scriptures." (1 Corinthians 15:3-4)

The Lord Jesus died on the cross at Calvary – not by accident, not as a martyr, but as Saviour, and by God's design. Jesus died for our sins. He fulfilled the prophecies which foretold His sacrificial, substitutionary and atoning death:

Surely our griefs He Himself bore,
And our sorrows He carried;
Yet we ourselves esteemed Him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted.

But He was pierced through for our transgressions,
He was crushed for our iniquities;
The chastening for our well-being fell upon Him,
And by His scourging we are healed.

All of us like sheep have gone astray,
Each of us has turned to his own way;
But the Lord has caused the iniquity of us all
To fall on Him. (Isaiah 53:4-6)

As a result of the anguish of His soul,
He will see it and be satisfied;
By His knowledge the Righteous One,
My Servant, will justify the many,
As He will bear their iniquities.

Therefore, I will allot Him a portion with the great,
And He will divide the booty with the strong;
Because He poured out Himself to death,
And was numbered with the transgressors;
Yet He Himself bore the sin of many
And interceded for the transgressors. (Isaiah 53:11-12)

Jesus was the Lamb of God.

Jesus died on behalf of sinners.

Jesus paid the death penalty for our sins.

Jesus rose again to offer a pardon to all who trust Him.

Jesus gives life – eternal life – to all who follow Him.

Jesus will come again to claim all of His own.

Jesus promises to forgive us, to save us, keep us, to reward us, and to share His eternity with us, if we receive Him by faith as our Lord and Saviour.

Here are some of His promises which you should cling to :

PROMISE OF FORGIVENESS

"If we confess our sins, He is faithful and righteous to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." (I John 1:9)

PROMISE OF FELLOWSHIP

"Behold, I stand at the door and knock; if any one hears My voice and opens the door, I will come in to him, and will dine with him, and he with Me." (Rev. 3:20)

PROMISE OF SONSHIP

"But as many as received Him, (Christ) to them He gave the right to become children of God, even to those who believe in His name." (John 1:12)

PROMISE OF NEW BIRTH

"Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who according to His great mercy has caused us (who have received Jesus as Saviour and Lord) to be born again to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead." (I Peter 1:3)

PROMISE OF SALVATION

"... If you confess with your mouth Jesus as Lord, and believe in your heart that God raised Him from the dead, you shall be saved." (Roman 10:9)

PROMISE OF ETERNAL LIFE

"For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish, but have eternal life." (John 3:16)

My dear reader, if you don't know the Lord Jesus as your personal Saviour, will you come to Him now, in prayer, and ask Him to come into your life? Confess your sin to Him and ask Him to forgive you and to do a miracle in your life, right now. Pray sincerely in simple words, like these:

PRAYER

Oh God, I know I am a sinner, and I come to You to ask Your forgiveness. You have promised to forgive and to cleanse me, if I confess my sin. I do, Lord, confess and repent of my sins (Name any sins that you are conscious of).

Lord Jesus, I believe You died on the cross to save me. I ask You Lord, to come into my life, and I trust You to do a miracle in me today, to make me Your true disciple, and to give me eternal life. I believe You rose from the dead, and Lord, I give myself to You, and I will follow You all the days of my life. Thank You, Lord Jesus Amen.

If you already know that Jesus is your Saviour, think not that you have no further duty. Paul wrote:

"I urge you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, to present your bodies a living and holy sacrifice, acceptable to God which is your spiritual service of worship. And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what the will of God is, that which is good and acceptable and perfect." (Romans 12 : 1–2)

Is your body surrendered to the Lord ? Is your whole life acceptable to God ?

Say not, as some do say, "Oh I surrendered my life to God on such a date, so many years ago." Rather, ask, Does the Lord have all of me now ? Can the Lord trust me ? Am I on His side in every day life ? Am I a soul–winner ? Am I a witness for Christ ? Am I filled with His Spirit ?"

Even if we can answer an unequivocal "yes" to these questions, surely we must bow before the Lord and pray in words like these : Lord Jesus, here am I. Keep me true to You. Let my life be a channel for Your life. Use me however You will, to win the lost, to rescue the perishing. I surrender everything to You, and right here and now, I reaffirm my stand with You, for now and eternity.

Will you choose to do that before closing this book? Sign your name below to mark your decision or renewed dedication to the Lord Jesus.
